$48,000 Goal in Marion County Set for Red Cross Campaign

Marion County's share of the national goal of the Red Cross fund campaign is $48,000 this year, Dale Bates, chairman of the Marion County Red Cross chapter, announced Wednesday.

The annual drive for funds in support of all Red Cross activities—local, national and international—begins March 1 when hundreds of volunteer canvassers will start ringing doorbells.

To enable Red Cross to answer the call of people in need, the people of Salem and Marion County must answer the call of Red Cross solicitors with more generosity than ever, Bates said.

The critical world situation indicates increased need for Red Cross service in 1952, he said. Last year, through Red Cross, Americans:

Assisted over 300,000 disaster victims to regain health, homes and livelihood; gave 1,790,870 pints of blood to save lives of fighting men and civilians; enabled Red Cross field workers to help an average of 316,100 servicemen and women each month, and chapter workers to assist 140,500 cases and requests of service families monthly; provided Red Cross services for 131,000 patients in veterans' hospitals each month, for 45,300 Veterans Administration claims cases each month, and for 88,800 veteran cases handled by county chapters each month;

Made it possible for 7,257,000 persons to receive Red Cross instruction in first aid and health, 1,093,069 to get safety training, 788,655 to get water safety training, 269,325 to get home nursing training, 23,000 nurses to be enrolled for service; underwrote the Junior Red Cross program for 19,000,000 school children; provided training and equipment for Gray Ladies, Motor Service workers, canteen workers and nurse's aides.

A group of persons who do double parental duty for Marion County, foster parents, held their first informational and social get-together this week.

Thirty-five persons (including men), out of 35 active foster homes, met with the county welfare department to get acquainted and to exchange mutual problems and experiences. Miss Marion Bowen, welfare administrator, said the affairs will be conducted annually, with other types of meetings often.

Main speaker was Miss Gladys Dobson, director of the visiting teacher department for Portland public schools, concerning the adjustment of children placed in foster homes. She told the group that much of the foster parents "pay" comes when their grown-up charges return from the service or with families to their adopted homes.

Miss Bowen declared that the foster parents render a real service to the community in caring for children needing proper family life.

Special guests were County Judge and Mrs. Rex Hartley, County Commissioner E. L. Rogers, William J. Entress, member of the county welfare commission, and Mrs. Jo Ellen Bradley, assistant county probation officer.

Justice Vinson Said Opposed to Entering Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Post said Wednesday night that Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson will not permit himself to become the Democratic candidate for President even if drafted.

A copyright article by Philip L. Graham, publisher of the newspaper, declared the nation's highest judge is convinced that even the gravest emergency cannot justify an exception to the non-political role of the court.

Vinson had been frequently mentioned as a possible Democratic nominee in case President Truman bows out.

Graham wrote that the chief justice's decision was based on a strong belief in the independence of the Supreme Court, and was made prior to June, 1946, when he became chief justice.

"The knowledge that the chief justice is not available is bound to have a major impact on democratic calculations, as well as on the president's own planning," the article said.
