They say the third time's the charm. We're among the many who hope the adage works for Carl (Buddy) Peterson, now making his bid as regular shortstop for the Coast League San Diego Padres. The fiery Peterson, well known locally since he played almost two had two whacks at the PCL grade before. He flubbed both, and the failures weren't because he couldn't field, hit or hustle. He can do all three, plenty. But what he hasn't been able to do is control a 212-degree temper and 'a lust for the bright lights that burn long after ballplayers are supposed to be beddy-bye.

Fielder? He's among the best the WIL ever has had. Hitter? Categoried as a .270 or .280 man against Triple-A flinging, which is plenty good enough for a shortstop. Hustler? One of the best we've ever seen anywhere. Temper? Ouch! As an example of the latter,

Pete had a whirl with Portland when Milkman Jim Turner was skippering the Bevos. It was after a spring camp game at Riverside that Turner asked Bud and a couple of other rookies to "carry in some of the bats." The reply Turner got went something like this:

Thus ended Peterson's future in the Portland organization. Jack Wilson, 1948-49 manager of the Salems plucked the husky Peterson from Portland's sandlots and predicted that he could play shortstop for anyone if he could behave himself. But Pete wouldn't behave. Outspoken as they come and ready to kick an umpire on the shins or spit in his eye at the drop of a foul tip, Bud wanted to play it his way instead of the right way. It cost him two previous tries in the Coast League, and another in the Texas loop. The St. Louis Cardinals organization wanted him two years ago, but turned way after noting the "bad actor" tag he wore. Peterson had a good season with Tri-City last year, and he's

Perhaps he's at long last seen the light and has equipped himself with muzzle, thermostat and a pledge to obey the rules. It remains At any rate there are a lot of folks downright happy to see Pete in the Coast League, and all hope he sticks this trip. Despite the shortcomings he had, he was a likeable cuss. #### Pumilite Outfit Sponsors Semipro Team

New semipro baseball club to bloom in Salem this season. The Pumilite outfit in West Salem is sponsoring the team through Owner Stan Hammer, and Pete Valdez, long a semipro baseball standout in this area likely will be the manager. Hammer has hopes of placing the Pumilites in the same summer circuit with Silverton, Mt. Angel.

Wenatchee's Chiefs got themselves quite a pitcher when they signed Frank Dasso recently. He whiffed 258 batters for San Diego in 1944, a Coast League record, and proved in winning 18 times for Modesto in the tough Cal-State loop last year that he can still pitch. Dasso has been his own worst enemy in baseball. He always thought there was something wrong with him-a stiff arm, a sore back, a pain in his chest, etc.—and was the rubbing table's best customer. Experts felt that his heart never was in his work, and to this day vow he'd have been one of the best in the majors had he only applied instead of babled himself. . . .

Senator baseball owners and fans who have been wondering if Dick Faber and Sal DeGeorge will remain with the San Diego club, or will be returned to the Salems, have more time in which to sweat gon State Beavers in a 3:30 o'clock it out. The pair were sold on a 30-day look basis, the 30 days appli- clash on Coleman Field. cable AFTER the start of the Coast League season.

Boss Luby was happy to get Ray McNulty back from the Sacs a start for the season, but will be earlier in the week, as he's proved himself a winner in the WIL. Luby favored to finish second best to expects DeGeorge to be returned eventually, but feels that Faber the veteran stocked Beavers, demay hang on with the Padres.

White Sox Want Option on Richie Myers

As for Richie Myers, Luby was telling us only this week in a telephone conversation from Calistoga that the mighty mite is "looking absolutely great" and that Joe Gordon is extremely high on him. Richie has looked so good in fact that the Chicago White Sox have asked the Sacs for an option on him for the future.

"I knew he could field good enough for them," relayed Luby. "And all during spring training he was showing them plenty at bat up some fine strength this season too." . . .

How does the NCAA divvy up the take on those recent basketball tournaments, you ask? Let's have a look at the one Corvallis Hande, catcher; Alva Brown, first and Oregon State College did such a fine job with:

The gross gate receipts for the two nights were in the neighborhood of $25,000. Uncle Samuel had the first bite, about $5,000. Transportation and housing costs for the four teams involved came to approximately $10,000. Operational expenses (officials, salaried working personnel, etc.) left the pile at $8.000

The NCAA took a percentage of this, which wasn't much, for its "kitty" and then divided up what was left and gave each participating school an equal slice.

The same procedure was in effect at Raleigh, Chicago, Kansas City and Seattle. . . .
