

Miss Elizabeth Johnson Tells Betrothal at Tea on Saturday

Taking the romantic spotlight today is pretty Elizabeth Jane Johnson, whose betrothal to Allan Rowe Mann Jr. of Portland was revealed at a beautiful appointed tea on Saturday afternoon for which her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Hutchens Johnson, was hostess at her Hansen Avenue residence.

The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Johnson and her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan R. Mann of Portland. No date has been set for the wedding.

Troth Told at Tea
A large group of friends called between 2 and 5 o'clock. Guests first learned of the betrothal on arriving, as a large pink Easter basket filled with pastel flowers was arranged on the piano disclosing the news. A blue satin ribbon bearing the words, "look what's hatched," was above the chicken bearing Elizabeth's name and Allan's name was on a rooster. The names of the engaged duo were also printed on the napkins and decorated the cakes.

The bride-elect's college friends first learned the news at a "cooking shine" at the Pi Beta Phi house Thursday night, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Mann both driving to Eugene for the occasion. The Easter motif was also used in the announcements with the girls receiving individual Easter eggs.

Assist During Afternoon
Receiving the guests were the bride-elect, her grandmother, Mrs. William E. Hutchens, Mrs. John H. Johnson and Mrs. Allen R. Mann, mother of the bride-elect.

THE CHARM OF MAPLE

There's no getting around the fact that maple furniture has a quaint special charm all its own. And rightly so. It is Americana in its truest sense for maple was the wood our early settlers used to make the first American furniture — maple from the trees they felled to clear the ground for their houses. Pine and fruitwood were used some, too, but maple predominated.

Faithful reproductions of these earliest styles are proven favorites among today's home planners. Not for their quaintness and charm alone, but because they offer durability and wearing qualities that are hard to beat.

Maple furniture is particularly favored for family dining rooms. Its simple styling and hard finished surfaces are easily cared for; and it is always an inspiration for the colorful, cheery decorative themes that are so important to mealtime gaiety. Maple is adaptable... and timeless. In the dining room sketched above it has been used to interpret the smart mood of today. The rich glowing wood surfaces stand out importantly against chocolate brown walls. Cornflower-blue and copper-color draperies provide distinctive color contrast. Blue is repeated in dishes on buffet shelves. Rug is pinky-beige broadloom.

If you're in a quandary about decorating problems, and would like some advice, come in and consult with our friendly staff. We're always happy to be of help.
