There's Gold In Your Farm Woodlot

No. 6 (Last of a series of six articles on second-growth forests as a cash crop, prepared by private, state and federal forest agencies)

To get the most cash from your forest crop requires some study. For instance, a 12-inch tree, 90 feet tall contains 100 board feet of saw logs at an approximate value of $42.50 per M feet or $4.25. It contains 32 cords of pulpwood which if sold at $13 would bring $4.25. It contains one 40-foot barkie (unpeeled) pole which if sold at 12 cents a foot would bring $4.80.

A 16-inch tree 100 feet tall contains 240 board feet of saw logs at $42.50 worth $10.20. In the same tree is 62 cords of pulpwood worth $3.06, but the highest return comes from a 55-foot barkie pole at 19 cents which could bring the farmer $10.45.

A little mistake in judgment on an acre of poles could cost hundreds of dollars.

The same loss can be sustained from a poor job of logging. Here are some positive rules for logging to protect your own best interests. Plan your roads before felling and bucking. Pick your best season, winter or summer. Mark every tree to be cut well in advance of cutting. Insist on care when trees are being felled so that a minimum of breakage occurs and the least possible damage is done to young trees. Insist on your "cat" skidders being careful with small trees left growing for your next crop. Keep your stumps low, because only you lose when sound values are left in the stump. Make sure each log is cut into proper lengths to get highest possible value. Avoid damage from skidding. Keep your equipment investment modest. A rollover or a simple "A" frame will suffice most loading needs. If you hire help remember payroll taxes.

After logging be careful with your slash fires. Have tools ready to stop any fire. Build fire trail. Avoid damage to young trees. Pick time when rains have eliminated any danger of fire spreading.

You can sell your timber to a logger as stumpage—a certain price on the stump, or you can do your own logging. Selling stumpage for a lump sum is not advisable and usually results in loss to landowner. It is best to sell by the piece, at a fixed price per thousand feet of cord and payment should be based on a scale of logs cut.

Your woodlot is a valuable part of your farm. Run it like a business. If you protect trees from fire and grazing damage and use reasonable care in harvesting the forest you will have an annuity which goes on working for you year after year. A growing young forest is just like money in the bank

(For more particulars write your State Forester at Olympia, Washington or Salem, Oregon for your free copy of "YOUR TREES—A CROP," how to grow and harvest them in the Douglas fir region.)

Grain Losses, Gains Balance

CHICAGO (AP)—Gains and losses were pretty evenly balanced at the close on the board of trade Wednesday. Rye had the largest gains while soybeans registered the widest losses.

The market had difficulty in establishing any trend. Little flurry of buying entered all pits during the day, but in each case demand quickly dried up.

Wheat closed 1 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, corn 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, oats 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, rye 1 to 1 1/4 higher, soybeans 3/4-1 1/4 lower and lard 5 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The heavy flour business which had lifted wheat in the previous session was not duplicated Wednesday.

Furthermore, no exports were reported.
