The New Japan

years.

The resurgent sapanese government is showing again the resiliency and forcefulness of a people which didn't even have a good paved road between its two principal cities 20 miles apart and yet could stand off the world's greatest power in the Pacific for nearly four long

Thus far, the new-found strength of independence leans strongly toward proof that General MacArthur and, lately, General Ridgway have done a fine steering job for democracy. Inflation was largely, though by no means completely, checked; unprecedented personal independence crept into the national life with a minimum of berserk antagonisms; economic strength has been building toward a better general standard of living. Japan as a bastion of democracy has It's benefit to the Pacific Coast already is more than apparant. On the same day President Truman signed the Japanese peace treaty, it was revealed that the Nippon government was completing the largest single export grain deal in Northwest history-17,000,000 bushels. Portland sources said payment would approximate $43,- 000,000. On that day, too, the Japanese government exonerated three top - flight officers of war-crime guilt of which they were convicted some years ago. With its thinking channelled

Soon, Japan will send the U.S. an ambassador -reportedly Sadao Iguchi, first secretary of the Washington embassy at the time of Pearl Harbor and now vice foreign minister. He will not represent the Japan of the war years, which extended for thousands of miles from Manchuria to the south seas. He will represent the Japan of today - the four major home islands with a small scattering of promintories in the same area. We hope he will also represent a Japan of continued democratic ideals and that opponents of the peace treaty, who fear a re-armed Japan

Now look, Mr. Lichty, we like your "Grin and Bear It" cartoon immensely. We recognize it as tops in American satire. And we also recognize that you are in no wise malicious in trying to make us all laugh at ourselves or someone else. But really, Mr. Lichty, we can't help but mildly point out that the modern-day carrier boy (and most the olden-day ones, too) don't make a point of tossing the morning paper on the roof as you so cleverly portrayed a day or the fact that service is of paramount importance.

The finest story of the year, the best bit of prose a star reporter can turn out, the world's finest features, etc., are of little value if people don't uniformly get their newspaper promptly and handily. And our loval "little merchant" carrier boys knew it, too, Mr. Lichty. They try hard, and if they err on some of our dark, rainy mornings, they're sorry and so are we. Sometimes things do go wrong. Sometimes boys, as well as the rest of us, get careless. But we try to ride

BY JOSEPH AND STEWART

WASHINGTON - Without at-

ALSOP

tracting much serious attention, the foreign policies of this coun-of Britain and France,

have now entered a truly agonizing crisis.

The cause is the so - called peace offensive

now being carried on by the masters of the gravity of the situation may be measured by

Kremlin.

The

the remark of one of the wisest American top officials that "the crises now confronting us are probably just as serious as the crises presented by the Berlin blockade and

Newspapers nowadays are very cognizant of as another menace to peace, are wrong.

We Liked It Anyway, Mr. Lichty runs no risk of Allied retaliation in so doing.

become a contemporary reality.

"No Favor Sways Us. No Fear Shall Awe"

From First Statesman. March 28, 1851

THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, Editor and Publisher

Published every morning. Business office 215 8 Commercial, Salem, Oregon. Telephone 2-2441.

Entered at the postoffice at Salem, Oregon, as second class matter under act of congress March 3, 1878.

EGAD! THERE GOES ANOTHER

BIG CHUNK!

Something new in the way of picketing tactics came to light Wednesday when telephone strikers walked the line in front of the State Street fone building. The pickets came up with a number of big balloons. To these they attached "On Strike" signs and sent them up across the street from the building. Well when the balloons rose to the level of about the 5th story of the fone building, the non-strikers on the inside would lean out the windows and shoot the balloons down, using the old school-time rubber band and tinfoil method. Gave passersby a sporting show.

"Dear CTD: What happened to our South Salem councilmen and improvement associations last Monday night when the city decided to add on a hundred thousand dollars for the city street widening program for 1952-3-and nearly all on the north side of town? Isn't all the added population on our southern hills entitled to some consideration in the matter of streets? Only narrow High Street and 12th (which is the only one south included in the program) must carry all traffic south, outside of the highway race courses. Isn's Bush Park ever to be opened to motorists? Lots of us who live out this way for some years past could use another street or two -or some wider ones. J.E."

Livestock ad reads: "White Face At Auction." Somebody bid too high? . . . Cannery Scandals show Friday night will have a real oldy act-Ray Mack, old-time fiddler, and Frank Boehringer, who will play what he claims are the oldest set of bones (musical, that is) in Salem . . . Judging from the loud wails of nicked citizens many do not realize that if they get overtime parking tags while visiting a doctor or a dentist, they can turn the tags over to the medicos for fixing . . .

Most disappointed citizen in Oregon this week end will be Don (Ex-Goin' After 'Em) Harger, While other fishermen are floundering around in streams and over posted land on Saturday, Don will be home nursing a broken leg. To a man who hasn't missed an opening day since he's been old enough to snarl his own line, his agony Saturday will be akin to that of a Republican flubb ing the presidential nomination. But many a lad, though, will be out trying Harger-recommended technique with Harger-recommended lures-accompanied, probably by Hargerrecommended screaming.

Some state employes are agitating for an investigation by OSEA of legislative candidates past records on bills affecting employes-and publication thereof for benefit of employes at election time. This idea was nixed last year by the employes state council and its executive committee dittoed in February. Said it was not wise to check each candidate's record and publish it, since OSEA is not a political organization and should keep out of business of supporting one candidate against another. However, info on individual candidates is furnished to individual chapters or employes on request.

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

One group of 33 patients with Vitamin aids Disease of Bone Vitamin B-12 is now giving promise of curing a very baffling bone disease, osteoarthritis. Many of my readers may know that this vitamin has become recognized for its almost miraculous results in certain types of anemia. While treating some anemic patients who also had osteoarthritis, doctors noticed that the vitamin gave marked relief from the painful bone symptoms.

Osteoarthritis is a type of breakdown of the bone structure that results in scarring and painful joints. It usually occurs in people past 50 years of age.

Up to now, doctors have failed to find a successful treatment for this disease. The only hope they could offer a sufferer has been to relieve his pain and distress somewhat, without really attacking the underlying disorder. The new drugs, ACTH and cortisone, which seem to offer hope in some types of arthritis, are of no help in osteoarthritis. Improvement shown after the administration of vitamin B-12, however, prompted further studles of its efficiency.

severe osteoarthritis received the drug. The usual method was to inject a large dose into a muscle once a week. By the end of three weeks, all but two patients showed definite improvement. Twelve obtained complete relief from all their symptoms, while the remainder showed complete relief in some joints and partial relief in others. It has also been found that osteoporosis is helped by vitamin B-12. This is a loss of calcium from the bones in older people. The exact way this drug works in the body is unknown.

Doctors feel that treatment with vitamin B-12, though still in the experimental stages, may offer a new hope for those suffering from severe osteoarthritis. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. F.: At one time I was told that epinephrine was used in treating shock. Is it still being Answer: Most authorities agree that the use of such drugs is dangerous in the treatment of shock. Shock is best treated by the administration of fluids, particularly blood.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features)

Congressional Quiz

Q-Is Congress going to do something about foreigners who use dipdomatic status to do prop-eign Agents Registration Act to diplomats was approved by the senate March 24. Diplomatic and consular employees, previously immune from the act, would have to label their publications and Q-Why did Sen. Joseph R.

A-Sen. McCarthy in the suit

McCarthy (R Wis.) sue Sen. Wil-filed March 26 in Washington, D.

C., charged that Benton libeled and slandered him in senate committee testimony. Previously in the bitter feud, Benton asked the grounds he had "deceived" the senate and was unfit to be senator. McCarthy challenged Ben-senatorial immunity. After Benton offered to waive his innunity Europeans enter the U. S.? asked congress to relieve problems created by "Communist tyranny and overpopulation in Western Europe." He urged a program which would let in 300,- 000 European refugees, aid Fugitives from the Iron Curtain, now escaping at an estimated rate of thousands a month, and continue participation in the inter-ton to make the charges without register as foreign agents.

liam Benton (D Conn.)?

senate to oust

A-A bill to extend the For-aganda work in this country?

A Governor Bows Out

friends to ride herd on us, too.

Governor Stevenson's counting himself out of the democratic presidential race removes one of the strongest possibilities the party-in-power had. His record in Illinois, the apparent sincerity of his hesitancy and his avowed principles so often at variance with the more radical and vocal members of his party made him a highlyrespected figure in the national picture.

herd on ourselves, and we want our subscribers-

We aren't quarreling with you, Mr. Lichty.

We got a fine chuckle out of being the goat of one of your fine cartoons. Let's have more such.

When we get so we can't laugh at ourselves, we'd be hopeless. So we'll laugh right along with you and hope the little satire will keep us re-mindful that our best efforts are none too good.

Whether or not he could have broken completely with the ruling clique, and whether or not he could have been elected president if he had, is now beside the point. The governor has made it plain that he is seeking only another term in his present job and will not accept a "draft" for the presidential nod. And who can blame him! Somebody's going to have a dandy mess to clean up and it'll be no mean task.

toward the new way of peace, the government They Speeded Traffic, All Right

One-way streets may have speeded traffic through Sasem, as claimed, but they also have tended to make such streets veritable speedways. The tendency, too, has been for drivers to keep the accelerator down too far on other streets, and in the main the average Salem traffic has become altogether too hazardous. The City Council, therefore, acted wisely and nonetoo-soon to have School Zone signs plainly labelled for speed. We are hopeful there can be better control of present traffic before the projected street-widening project encourages still more recklessness. Some intersections still are not satisfactorily arranged, such as the South Commercial traffic split to Liberty, and stop signs still are needed for such streets as Hoyt.

For the housewife it's soap opera; for the kiddies it's cereal stories. They're all about the same: corny and continued.

Editorial Comment

Well, it takes more than a few showers to take the joy out of an Oregon Easter. A lot of fine new bonnets just didn't get a chance to greet the sun, but no one worried. People just parked as close to church as they could, and some turned up the umbrella for the block or two remaining.

Not only was that Sunday rain good for the gardens; it was a godsend to the forests, which were getting dangerously dry. And whatever is good for the farm and the forest is just what our favored Willamette valley needs. So we can thank God for the rain, even on Easter. Come to think of it, the rain, with its promise of more abundant life for growing things, is very much in the spirit of the

As a matter of fact, here in the Willamette valley, we thank God for the rain, though wishing the wet day might have been the day before or after Easter day .- (Albany Democrat-Herald).

At the same time, these men gamble if the Kremlin proves to be tanky sincere about free elections; and they further urge high-level Four Power talks about other East - West differ-world public opinion. The refusalso invite a Soviet conclusion that the West is genuinely preparing an aggressive war, and will thus spur the Soviets to attack first. On the other hand, we avoid making improper com-

There are two other dangers, however. The first is that the French, who have been perfectly horrified by the Soviet proposal for Germany, will prevent the exploration of the Kremlin's sin-the ruck of policy makers, British and French as well as American, are already like trolley cars running down their rails, being too set on the pre-planned course to consider any departure from it. For the present, pending a clearer position in Korea, it is utterly uncertain what choices will finally be made. But it must be added that the auguries are not too good for the bold and creative choices which probably going to demand.

changing world situation a great danger any longer.

and placards of candidates already in evidence. Californians do their politics in the grand manner, too, though this year it will probably be less colorful than usual.

name" basis.

Better English
By D. C. WILLIAMS

(Continued from page one) can escape it by buying at home.

Of course purchases sent direct out of the state are tax-free, but California has its primary election on June 3rd. The only competition in the GOP presidential race is between a Warren and an anti-Warren slate of delegates. Warren is conceded a victory, but the opposition is Hoover campaign against Wayne

The Democrats were left with Kefauver as the only enrolled canadidate when Truman pulled out of the competition. Another slate of delegates headed by Atty. Gen. Brown will contest with the Kefauver list on a "no Local political activity is stepping up, with many meetings

Dave

bitter, resembling

L. Morse last year.

then there's the transportation

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "Referring to your brief note, you said that I made some mistake." ciation of "canonical"? sation, dispeptic, disparity.

with red that means "exceeding ANSWERS national program for migration and settlement. Q-When did congressmen last

4. What does the word "per-5. What is a word beginning

1. Say, "Referring to your brief note, I observe that you said I give themselves a raise? A-In 1946. Their salaries were raised from $10,000 to $12,500, with an additional $2,500 as a tax-free expense allowance. In 1951 the tax-free clause was repealed, as of Jan. 3, 1953. Rep. Jack Z. Anderson (R Calif.) March 31 suggested lawmakers' salaries be hiked to $25,000 and the $30,000 salaries of the house away a right of action, debate, second syllable, the o pronounced as in on. 3. Dyspeptic. 4. Taking obeyed." 5. Redundant.

Literary McCarthy carried out his threat to sue. He asked $2 million dam-Guidepost Q-Why does the President want to let 300,000 additional A-The President March 24 speaker and vice-president be increased to $40,000. The speaker and vice-president now get a 10,- Q-Do economy-minded lawmakers meet much resistance when they try to cut back fund

000 allowance apiece.

A-Rep. Norris Cotton (R N.- H.), after he helped cut $724 million from the Independent Offices Appropriation bill-it passed the house March 21 at $6.3 billion-wrote his constituents he was "jubilant" after this "boldest assault on spending" but was "bruised by the battering we but "stood with us . . . We abolished jobs, cut travel allowances, people will stand with us," Cot-(Copyright 1952,

I think the reduced public housing units."

Despite objections, ton said.

received.' The house "sputtered"

By W. G. Rogers A LAMP FOR NIGHTFALL, by Erskine Caldwell (Duell, Sloan & Pearce - Little, Brown; $3)

A Caldwell character is a Caldwell character no matter where you meet him; the author carries them around with him. So in this new novel about folks in Clearwater, Maine . . . the state where Caldwell lived back when he was starting to write . . . we find men and women related to the Lesters of "Tobacco Road" and the Waldens of "God's Little Acre," both of them stories laid in the south . . . where Caldwell was born and brought up.

Thede Emerson is the town's richest man, and one of its grumpiest. His young wife Rosa is meeting Leland Stokes out in the woodlot; his son Howard. who'd rather go to college than do the chores, is in love with his, Howard's, sister Jean; Jean is engaged to marry Frank Gervais, a "Canuck," but Stokes has his eye on her, wants to get his hands on her and tries to persuade Rosa to send Jean out to the woodlot in her place. This is somewhat the pattern for the rest of the townspeople who have fallen into the habit of getting the most out of a pretty hired girl, or a hired man, or substituting for a husband who is "petered out," or for a wife who is bored.

That's the crux of the lesson Caldwell has in mind: That though the original white native, the Emerson, Frost, Child, Smith, Hopkins and Robinson, may despise the "foreigner," the native is played out, and vitality and drive now reside in people named Hedenstjerna, Gervais, Doucette, St. Denis, Fortiner, Nordenskjold, Vyssotsky and Knudsen. So Jean is going to marry Frank because though her father scorns his outlandishness he admits his gumption.

BECKE WADSWORTH "All Kinds of Insurance Surety Bonds" 562 State St.

> Opposite Court House Phone 4-3333

They argue that the Kremlin may already be genuinely

2. What is the correct pronun-

3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Disposable, dispenemptory" mean?

what is necessary"?

made some mistake." 2. Accent second syllable, the o pronounced etc.; conclusive. "The officer's

GRIN AND BEAR IT

by Lichty

"The sponsor would like 'Melanie's Other Mate' to meet an untimely death . . . he's just asked for another raise! . . . " advocate taking the German mini

JUST ARRIVED! The First New Jesse French Pianes

LHOSE new Jesse French Pianes are here. And what planes they are! . . You'll fall in love with the distinguished new designs avoated by the famous Alfons Back. When you hear eir ear-caressing tones you'll appreciate how much the scale and tonal improvements, developed by French technicians working with Dr. William Braid White, really mean . . . Co and see these new Jesse French & Sons Pianos. Play them. You'll agree that here is just what you've wanted in a piane.

Center

In The Capital Shopping Center

OPEN MONDAY AND FRIDAY NIGHTS 'TIL 9 P. M.

sorbed country has hardly noticed, the Kremlin has offered the unification of East and West Germany, on the ostensible basis of free elections, with the sole proviso that the new, unified Germany shall not enter any such combination as the Atlantic Acceptance of the Kremlin offer means sacrificing the West German divisions which are intended to be the capstones of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's NATO edifice. But if America, Britain and France reject the Soviet proposal, the West Germans, enraged at being disappointed in their hope of national unity, are unhappily very likely to refuse the NATO divisions anyway.

Moreover, this is only one part of a much larger pattern. The recent Moscow trade meeting dangled tempting offers of muchneeded business before the assemilled British and European industrialists. But if these offers are accepted, the existing ban will be broken on strategic shipments to the Soviet empire.

Soviet 'Peace Offensive' May Offer Real

Almost simultaneously, Stalin's reply to the recent questionnaire by a group of American editors has indicated approval of a meeting of the Soviet, American, British and French heads of government ,to try to bring the cold war to an end. Stalin himself has made the same point, in even stronger language, in his farewell interview with the retiring Indian Ambassador to Moscow. And the Communist negotiators in Korea have hinted a new willingness to compromise. thus vastly raising State Department and Pentagon hopes for the long-awaited Korean settlement. In the face of these developments, a strong body of opinion in the American government still opposes negotiating with the Soviet at this time. And the thought is that the Kremlin, in the last analysis, understands no language except the language of superior power. It is argued that current peace offensive (awful phrase) is solely intended to embarrass and impede the Western rearmament effort. And the conclusion is drawn that the only and go forward with rea-mament. this is probably not a practical saying, "We'd rather have German divisions than gamble on German free elections and German unity," if the Soviet offer of free elections and unity is likely to mean we cannot get the

Hope for Genuine Settlement of Cold War

In the first place, however, course to adopt. There is no use German divisions. In the second place a minority of the American policy makers, which nonetheless includes several of the most judicious men in the government, holds that this Soviet peace offensive may mean a great deal more than its predeeessors. The test, obviously, is-Korea. If the Communists come through with the concessions needed to end the Korean fighting (which many people now predict may happen before May 1) this group of policy makers asserts that the Soviet peace of-alarmed by the new unity and strength of the West, and may even be prepared to talk turkey about a serious world settlement. They do not suggest slowing down the NATO effort or abandoning German rearmament at this time. Under any circumstances the rebuffding of the strength of the West must continue; and the bold decision to include Germany in NATO was precisely the final push needed to bring the Soviets to a new frame of mind. To change course now, they therefore say, would be to throw away our whole bargaining power.

thing to do, for the time being, is to ignore the peace offensive fensive must be taken really seriously.