

Jaycees Leave for Convention

Dairy Product Values as Food Told at Meeting

By Lillie L. Madsen
Farm Stassen, The Statesman
Unless you spend 40 per cent of your food dollar for dairy products you are not living as economically as you could. Beale Dixon, manager of the Tillamook Creamery Association, told some 50 men and women at a dairy month kick-off dinner at the Senator Hotel Friday night.

The meeting was the 20th of its kind held in the past fortnight in promotion of June Dairy Month in Oregon. Especially stressed are butter, milk, ice cream and cheese. Dixon outlined the food value in dairy products as compared to the same weights and measures in other food products. And the industry, he said, brings in $300,000 to Oregon daily.

Gordon Hofstetter, Salem distributor, was appointed Salem area chairman of the 16th annual observance of June Dairy Month in Oregon. He will work in conjunction with other local distributors and dairy folk in publicizing one of the state's biggest industries.

Ben Newell serving as master of ceremonies, said that "we'll see a lot of folk milking again who said five years ago they'd never milk another cow." In recent years, he said, dairy herds were getting "emptier and emptier," but, he expected, the reverse would soon be happening as farmers are finding that "the monthly dairy check is pretty nice to have."

Grass seed profits, fruit profits and other cropland profits have been dropping in recent years, Newell stated, as he foresaw folk returning to livestock on the farms.

The next step in dairy improvement, E. L. Peterson, state director of agriculture, said, will be only one grade of milk. All milk which reaches consumption channels should be Grade A. Peterson stated. It will take time to bring this about, he added, but eventually this will be done.

Professor P. M. Brandt, head of the dairy division of Oregon State College, reported that Withycombe Hall at Oregon State College would be dedicated May 24. Other speakers at the Friday night meeting were Anton Larsen, Portland, Oregon, June Dairy Month chairman; L. E. Francis, agricultural fieldman of the First National Bank, Tillamook; Floyd Bates, Western Director of the American Jersey Cattle Club; Frank Hettwer, manager of the Mt. Angel Creamery, and Hoff-stetter.

ported to police his glasses and dentures were broken when he was attacked by four men.

Stassen Sets Visit to Salem

Presidential aspirant, Harold Stassen, Minnesota Republican, may speak in Salem May 14 or 15, Leon D. Margosian, chairman of the Marion County Republican control committee announced Friday.

Stassen will be in Oregon at two different times before the May 16 primary, the first time May 9 and 10, and again on May 14 or 15. Margosian said he was informed by Stassen's Oregon campaign manager, Pat Blair that Stassen would be available to speak on either of the latter two dates.

Margosian said either May 14 or 15 will be picked in order to conflict with the local appearance of Gov. Earl Warren of California, who will speak in West Salem May 9.

Circus Revue Slated Tonight

The Circus Revue, sponsored by the Salem Disabled American Veterans, Chapter 6, will be presented tonight at 8 p. m. in the Salem High School auditorium. Proceeds of the show will go to the local Korean War Veteran relief fund.

An afternoon matinee performance at 2:15 will be given to which handicapped, orphaned and underprivileged children will be the guests of business men who sponsored tickets.

Presented at both shows in a two and one-half hour performance will be Ching, the Oriental mystifier; Toscanelli, famous European juggler; the Tuckerettes, stars of aerial ladders and trampoline; Ben Yost's Royal Guardsmen, a singing group, and several other scheduled acts. Master of ceremonies for the show is Wally Rand.

Farm Bureau Meeting Set

Officers and leaders of Farm Bureau groups in Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties will meet in an all-day workshop session today at the Marion Hotel.

The meeting is one of a series of 11 regional meetings held throughout the state for Farm Bureau officers.

Scheduled to take part in the program are Marshall Swearingen, state president; Jack Wakefield, manager of the Farm Bureau Insurance Co., and George Dewey, state director of information and commodities.

Insurance Hear Warren

Chief of Police Clyde A. Warren spoke to about 30 members of the Salem Insurance Agents Association Friday at their monthly meeting held in the Senator Hotel.

The campaign by the police department to promote safe driving was Warren's topic. Phillip Braun, president of the association, commended Warren and the police for their service to the community in traffic enforcement and efforts to maintain general public safety.

Political Discussion Set by Farm Union

Discussion of the political scene will be one of the features of the Marion County Farmers Union quarterly convention Saturday at Gervais High School.

Richard Moeller, new state president, is expected to attend. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a. m. Host locals at the noon meal will be Gervais, Brooks and Central Howell.

Navy Reserves To Leave for Duties Today

Two Salem Navy reservists are bound for two-weeks training duty at San Diego today, while nine others will spend this week end on a destroyer escort in the Columbia River.

Fireman Edward T. Lotting of Monmouth is to attend machinery repair school, and SKGSN Gerald L. Roberts of Astoria is due at storekeeper school at San Diego. Members of reserve surface division 13-28 taking the cruise today and Sunday on the USS Gilligan, from Portland to Astoria and return, are Seaman Recruits Don W. Anderson, Earle J. Beesley, Edward R. Castillo, Eldon O. Egan, Francis J. Heuberger, Cyril K. McNary, Norman A. Qualey, Clarence J. Tschantz and Rodney L. Watts.

Salvation Army Band Due Here

MaJ. Charles Bennett, of the Salvation Army here announced Thursday that the Portland Citadel Salvation Army band will pay an all-day visit to the Salem corps Sunday.

The visit will include three public appearances at the Corps Building, 241 State St. The band will play at the Holiness meeting at 11 a. m. when MaJ. Frank Buchanan, Portland, will speak. A concert will be given at 3 p. m. The Salvation meeting at 7:30 p. m. will be preceded by street meetings in downtown Salem.

Free Posture Check Offered for Children
Free well-child clinics to determine faulty posture habits will be held this week in the offices of Salem chiropractors.
Among them, the planets in the solar system have 31 moons.

Campus Sing To Open May Day Activity

The annual Willamette University All-Campus sing will be presented beginning at 9:45 this morning in vocal competition between the living organizations.

The Queen's Ball tonight in the Willamette gymnasium will climax a day of events in honor of May Day Week end. At 11 a. m. today a tour of the campus will be made available by the director of admission's office. At 1:30 p. m. this afternoon an outdoor coronation, (weather permitting) will be held at which Betty Jean Mullin, a senior from Portland, will be crowned Queen Betty Jean I.

A. L. Brewster Elected by DAV Chapter

Election of officers took precedent at the Friday meeting of the Disabled American Veterans, Salem Chapter 6.

Elected to the office of commander was A. L. Brewster; Vicar Wagers, senior vice-commander; Frank Hunt, junior vice commander; Joseph Spaulding, chaplain; J. A. Harnsberger, treasurer; and William A. Shinn, sergeant-at-arms.
An executive committee of Luther Cook, Charles Peterson, Jacob Ferder and James Callaway was elected. Dr. Roy Reynolds was elected to the post of state committee man.
James Callaway, Vicar Wagers and William A. Shinn were appointed to serve on the chapter's committee which is actively participating in locating the names of all local deceased veterans in an effort to create a master file of names.

Police Patrol Picketed Western Union Office

PORTLAND (AP)—A round-the-clock police patrol was ordered Friday at the picketed main office of the Western Union here.

Police Chief Donald I. McNamara ordered the patrol to prevent a recurrence of what he said was a series of "incidents." Sam H. Walker, a company technician, reported to police his glasses and dentures were broken when he was attacked by four men.
