"Cat" Diesel Wins in Mill "Race"

DIESEL DOCTORS. Operating here are two Interstate "Cat" mechanics. Highly skilled in Engine Diagnosis, they have facilities at the Interstate Service Shops for complete heavy equipment maintenance and repair. Engine (above) is shown mounted on cradle, which allows engine to be turned at any angle for ready accessibility. At hand, in a carefully organized parts department, is a quick, complete supply of genuine "Caterpillar" parts.

BIG LIFT FOR THE GANDY DANCER. "Caterpillar" Diesel D6 tractor with Hyster Hystaway walks the rails, handles heavy materials for bridge repair at Maupin, Oregon. The Hystaway is a separate attachment for the "Caterpillar" tractor and is readily adaptable as a backhoe, clamshell, dragline or shovel. Inset: Mr. N. S. Westergard, Road Master of S. P. & S. Railroad, where unit is shown in action.

STORE MANAGER, Bill Holmes, coordinates the activities of all the Interstate Personnel to give fast, efficient service to heavy equipment owners and operators.

INTERSTATE HEADQUARTERS. Modern appearance, attractive and comfortable showroom impress the casual visitor. But most important, the facilities for customer service are equally modern and well organized. Store is conveniently located at 2355 Silverton Road, Salem, Phone 2-4161. Interstate Tractor and Equipment Co. "Caterpillar" John Deere Dealer.
