Guild Secretary Is a Visitor

Miss Lillian Johnson of New York City, Secretary of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church, spent Sunday night and Monday morning in Salem as she made a few stops to contact Guild leaders in the West-ern Jurisdiction. She was en route home from the General Conference of the Methodist Church just concluded in San Francisco. The Wesleyan Service Guild is the organization for gainfully employed women who are members and friends of the Methodist Church. This organization numbers around 100,000 women in its membership.

Mrs. Everett Faber of Central Point, guild secretary of the Oregon Conference, is traveling through Oregon with Miss Johnson, joining these two women for breakfast Monday at the Maxam Hotel were Mrs. E. E. Bergman, guild secretary of the Salem District; Mrs. J. Edgar Purdy, treasurer of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church of the Western Jurisdiction; and Mrs. C. W. Stacey, secretary of promotion for the organization, all of Salem.

A bus load of guild members from the three Salem Methodist Churches are going to Portland Monday evening to attend a dinner meeting at which Miss Johnson will be guest speaker at the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bergman joined Miss Johnson at a meeting at Eugene Sunday and accompanied her to the Portland meeting.
