The special event looms as a rip-snorter also, for in it will be the sinister, hissing Jap Toi Yamato against Frenchy Roy, a rematch. Andy's cruise was the seventh in league play here since the ball park was built in 1940. First to engineer one of the fluke homers (and they are that inasmuch as it takes either a bad hop or a misjudgement to get one), was John (Bunny) Griffiths, manager and shortstop for the Salems in 1940-41. Bunny biffed one in 1940 and picked up one of Ted Chambers' Valley Packing Co. Cascade Hams, the ham-forof Ted Chambers' Valley Packing Co. Two more were hit in 1946, one by Eddle Wheeler of the Senators and the other by Bill Garbe, then the Yakima first baseman. Wheeler will be recalled as being one of the fastest runners ever to play in the league, rating right behind Eddie Barr who we believe to be the fastest the circuit has ever known.

Boss Luby Biffed One Last Season Too

It was only last season in a local series with Tri-City, and off the slants of Long Lou McCollum, that Boss Hugh Luby made the mad dash and joined the touch-'em-all fraternity . . .

Speaking of fluke base hits brings up the topic of scorekeeping and the annual criticism aimed our way by certain fans who are convinced that we must be the worst base hit tabulator in the business. The latest gripe received comes from "A Fan", one who apparently doesn't have nerve enough to sign his name, and one who accuses us of buttering up Glenn Tuckett's batting average. He also insists that we must be related to the Solon third baseman in some way, or that we owe him money, and that we are outwardly influencing Boss Hugh Luby's plans for personnel changes by giving Tuckett a couple of base hits he doesn't deserve.

We're sure that if the crank who wrote the letter, or any other fan for that matter, will take the trouble to check with Luby, he will find that the ballplayers are getting only what they DO deserve in the way of base hits.

We see only those games here at home where we admit to being generous in our decisions on whether the blow in question is hit or serior. At the same time we are fully aware that a pitcher's earned run herson, Pittsburgh Lowery. St. Louis were games on the seriously considered. But we don't see the games on the seriously considered. But we don't see the games on the seriously considered to th We see only those games here at home where we admit to being average must be seriously considered. But we don't see the games on Lockman, New York the road, where such incidents as the following take place regularly:

Mighty Queer Things Happen on the Road

In a game at Wenatchee recently, Luby was on base when Anderson hit a drive that hit Luby. The Solon chief was out, but the scorekeeper also charged Anderson with a time at bat and gave him no hit. It clearly states in the rules that Anderson should be credited with a hit. In another game at Lewiston one of the Senator players not two clean base hits in three times at bat, and has the testimony of the whole squad to prove it. Yet he was officially credited with one hit in four times up!

The boys come off their road jaunts mighty disgusted at times. They aren't getting a fair shake when abroad. Consequently when they hit drives here that are in the least bit questionable, we do not hesitate in scoring "hit" on them. Other scorekeepers in the league are doing the same thing for their pets, believe us.

So let's not be getting our water hot before we know what we're heating it up with. There have been no complaints from ballplayers, managers or league president during our eight years at it. The only squawks seem to come from those who are spitting at the surface before they know what's beneath it . . .
