'Big Lie' Said Used in Attacks On Acheson

By EDWARD L. BOMAR WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said Monday the big lie technique was used in a series of published criticisms of Secretary Acheson which, it said, are being widely distributed.

Assistant Secretary Howland H. Sargent told Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) in a letter that the charges, as published in a national magazine, were "a synthesis of half-truths, statements out of context, misrepresentation and total falsehoods."

Sargent submitted a point by point reply to 29 allegations which he said were made in an article entitled "Freedom's Case Against Dean Acheson" by Felix Wittner in the American Mercury.

Douglas had asked the department for comment on the article. The department decided to reply publicly, Sargent said, because a private organization which he did not name "has taken upon itself to make a wide distribution of this article in reprint form."

The department hit back with the big lie countercharge in denying that an "Acheson clique" got rid of former undersecretary Joseph Grew soon after World War II because Grew insisted on vigorous prosecution of career diplomat John Stewart Service. Service recently was fired after an official board found there was reasonable doubt of his loyalty.

Commenting that "here again is the big lie at work," the department quoted subsequent testimony by Grew that he resigned voluntarily. It said that former Secretary James F. Byrnes, rather than Acheson, reinstated Service following investigation of leaks of confidential information in 1945 to the magazine Amerasia, now defunct.

PEARL RIVER, N. Y. (AP)—More than 400 persons ended five days and nights of self-imprisonment inside Lederle Laboratories strike-bound wonder drug plant Monday. Picket lines around the plant were relaxed after the company made a new wage offer to its striking employees.

The strikers vote on the wage offer Tuesday and if they accept it the strike will be called off. A union spokesman described as premature a report the strike already was over.

However, the men and women inside the plant were free to leave and return through token picket lines for the first time since the strike began last Wednesday.

Dean Dubach Asks Change in Asian Policy

Korean truce talks "will go on forever unless we have a change of administrations," predicted Dr. U. G. Dubach of Lewis and Clark College Monday in a luncheon talk before Salem Chamber of Commerce.

The veteran political science professor expressed strong disapproval of the United States' official Asian policy, declaring, "we've been playing the wrong game with the Orient for many years."

He maintained that China is today dominated by Russia only "because we sold China down the river."

Dr. Dubach advised that Americans realize revolutions will be going on indefinitely in China, Japan, India and the Near East, as a result of long-standing domination of "intrusions" from white men. And Russia will get the upper hand in these areas "if we are not smart enough to capitalize on the feelings of their peoples."

U. S. money and guns are not enough to win the important Far East area, said Dubach. He urged that Americans set the example as a truly Christian nation "so that other peoples will want to be like us, not just want our gadgets."

Dr. Dubach was introduced by Gov. Douglas MacKay who studied political science under him when both were new to Oregon State College in 1913.

GOP Senators Level Attack on McGranery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican Senators asserted Monday that Senate confirmation of Judge James M. McGranery as attorney general would jeopardize the entire federal anti-corruption program and give weight to charges of a "whitewash."

Sens. Ferguson of Michigan and Watkins of Utah specifically challenged McGranery's fitness to serve in the No. 1 Justice Department post on the ground that his integrity and veracity were "most questionable."

They also accused the Philadelphia federal jurist of attempting to "dodge and straddle" in his testimony on the question of President Truman's inherent power to seize the steel industry.

Welter, a strongly worded 45-page report, the two Senators declared that when quizzed on that subject, McGranery either engaged in "fuzzy thinking or was intentionally endeavoring to confuse the issue."

It is therefore unfit for the high trust and responsibility of the office of attorney general," the report said.

Demanding further hearings before the Senate acts on the appointment, Ferguson and Watkins submitted their minority report as a token of sharp disagreement with the Senate Judiciary Committee's 8-to-4 vote in favor of McGranery 10 days ago.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Judiciary Committee told newsmen that he was confident that any move to send the nomination back to the committee for further testimony would fail.

Cattle Raisers Hear Newbry At Banquet

By LILLIE L. MADSEN Farm Editor, The Statesman

The people of Oregon need not be worried about overproduction of cattle so long as 60 per cent of the beef consumed here must be brought in from other states, particularly the east, Earl T. Newbry, secretary of state, told the 95 folk in attendance at the Aberdeen Angus Association banquet at Senator Hotel Monday night.

There are now 88 million head of all kinds of cattle in the United States, an increase of 14,000 since 1950. But the population with an increase of 7,400 each day, is keeping ahead of the cattle increase, Newbry pointed out. He added that Oregon is basically agriculture and hoped it would continue to be.

Kenneth Hall, president of the year-old Oregon Aberdeen-Angus Association, was toastmaster at the dinner.

Hall introduced the officers of the association who included Gerald West, Klamath Falls, vice president; Harold Rankin, Hermiston, treasurer; and Ben Hilton, Grants Pass, Hilton is also chairman of the sales committee. Arthur, vice president of the Idaho association, and Arnold Weed, Idaho's secretary, were also introduced, as was the auctioneer Walter Palmer, and Walter Smith, representative of the American Aberdeen Angus association. Leo Spitzbart, state fair manager, was also a guest.

The 52 animals which will be sold at the state fairsground, will parade at 12:30 in the sale's ring at which time Palmer and Smith will speak briefly on the cattle.

This is the first sale of the association to be held in Oregon. President Hall said that he hoped that this would be the first of many to follow each spring at Salem. He added that the association planned to keep the Salem sale one of purebred cattle, while plans were to hold a commercial sale of heifers in Baker in the fall.

The cattle to be offered for sale Tuesday afternoon, were brought to the fairsground Sunday and early Monday where scores of prospective buyers viewed them during the two days.

CIO Section of Fir Belt Still Strikebound

PORTLAND (AP)—More CIO Woodworkers went back to work Monday, but much of the fir belt remained strike-bound.

There was no attempt made by the union or the Lumbermen's Industrial Relations Committee to resume negotiations. They broke off talks in a deadlock Friday. The IRC represents a big segment of employers in the fir belt of Western Oregon and Washington.

Also still to reach settlements are the Oregon Coast Operators. Federal mediators said they would try to arrange meetings between the union and that group later this week. The Coos Bay Lumber Co., Coos Bay, Ore., also may be in the meeting.

The Klamath Basin Pine Mills in Klamath Falls made the latest settlement with the union, giving 225 workers a 7 1/2 cent hourly pay boost, three more paid holidays and a 2-cent night differential increase.

Health and welfare payments will continue to come from workers' paychecks.

The health and welfare payment has been the key issue in most negotiations. The union wants the employers to pay the cost.

The truck is planned to move through the summer weeks from the YMCA camp to the Salem Y to make such trips as coastal jaunts, run to the Cascades, trips to the north fork of the Santiam, football conditioning trips for older boys and whatever other trips might be planned at the meeting this evening.

Also included in the benefits of this trip planning are the grade school boys who may anticipate inclusion on such trips as the ones mentioned and others.

These trips are to begin about the middle of June.
