

Annual Award Presented at Luncheon

A highlight of the Delta Zeta State Day held in Salem on Saturday at the American Legion Club was announcement of the selection of Miss Grace Yoakley, Portland, as "Delta Zeta of the year in Oregon."

The presentation of the award was made by Mrs. Arthur Larson, editor of the Delta Zeta Lamp, and last year's award winner, Miss Yoakley is a member of the board of managers of the grade school teachers of Portland, and secretary of Eta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national educational honorary. The "Delta Zeta of the Year in Oregon" award is made annually to an alumna of Delta Zeta, based upon interest in Delta Zeta affairs.

Mrs. Joe Leveton, president of the Portland alumnae Chapter was toastmistress for the luncheon.

The welcome on behalf of the Salem chapter was given by Mrs. Charles Derthick, newly elected president of the local group. Responses were made by Phyllis Herman, president of Chi Chapter, Oregon State College; Joan Jacobs, president of Omega Chapter, University of Oregon; Miss Hazel Sarnell, president of Corvallis alumnae; Miss Patty Bressler, president of Eugene alumnae; Mrs. John Clark, state alumnae chairman, and Mrs. E. L. Bradley, retiring president of the Salem alumnae.

National President Speaks
The main address, "The Golden Gateway - 50th Year of Delta Zeta" was presented by Mrs. Crene Fariss, national president, who stressed individual responsibility and service to the community, nation and world and the importance of both college and city Pan-Hellenic organizations.

Mrs. Arthur Larson, reported on the progress of Delta Zeta's hearing aid project for hearing-handicapped children, one of the philanthropic services of the sorority. A large replica of the Delta Zeta pin, a golden grecian lamp, set among pink roses, was the main decorative feature for the speaker's table. The sorority colors of rose and green were used in the other table decorations.

Penitentiary Terms Given To 2 Escapees

State Penitentiary sentences were issued Monday in Marion County Circuit Court to two of the four men who escaped recently from the county jail. Both were indicted last week by the grand jury.

Melvin Leedy, 24, Dallas, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to concurrent terms of three years for obtaining money by false pretenses, of which he was arrested originally, and 18 months for larceny. Involving the car he stole for his escape May 6.

William Frank McCarty, 31, Mill City, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary not in a dwelling, involving an April theft at Mehma, and was sentenced to four years in the prison.

Pete Graves, West Stayton, was denied his motion for a new trial on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was given a six-months suspended county jail sentence and placed on 18-months probation.

A guilty plea also was entered by Jack Eldon Green, Stayton, to a charge of attempted larceny in a warehouse. The case was continued for pre-sentencing investigation.

Bus Schedules Revised Due to IOOF Parade

Temporary routes for City Transit Lines buses Wednesday night during the Odd Fellows convention parade through downtown streets were announced by the firm Monday.

The changed schedule will operate from 7:15 to 8:15 p. m. Wednesday. Buses will run on these schedules every half-hour instead of hourly, it was reported.

Patrons taking the State-Mill Streets, 12th Street and South Commercial Street routes will board cars at Liberty and Ferry Streets. Loading at Liberty and Chemeketa Streets will be buses on the Market-Park-D, Chemeketa, Capitola-Highland and Capitola-Broadway runs.

During the parade hour buses will not load at State and Liberty Streets.

Coastal Wreck Injuries Fatal

NEWPORT (AP)—Mickey Terrence Smith, 30, Waldport, died here Monday. Injuries suffered in an auto-truck crash Sunday on Highway 34, a mile east of Waldport.

State police said Smith was driving a pickup truck and had nearly pulled off the highway. They quoted Swaney Dalton, Yachats, driver of the car, as saying his front wheels locked and he swerved across the road into the truck.

Dalton was unhurt.

Pedestrian Files $52,431.47 Suit

A pedestrian hurt when struck by a car in Salem last Dec. 2 filed suit for $52,431.47 in damages Monday in Marion County Circuit Court.

Katherine Murnane alleged that she was hit at Cottage and Marion Streets by a car driven by Virgil N. Simmons. The complaint states her injuries to have included leg fractures and various bruises and strains as well as damaged eyesight.

The plaintiff asks $50,000 general and $2,431.47 for medical expenses and lost wages.

67 Per Cent City's Voters Visited Polls

Approximately 67 per cent of Salem's registered city voters turned out for the election in which Mayor Alfred W. Loucks and three aldermen were re-elected, it was estimated Monday by City Recorder Alfred Mundt.

Total unofficial revised figures showed the mayor's race results at 8,947 for Loucks and 3,525 votes for Edward A. Randle.

This amounted to the highest total vote on the city ballot—14,472 or 67 per cent of the total registration—21,505.

The rechecked totals showed Randle won six precincts—No. 32 in northeast Salem by 215 to 105, No. 6 in Southeast Salem by 172-149 and four others by less than 10 votes each. These were Precinct 40 in the Southeast and Precincts 21, 37 and 42, all in North Salem's Ward 5. In three other precincts, 7 and 35 of North Salem and 16 downtown, Randle was only a few votes behind Loucks.

Aldermen reelected were David O'Hara, Robert F. White and James H. Nicholson. A runoff in November is necessary between Claudi Jorgensen, incumbent in Ward 3 and Clayton Jones.

The city vote will be canvassed by the recorder and mayor before being certified by the City Council.
