For the teen-age contingent is the tea for which Teddy Schlesinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Schlesinger, and Judy Porter, daughter of Mrs. Cecil Rhoades, will be hostesses on Monday afternoon at the Schlesinger home on East Rural Avenue.

The affair is to celebrate the young hostesses graduation from Leslie Junior High School and bidden to call between 3 and 5 o'clock are a group of their ninth grade friends.

Receiving informally will be the hostesses and their mothers. Assisting about the rooms will be the Misses Jean Lidbeck, Gladys Maude, Patricia Sexton, Elaine Moore and Diane Emigh. Presiding at the tea urns will be the Misses Betty Harrison, Vicki Ward, Patricia Collins and Nancy Payne. A lilac and pink color scheme will be used in the decor on the tea table and about the rooms.

Luncheon at Mott Home . . .

For Tuesday afternoon is the one o'clock picnic luncheon for which Mrs. James W. Mott will be hostess at her country place at Zena in compliment to members of her sponsoring committee during the recent election.

Mrs. Mott was a successful candidate as delegate from the First Congressional District to the National Republican convention to be held in Chicago next month.

Sixty guests are expected to attend the luncheon. The buffet table will be arranged on the patio and picnic tables will be set in the garden.

Convention Plans Told . . .

Salem Lions Club auxiliary members are busy with last minute details prior to the arrival of hundreds of Lions Club members and their wives in the capital next weekend for the annual state convention.

Mrs. James Tindall is heading the general directorate for the auxiliary events. Salem is especially honored this year by claiming the state president, Mrs. A. J. Crose.

The convention will open Sunday night, June 8 with a buffet supper and stage show at the Oregon State Fairgrounds for the men and women. The women's events will officially get underway Monday morning, June 9 with a fun breakfast in the Capital room of the Senator Hotel. Auxiliary business sessions will be held in the new auditorium of the State School for the Blind.

Tea at Ohling Home

Monday's luncheon will be held at the First Christian Church at 12:30 p. m. and during the afternoon a golf tourney and tours about the city have been planned for the visiting women. The social highlight of the day will be the informal tea in honor of the out-of-town women to be held at the home of Mrs. Merrill D. Ohling on South High street between 3 and 5 o'clock.

Monday night the women will join their husbands for a banquet in honor of the district governors with a ball following. The affair will be held at Parrish Junior High School. The closing business session will be Tuesday morning and the convention will end with a luncheon at the Oregon State Penitentiary for the men and women.
