Vice President Barkley announced Sunday night he intends to seek the Democratic presidential nomination instead of letting it seek him.

Gunfire Quells New Rioting in Michigan Pen

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—State troopers quelled with gunfire Sunday night an outbreak among tough convicts at Southern Michigan Penitentiary.

Rioting broke out at 8 p.m., in cell block No. 9 where trouble-makers are confined and fed individually in cells. Most of the inmates had taken part in the bloody and costly mutiny at the prison in April.

A convict on the first floor of the four-story block pried himself free from his cell and released others apparently by throwing a master switch.

The rioters seized two guards, William Blair and Burt Myron, as hostages. Another guard was trapped on the fourth tier. He was later rescued by state police.

The rioters then moved into adjoining cellblock No. 8 and began freeing the prisoners.

Prison officials called for state police help. One hundred troopers moved into the prison and restored order by 10:30 p.m.

A raiding party of troopers opened fire in driving the rioters out of cell block No. 8.

The police fired through windows of the cell block with riot guns to subdue the rioters.

The convicts in cellblock No. 9 then gave up and surrendered their hostages, Blair and Myron.

Prison officials said the trouble broke out in a segregated section of block No. 9 where inmates who mutinied in April have been confined for investigation.

Since the April riot, there have been rumblings from the prison that prison authorities had reneged on promises made to end the mutiny.

Lame Convict Escapes From Picking Crew

A partially lame, 27-year-old convict, caught the Independence Day spirit Sunday afternoon and slipped away from guards watching a cherry picking gang on a farm near Roberts, about 10 miles south of Salem.

He was identified by Warden Virgil O'Malley as Bert Comella, serving three years from Linn County for forgery. Comella, who was received Oct. 24, 1951, was up for parole this coming October.

O'Malley said Comella was one of a gang of 20 convicts who were picking cherries on the Eyerley farm, a short distance from Roberts. His absence was noted about 5:30 p.m. when the gang was rounded up to be brought back to the prison.

Young Auto Victim Due Home Soon

Still unconscious, but improving, little Kip Wolfer will come home Wednesday from the Portland hospital where for nearly two weeks he has hovered between life and death.

The two-year-old lad was critically hurt and sustained a fractured skull last June 23 when he was struck by a car in front of his home, 3835 Monroe Ave. His father says the child is now well enough to be brought home, but how much longer he will remain unconscious could not be ascertained.

The child has shown gradual improvement for the past several days, taking fluids and now and then conscious enough to recognize his parents Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wolfer who have been close by the child since he has been in the hospital.

Wilson Boys' Sister Held For Larceny

PORTLAND (AP)—A woman who identified herself as the sister of convicted slayers Turman and Utah Wilson was arrested Saturday and booked on a charge of shoplifting.

The 19-year-old woman told police she was Mrs. Patricia L. Ostenson of Camas, Wash. Police said a store detective saw her leaving a shopping center here with six pairs of sunglasses and a bottle of shampoo.

She was held for four hours before being released on $250 bail.

Minor Traffic Mishaps Only In City Area

No fatalities and only a few minor traffic accidents marred Salem's three-day celebration of the Fourth of July.

But death took its toll elsewhere in the Willamette Valley. Three of the state's traffic fatalities were chalked up in the early hours Friday two miles east of St. Paul, in an accident which left two others injured.

Two collisions Sunday brought slight injuries to four local people. Patsy Ann Moriarty, 18, of Salem Route 8, Box 586 and Wanda Spearhawk, 17, sustained lacerated knees when their car collided with another at Chemeketa and High streets. Driver of the second automobile was Ferdinand L. Worth of 1695 Yew St.

In a collision at Fairgrounds and Silverton roads, Mickey Keiser of 1055 S. 12th St. and Carol Beam of 675 N. Summer St. received minor injuries. There were three others in their car, driven by Harold D. Harp of Route 8, Box 726, which collided with one driven by Nora May Kerr of Compton, Calif.

SEATTLE (AP)—"Live" network television reached Seattle Sunday over the newly-completed Pacific Coast link with national TV circuits.

The combination of coaxial cable to Portland and microwave relay from there to Seattle hooks up with nationwide TV which had extended to California some time ago.

The first "live" program over KING-TV here was "Convention Preview" from Chicago, showing the Windy City at the height of pre-Republican national convention fever pitch.

Third Span Across Willamette River Nearing Completion

Only one section of the new Marion Street bridge (center) remains to be put in place to complete the third link across the Willamette River at Salem. Aerial photograph shows congested Center Street bridge (left) which will be converted to one-way traffic after reconstruction when the Marion Street span is completed. The last steel section of the bridge will probably be raised into place early this week. Then work will shift to flooring the bridge and completing westside approaches. (Statesman Aerial Photo).

New Prices Peak Predicted in Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A staff memorandum of the Senate-House Economic Committee said Sunday the outlook is for prices to rise to a new all-time peak in the next six to 12 months.

It said the increase might be something like 1 to 3 per cent, resulting from a continuing rise in rents and services, a recovery in clothing prices and a slight upturn in consumer durable goods.

Food prices during the period, the document said, are expected to be generally stable, the average "unless there are substantial changes in present crop prospects."

Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) sent the memorandum to the committee members for their information. One of the group's functions is to keep an eye on economic trends for Congress.

The staff review said "most economists confirm our expectations of continued stability or a moderate rise in production, employment, income and prices for the remainder of 1952 and the first half of 1953."

This appraisal was based on a number of assumptions, including an early settlement of the steel strike, no worsening of the international situation, and the carrying out of the planned military build-up.

O'Mahoney noted in a letter transmitting the memorandum to other committee members that the staff estimated expenditures for major defense and war-connected items will total $71,300,000,000 in the 1953 fiscal year that began last Tuesday.

He said that compared with like expenditures of $57,400,000,000 in the 1952 fiscal year.

Federal spending for normal civilian functions in the 1953 fiscal year, O'Mahoney said, are estimated at $8,700,000,000, the same as in the year just past.

First Aviatrix Reaches Goal

TEREBORO, N. J. (AP)—Isabelle McCrea of Lemon Grove, Calif., winged into Tereboro airport Sunday, first of the powder puff pilots to finish the 2,700-mile all-women transcontinental air race.

She nosed her Beechcraft Bonanza to a stop at 10:11 a.m. just three minutes ahead of her closest rival, Doris Thorkildsen of Newport Beach, Calif., in another Beechcraft Bonanza.

Race officials said Miss McCrea's actual flying time since taking off from the Santa Ana, Calif., starting point Friday was 17 hours, 20 minutes. Her last stopover was at Terre Haute, Ind.

By landing first, Miss McCrea is not necessarily the winner. The planes are judged on a handicap basis, with the accent on flying ability and not necessarily speed.

Twenty-eight more planes are still in the race.

Camels with one hump are believed to have been one of the first animals to be domesticated.

Flying Nurse Jumps to Help Hurt Surveyor

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—A 20-year-old surveyor who had lain helpless on an icy mountain ledge for 52 hours was rescued Sunday by helicopter after three parachutists made a dramatic jump to his aid.

One of the trio was a Royal Canadian Air Force nurse, Grace Woodman, whose chute caught in a tree and left her suspended 100 feet above ground for three hours.

The injured man, Ken Northcote, was brought to safety late Sunday. Hospital officials said he suffered a possible back fracture but was "in fairly good condition."

The tiny 5-foot, 100-pound nurse, an RCAF para-doctor and a sergeant leaped 1,000 feet onto the mountaintop in the wild Pitt lake region only 45 miles northwest of Vancouver.

Their mercy jump was in response to a call for aid by one of Northcote's companions, who hiked 13 hours through the rugged wilds to bring out word of the accident.

Northcote, Joe Chamberlain, 26, and Martin Christie were working on Mount Coquilum for the British Columbia Geological Survey Friday when Northcote was caught in a snow slide and plunged 600 feet down the mountain, landing on a ledge. Unable to move, he lay helpless at the 2,800-foot level of the mountain.

Chamberlain and Christie stayed with Northcote throughout Friday night, building a fire and trying to make their companion as comfortable as possible.

At dawn, Chamberlain began to walk out. Chamberlain walked from 4 a.m. until 1 p.m., when he reached civilization and notified the RCAF.
