

Angling Prospects Range From Fair to Good

PORTLAND (AP) - The weekly fishing report of the Oregon Game Commission:

Northwest - Fishing is fair in the Mt. Hood area and has improved in the Clackamas River system in the Tillamook area. Trout angling is fair. The streams are low and a few bluebacks are being taken. Occasional chinook are being caught in Nestucca Bay. All streams are low and clear and fishing is fair to good in the upper stretches of the Alsea and Siletz; sea-run cutthroats are being caught in Tidewater. Fishing on the McKenzie and its tributaries continues good. Willamette River is fair to good. Clear Lake is fair on troll and egg; Linton Lake is spotty and Dorena Reservoir is poor. Angling is fair and some sea-run cutthroat are showing in Ne-canicum and Nehalem Rivers and in tidewater. Southwest - Rogue River trout angling is good and improving above prospect but is only fair and improving from Grants Pass to McLeod. Good catches are being made on flies in the evening. Water continues to drop and is clear. Salmon angling remains good in the Bybee Bridge to McLeod area and is fair in the Grants Pass area. Chinook salmon angling closes in the Rogue River after July 15 above Mule Creek near Marial. Salmon fishing at Winchester Bay is poor. Trout fishing in the central coastal lakes is fair with some catches being taken with flies, spinners and worms. Warm water fish are biting good with some good catches of catfish. Trout angling has been good to excellent throughout the upper Umpqua area. Fly fishing in the North Umpqua has been very good but the water is high although clear. Some summer steelhead have been caught in the Steamboat area and a promise of better catches is in the offing. Salmon and trout have appeared at Winchester Dam so it should be available to the angler below that point. Central - Fishing has been slow in the central region due to hot weather. Road into Sparks Lake is blocked by snow at Dutchman. Salmon fishing is still inaccessible. The road is open to Irish Lake. Deschutes River in Cow Camp area has been producing some nice catches on fly in the evening. Little Deschutes and Crescent Creek have been very good on flies. Blue upright and caddis flies seem to be the best in these areas. Mid-Deschutes in Cove, Mecca, and Trout Creek areas have all been producing nice catches. Odell Lake has been producing the big ones with 8 mac- kinaw ranging from 10 1/2 to 22 pounds reported this week. Also a few around 5 and 6 pounds were reported. Rainbow fishing at Odell continues good and a few blueback are still being caught. On East and Paulina Lakes remains fair on bait and troll. Lava Lake is improving. Metolius River is providing good fishing on fly. Fly fishing with Blue Lake special coachman and gnats at Blue Lake is producing some nice catches of rainbow. Lower Deschutes River is fairly clear but still quite high. Trout fishing has been only fair.

Cougar Student In Semi-Finals Of Publinx Go

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) - A young Illinois laborer, a California salesman, a Washington State College student and a Florida airline pilot captured semi-final berths Thursday in the wild and woolly National Public Links golf tournament. The headliner in this field of the stars of American municipal golf courses was Bob Scherer, cod, 21-year-old workman from Decatur, Ill., who knocked out Tommy Began, tobacco-chewing ex-pro from Trion, Ga., in a 1-up quarter-final battle. Scherer, who aims for a professional golfing career and apparently has the competitive instinct to fulfill his ambition, took another long step in the right direction when he blasted Began, his sixth victim of the week-long amateur marathon, and moved into Friday's 36-hole semi-final. Spokane Kid 'Warm' His opponent in that next-to-last test of one of golf's most severe tournament grinds will be John Hallin, 21-year-old "cold weather kid" from Spokane, Wash., who came through the quarter-finals with a 2 and 1 decision over Arnold Kaehler, 225-pound wholesale grocery salesman from Indianapolis. Matched in the other semi-final battle will be Omer L. Bogan, slender South Gate, Calif., furniture salesman, who at 35 is the "old man" of the public links classic, and Bob Kurz, 32-year-old Eastern Air Lines pilot of Miami Springs, Fla. Bogan cut out Dub Pagan, West Palm Beach, Fla., fireman, by a 2 and 1 margin in the quarter-finals. Kurz scored an identical 2 and 1 victory over 18-year-old Donald Thornton of Los Angeles, the youngster of the quarter-final field.

More Americans Arrive Olympic 'Truce' Ruled, Chinese Entry Banned

HELSENKI (AP) - Finland proclaimed an Olympic truce in the style of ancient Greece Thursday in the hope the biggest athletic festival would go off smoothly.

The games of the 15th Olympiad—bringing together Russia and the United States in direct sports conflict—open July 19. Sixty-nine nations have entered 6,500 athletes. Meanwhile, an unexpected dispute broke out. Gungun Hoh flew in from Formosa and demanded that Nationalist China be admitted. The International Olympic Committee previously ruled neither Nationalist nor Red China could compete. Gungun immediately sought a hearing with the Olympic brass here. Eighty more United States athletes arrived Thursday morning with another plane winging in Thursday night. The fifth and last air contingent from New York is due Friday. Peaceful Interlude The call for Olympic peace was made by Erik von Frankell, president of the Finnish Olympic organizing committee, speaking to the committee in the president's box of the sun-drenched Olympic stadium. "For the time that the games last, the organizers proclaim Ekkheiria, the Olympic truce," he said. In ancient days heralds sounded the truce and athletes were permitted to travel unmolested to the games no matter what wars went on in Greece. One of the most exasperated of athletes was Don Laz, the 15-foot pole vaulter from Illinois. He broke his pole in the final tryouts and has not been able to duplicate it. The Swedish firm that made the metal pole has discontinued Don's particular type. Laz borrowed a heavy pole from the Germans but couldn't make it work.

Daly Leader, British Open

Willie Goggin of Montclair, N. J., took 71-74-145; Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., came in with 74-73-147, while Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, and Jimmy Hines of Chicago finished on the very bottom rung. Stranahan, the only amateur in the tournament, posted 75-76-151 and Hines had 73-78-151. Goggin, playing in his first British open, was nine strokes off the pace and in ninth place.

American Gunners Capture Honors

OSLO (AP) - The United States carried off two individual crowns and one team title in the 35th world shooting championships Thursday. H. W. Reeves of Detroit won the individual center fire pistol competition with a record total of 579 points and the U. S. team took the team title with 2304 points, also a record.

Lightning Kills '51 Turf King

UPPERVILLE, Va. (AP) - Bold, victor in the 1951 Preakness, and a big money winner among three-year-olds last year, was struck by lightning and killed Wednesday at the Brookmeade Stables here. The horse, owned by Mrs. Isabelle Dodge Sloane, was let out to pasture as usual at about 4 p.m. A sudden violent electrical storm came up almost immediately after that and an hour later a stable-hand came upon the horse's body.

Reds Formidable Foe In Track Department

Surprisingly, Kazantsev is entered only in the 3,000 meter steeplechase in which he holds the best world mark ever. Nikifor Popov, the Russian distance man, is competing in both the 5,000 and the 10,000 as is Anoufrie. Feodosij Vanine, the veteran distance runner from the Soviet Union, leads the marathon entries. Other known Russian names on the lists include the sprinter Vladimir Soukharev in the 100 and 200. Soukharev is supposed to have done 10.2, equalling the world 100-meter record.

ZATOPEK AILING

HELSENKI (AP) - Word reached the Iron Curtain Olympics camp at Otanahs Thursday that Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's world record holder, who is entered in the 5,000 and 10,000 meter runs as well as the marathon, has tonsillitis and is well below top physical condition.

Some Skeptical

However, those who saw him run in Brussels two years ago in the European championships say he must have improved sensationally if that time is to be accepted. The great race of the Olympics as many athletes saw it in Norway, the 1,500, or metric mile. Entered are such names as: Reiff, who also will run the 5,000; Willi Slijkhuis of Holland, one of the world's great runners; Roger Bannister and Bill Nankiewicz of Britain; John Ross of Canada; Audun Boysen of Norway; Patrick El Mabrouk of France; Sture Landqvist, Ingvar Ericsson and Olow Aberg of Sweden; Guenter Dohrow, Rolf Lambers and Werner Lueg of Germany (Lueg tied the world mark of 3:43 recently); Denis Johansson of Finland, and Sandor Iharos of Hungary.

Kiser Matched With Pederson

Jack (Tiger) Kiser, never any more spectacular or capable in his long mat career as he has been in recent weeks, gets the main event battle at the Armory next Tuesday night. Matchmaker Elton Owen has matched the blond dynamo with Eric (The Great) Pederson in the top mix, same stemming from the row Jack and the chesty Pederson got into this week when Kiser was referring the Pederson-Buck Weaver brawl.

Sensing that he had the makings of a lively squabble between the two after they had to be separated from one another in the dressing room, Owen immediately got the pair signed up. Kiser disqualified Pederson for rough stuff used against Weaver, an item which caused the arrogant muscular to blow his fuse. Had not Owen and a couple of other wrestlers broken it up, the battle between Kiser and Pederson would have occurred in the dressing room.

Never one to keep the fans from seeing a good thing, Owen insisted that they hold off their warfare until main event time next Tuesday. The card's prelim will be added later.

49er Club Inks Ex-Beaver Star

KLAMATH FALLS (AP) - Bob Redkey, who was denied another season of play for the Oregon State College football team, signed Wednesday with the professional San Francisco 49ers. Aussie Olympics Gals Rebel Over Head-Pieces

LONDON (AP)—Australia's nine women Olympic stars staged a mutiny Thursday before they went to Buckingham Palace to meet Queen Elizabeth. They refused to wear the official white leather hats issued them.

"They made us look like porky 12-year-olds on a school treat," complained one of the athletes. The team arrived at the palace wearing trim white felt berets which the girls purchased for two pounds, two shillings ($5.88) each.

Anderson, Lesser Links Winners

TACOMA (AP) - Women's play went according to form in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association championships Thursday, but the Canadian Amateur champ and the Washington state titlist fell in men's second round battles.

Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., moved steadily in defense of the crown she won last year, whipping Mrs. Al Puetz of Seattle 7 and 5, but her most serious challenger was right at her heels.

This would be Patty Lesser of Seattle, who rubbed out Mrs. R. S. Bigelow of Seattle and will meet Edean Friday in a semi-final tangle.
