

Mossadegh Asks England Confer on Oil Plant Payments

By NATE POLOWITZKY
TEHRAN, Iran (P)—With axes back to back, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was reported Saturday night to have notified Britain that Iran is willing to begin talks on the question for nationalized properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

The Nationalist chieftain's axes were: A new cabinet in which he took a firmer grip on Iranian affairs by assumption of the war ministry, carrying out a plan that Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi once frowned on.

The ruling Tuesday by the International Court of Justice that the court was not competent to judge Britain's suit against Iran for damages and compensation over the oil issue.

Two-Hour Talk
Mossadegh made his bid for a conference on payment in a two-hour talk Friday with British Charge d'Affaires George Middleton, said the semi-official newspaper Bakhtar Emrooz.

This Nationalist organ said Middleton also was told Iran is prepared to sell oil to Britain and deduct part of the cost from the compensation to be paid the AIOC 1 1/2 billion dollar concern in which the British government is the majority stockholder.

To Submit Dispute
Britain and the oil company were invited, it said, to submit any dispute they have with this country to Iranian courts. That would be in line with Mossadegh's contention from the first that the nationalization program was strictly a domestic affair.

Official confirmation was lacking. A British Foreign Office spokesman in London said a report from Middleton on his talk with Mossadegh was "under study."

Mossadegh presented his new cabinet to the Shah Saturday. It was the Shah's opposition to Mossadegh's plan to take over the war ministry that led the Premier to resign 10 days ago. He returned to power with increased prestige Tuesday after nationalistic, Communist-backed rioting ousted his successor, Ahmed Qavam, and muted the opposition.

The war ministry previously was headed by a general. Now the Premier will run the armed forces, meaning chiefly the American-equipped army of 130,000. He will have the last word over activities of the U. S. military mission in Iran.

Derby Winner Leaves for Akron, Ohio
Salem's first Soap Box Derby winner and his family, including the derby's runner-up, left Saturday morning for Akron, Ohio. There 13-year-old Douglas Adams will compete with other winners from 152 cities in the nationwide contest Aug. 10.

Watching him will be his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Adams, 4090 N. River Rd., brother Danny, 12, who won the B Division here July 13 and lost to Douglas in the final race, and brother David, 15. They are driving back on the family's longest trip, since they have never before been east of Baker, Ore.

Charles Musser, used car dealer who sponsored Doug, and Mrs. Musser also plan to see the derby. Sponsors of the Salem derby were the Capital Journal and McKay Chevrolet Co.
