

Sun Provides Stimulus for Canada Fires

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—A blazing sun Monday sent shimmering heat waves drifting over from 40,000 to 60,000 acres of timberland blackened by the Burns Lake fire in north-central British Columbia as firefighters tried to stem the 45-square acre inferno.

Cooler weather helped the 100 men on the fireline halt the huge Burns Lake fire on its west and south flanks but it was still eating east and north.

The new estimate on the extent of the 10-day-old fire, started by single bolt of lightning, came from the provincial forest service at Victoria. The previous high estimate was 35,000 acres.
