Transportation Of Seed Crops Continues Slow

A shortage of railroad cars further slowed movement of Oregon's seed crops to consuming areas during the week ending Tuesday. Prices to growers were unchanged from the previous week.

Movement of Oregon's seed crop to the consuming areas has been abnormally slow all season. The situation became even worse during the week ending Tuesday, because of this railroad car shortage. Some dealers reported that they were only getting a car now and then. The result has been that some seed sales to consuming areas have been canceled. If this situation continues, the amount of cover crop seeds used in the south may be below normal this year, Ray H. Teal, extension agricultural economist, said Tuesday.

Prices have remained about steady during the week with a little chewing fescue sold at 45 cents and some offers of 25 to 26 cents made for blue tag alta fescue. No sales were made at these offers and reports are that there is very little blue tag seed available in the valley.

The 1952 crop of all the fescue and bentgrass seeds in the United States is expected to be larger than a year ago, the crop reporting board of the USDA said Tuesday. Most of the increase this year is in tall fescue, having more than doubled over the production of a year ago.

Sgt. Benson Due to Return From Japan

Return from three years on Army duty in Japan is due in January for Sgt. Benny J. Benson, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Benson, 1580 Wallace Rd.

After graduating from Salem High School in 1948, Benson enlisted that year in the 11th Airborne Division. In 1949 he transferred from the paratroopers to the medics and has since been stationed in Osaka Army Hospital as a surgical technician.

His four-year enlistment will be finished next May.

Election Filing Deadline Past

Deadline for filing for the November election, either as independent or by County Central Committee, expired Monday.

Two candidates filed as independents, other than a slate of Progressive Party members for President, vice president and electors. These were Russell H. Nichols, Cascade Locks, for State Representative of Hood River County, and Frank Alderson, for District Attorney of Klamath County.

Candidates filed by County Central Committees are Floyd E. Reinhoel, Democrat, for State Senator, Hood River, and Robert Shultz, Republican, for District Attorney of Douglas County.

Certification of nominees to the county clerks will be made Friday, David O'Hara, in charge of the State Elections Bureau, said. County clerks provide ballots for the election.

BEND WOMAN CHOSEN
NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Craig Coyner of Bend, Ore., Monday was chosen a candidate for divisional vice president of the American Legion Auxiliary. She is to be nominated Tuesday and since she is unopposed, it is expected she will be elected at that time.

Sen. Fatland Not Available For Tax Job

Ernest Fatland, Condon, is not available for the appointment of state tax commissioner to succeed Robert D. Maclean, who resigned, members of the State Board of Control were advised Tuesday.

Fatland is a Republican and formerly served in the Oregon Legislature. He was chairman of a Senate tax committee.

Maclean has asked that he be relieved of his duties on the tax commission by September 20, so he can enter private industry. Board members said they are considering several other persons for the position.

It was also announced definitely that Wallace Wharton, former tax commissioner now engaged in farming near Salem, is not a candidate.

Mother Leaves Suitcase on Road

Anyone see a blue suitcase, with a tan trim, along highway 99E just south of Salem?

It belongs to Mrs. Stith of San Francisco, and she inadvertently left it outside the car when she stopped a few minutes to let her three children change seats. She was en route north.

She'll be coming back south in a few days and telephoned The Statesman from Olympia that she would stop in the Statesman office in the hope it might be turned in. The husband and father is in the service in Korea.

Farm Youths Plan Trips to Brazil, Bolivia

Jack Wells, 27, Independence, a 1951 graduate of Oregon State College will visit Bolivia, and Harry Travenner, 23, Klamath Falls, an OSC senior, will go to Brazil in the winter International Farm Youth Exchange program, Mrs. Winifred Gillen, state 4-H club agent at the college, announced Tuesday.

The two will receive a week's training in Washington, D.C. before leaving for the southern hemisphere in mid-October. Each is expected to spend four to six months abroad.

On arrival overseas, Wells and Travenner will live on assigned farms and share in the daily work and social life of their host families. After returning home, they will report their experiences in talks throughout the state.

There are 29 nations participating in the IFYE program. Oregon's delegates are financed by contributions from members and friends of 4-H and by the National 4-H foundation.

Board Waits For Word of Keally's Fee

State Board of Control members here Tuesday said they were waiting word from Francis Keally, New York City architect, as to the amount he would charge to serve as consultant in completing the state capitol area expansion program.

Keally served as architect in constructing the current state capitol building and recently spent a few days in Salem studying the capitol area project. He is to prepare an overall picture of the project, including parking facilities for state employees' automobiles.

While in Salem Keally suggested that incoming traffic from the north be routed on Winter Street instead of Summer Street, and that the new supreme court building, when approved, be located between Marion and Union Streets in the center of the Capitol Mall.

Keally's employment by the state was recommended by the Capitol Planning Commission.

The architect said completion of the entire project to D Street might require 40 years or longer.

Mathews Graduates From Navy School

Donald Bayne Mathews, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Mathews, 1365 Mission St., has graduated from advanced aviation ordnance school at Jacksonville, Fla., with top honors.

Young Mathews rejoined the Navy two years ago, having served for six years in the Navy during World War II.

His wife, Dorothy, and daughter Donna Lynn live in Forestville, Calif. Mathews is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Bayne, Salem.

Journal Hires William Moyes

PORTLAND (AP)—A rival newspaper has hired William B. Moyes, well-known radio and gossip columnist for the Portland Oregonian.

Starting Sept. 1, Moyes' column will appear six days a week in the other Portland newspaper, the Oregon Journal.

It will be a general radio-television and about-town gossip column, similar to his "Behind the Mike" column which has been a fixture of the Oregonian radio page for years.

Moyes' employment was announced Tuesday by David Eyre, managing editor of the Journal.

JAKE BENNETT FILES

PORTLAND (AP)—J. E. (Jake) Bennett, stormy Portland political figure, stepped back into politics Tuesday by filing as a candidate for the city council post from which he was recalled last May. The voters recalled Bennett and Nate Boddy was appointed to the post.

"Mac," a prefix on many Scottish and Irish names, is a Gaelic word which means son.

Parents Given School Bulletin

The Marion County school office is circulating a bulletin which tells parents and guardians that they will be responsible for entering school age children in school on the opening day this September according to Oregon school law.

Most Marion County schools will open this year on September 1. Children are required to attend school until they are 18 or until they have completed the 12th grade.

Additional information can be obtained at the county school office in Salem or from local school officials.
