

Rainbow Girls To Give Silver Tea Sept. 7

One of the first benefit parties of the early fall season will take place on Sunday, September 7 when members of Chadwick Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls entertain with a silver tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lorenz on South High Street. Their daughter, Miss Marilyn Lorenz, is worthy advisor of Chadwick Assembly.

Proceeds from the tea will be used to raise money for the grand worthy advisor's charity project. All Rainbow Girls, members of Masonic Orders and friends are invited to call between 2 and 5 o'clock.

Past worthy advisors will greet the guests and between 3 and 4 o'clock there will be a program. The Debonnaires, Carole Lee, Sidney Kromer and Laurel Herr, will sing a group of selections. Roberta Sears will give a group of solos, and Roberta Graham will play a group of violin numbers.

Presiding at the tea will be Mrs. Vincent Neal, Mrs. Carl Quistad, Mrs. Wendell Webb, Mrs. Paul Griebel, Mrs. E. H. K. Dorr and Mrs. Elmer Hildreth. Serving will be Misses Sharon Heider, Jean Hartwell, Marcia Webb and Patricia Todd.

Committees arranging the tea include John Neal, program; Arda Lien, refreshments; Mrs. Carl Quistad, decorations; and Margaret Hildreth, publicity.

WEDDINGS AND PARTIES

marked the social calendar this past week . . . An engaged duo, Peggy Gumbert of Portland and Daniel J. Fry Jr., were the honor guests at a lovely party Tuesday night for which Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Quisenberry, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendricks, Mrs. Taylor Hawkins and Herbert Brasel were hosts at the Quisenberry home atop Fairmount Hill . . . few longtime friends of the Frys and a large contingent of the young set bidden to fete the couple . . . The hosts, Peggy and Dan, greeted guests informally out on the brick terrace . . . the garden a blaze of color with petunias predominating . . . a lovely view of the city and mountain range from the terrace and attractive new "keeping room" with corner fireplace, which the Quisenberrys have just completed . . . guests going down into the lower terrace, where colorful garden furniture was arranged.

The buffet table . . . in the dining room and covered with a dark green cloth and a heart shaped centerpiece of white petunias encircled with a tulle frill and handsome green hurricane lamps . . . a delicious collation . . . also sweets and coffee on the buffet.

From Portland . . . came Mr. and Mrs. Orris Fry . . . Evan Boise and the Floyd Shepards, who were making their first official visit back to Salem since they moved several weeks ago . . . The Shepards, enthused about their newly redecorated home atop Westover Terrace . . . Bill and Harriet Duncan over from Silverton . . . Mrs. Milton L. Gumbert accompanying her daughter to Salem for the party . . . she in navy blue and Peggy in a becoming white dress . . .

More of same . . . Friends greeting Tom Kay, who recently returned home after receiving his army discharge . . . Mr. and Mrs. James Stevens, formerly of Portland and now living at Brooks . . . Of the young marrieds . . . Bob and Shirley Steves, Jim and Joan Phillips . . . Don and DeLores Phillips . . . Bob and Nancy Gormsen coming in with the John Johnsons . . . Ernie and Pat Miller . . . Ron and Penny Jones . . . Bill and Miriam Shinn . . . George Alexander, who is soon moving back to Salem with his family from Everett, greeting his friends . . . and needless to say most happy about the transfer . . . Young medics visiting . . . Dr. Allan King and Dr. William Snell . . . the latter and his spouse, Marylee, a sister of the groom-to-be, also down from Portland for the occasion . . . Mrs. Dwight Quisenberry, whose army husband is currently at Fort Lewis, greeting guests at the door and wearing a becoming luggage linen with white trim and matching stole . . .

A BRUNCH . . . on Wednesday morning for which Miss Elizabeth Lord and Miss Edith Schryver were hostesses at their Mission Street home . . . the occasion a welcome home party for Miss Mabel P. Robertson, who returned a week ago from an extended European trip . . . The traveler made her headquarters in France with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brooks and from there toured various parts of the continent . . . She especially enjoyed Switzerland and the French and Italian Riviera . . . a familiar saying with most travelers, which is repeated by Miss Robertson, "there is no place like home and so glad to be back."

Guests going out . . . into the garden with their coffee cups . . . the sun breaking through the skies as guests were arriving . . . some eating on the porch off the dining room . . . The serving table set with pale yellow place mats . . . a clever centerpiece of vegetables arranged on a long tray . . . topped with an egg plant and large purple beans, which turn green when cooked . . . On the buffet an unusual arrangement of chestnut cones and leaves and green grapes . . .

Reminiscing . . . with the honoree or guest about their recent European trips were Mrs. Robert H. Baldock and Mrs. Frank Burlingham . . . Mrs. Breyman Boise, who has spent most of the summer at Seal Rock in from her beach home for a few days . . . Mrs. Robert Brownell, a niece of Miss Robertson's, assisting in the dining room and wearing a becoming yellow linen with pleated skirt . . . Mrs. Louis Lachmund chic in a white knit ensemble . . .

NUPTIAL NOTES . . . So beautiful, the lovely music sang and played at the wedding of Geraldine Schmoker and Robert Preston Monday night at the First Presbyterian Church . . . Gerry and Bob, who are music majors and received their masters degrees at the University of Michigan, planned the music for their ceremony . . . Instead of the traditional Lohengrin's and Mendelssohn's wedding marches, the bride entered to the music of "Lovely" by Vaughn Williams . . . and the recessional was Handel's "The Water Music" . . . Betty Starr Anderson singing the 23rd Psalm set to Brother James Air . . . and lovely was "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee," Gounod's setting from the Book of Ruth . . .

The groom's father . . . Dr. Richard Greeley Preston, flew out from Worcester, Mass., to officiate at the ceremony . . . Mrs. Preston unable to come as she is busy with wedding plans for their daughter, who will be married on September 11 . . . Gerry and Bob driving east and planning to arrive in time for the nuptials . . . Dr. Preston most friendly and busy taking pictures both before the ceremony and later at the reception . . . Here all pink and white flowers used throughout . . . the bridal party receiving from the fireplace . . . Grace Shields taking charge of the guest book by the traditional "anniversary" candle . . . Several of the ushers' wives assisting . . . Mrs. Wayne Struble, Mrs. David Bartruff and Mrs. Bruce MacDonald . . . Bruce and Janet leaving in another week for Connecticut to live, where he will complete his studies at Yale . . . Tom Brand, handsome in his white dinner jacket and ably serving as best man . . . The bride throwing her bouquet from the Pi Phi stairway . . . Louisa Lamb the lucky catcher . . .

A LARGE GROUP . . . of Salem folk in Portland a week ago for the wedding of Betty-Coe Rilea and James Ekstrom at the First Congregational Church . . . The twelve ushers busy seating the eight hundred guests . . . The altar simply decorated with large white Grecian urns filled with white flowers . . . A pretty picture at the altar after the bridal party took their place . . . the ten attendants and flower girls in frocks of red and pink net ruffled with white tulle and the ushers in white dinner coats on the other side . . . The attractive blonde bride in her exquisite lace and tulle gown escorted by Major General Thomas E. Rilea in army dress uniform. The auditorium of the church elevated so that everyone could see the ceremony, even to the placing of the rings . . .

The weather man . . . decided to be uncooperative the day of the wedding . . . in fact at 10 a. m. it was pouring . . . so immediately reception plans were changed as had been pre-arranged by General Rilea . . . The reception moved from the garden of the Rilea home at Clackamas to the Portland Armory . . . The receiving line in the General's office . . . The bride's table in the Officers Club . . . A blush pink satin cloth edged with a deep border of pink ruffling . . . a beautiful round five tiered cake with tiny china pillars in between each layer . . . pink elfe roses and pink bouvardia arranged at the base of the cake and at the corners of the cloth . . . At the end of the "drill hall" the punch table . . . a pink cloth and the centerpiece an electric fountain filled with pink elfe roses and baby zinnias . . . At either end two large molded ice punch bowls electrically illuminated . . . one adorned with glazed grapes and greenery and the other with gardenias and pink gladioluses . . . trays of turkey, ham, hors d'oeuvres and individual groom's cakes . . . The Oregon National Guard band playing in the background . . .

Miss Sieber Tells Plans For Rites

Miss Phyllis Sieber, who will be married on September 13 to Richard A. Russell, has announced members of the bridal party. The ceremony will take place at the First Presbyterian Church at 7 o'clock with a reception following in the church parlors.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Sieber and her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Russell. The Rev. B. J. Holland will officiate at the nuptials. Mrs. Fred Hines of Portland will be the soloist and Mrs. Ralph Dobbs the organist. Lighting the tapers will be Mrs. Charles Richard Rogers and her twin sister, Miss Della Willis.

Miss Jean Sieber will be her sister's honor maid and bridesmaids will be Mrs. Paul Callison and Mrs. Keith Harrison of Portland. The flower girl will be Roberta Lucille Van Orsdel.

William . Chemienti of Portland will serve as best man for Mr. Russell and the ushers include Paul Callison and Keith Harrison of Portland, and Stephen Russell, brother of the groom-to-be.

To Honor Bride-Elect
Miss Sieber will be feted at a pre-nuptial party Wednesday night when Mrs. Charles Richard Rogers and Miss Della Willis entertain at the Sieber home on Ladd Avenue.

Twenty-five guests have been bidden to the china, silver, linen and crystal shower for the bride-elect. A late supper will be served after an informal evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sieber will entertain at a 6:30 o'clock buffet supper party preceding the wedding rehearsal on September 12 at their home in honor of their daughter and her fiancé and members of the bridal party.
