Nixon to Talk In Salem, GOP Meeting Told

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of Cali-fornia, Republican vice presidential nominee, will speak at the State Capitol here Saturday, Sept. 20, it was reported at a Republican meeting in Salem Monday

Winton Hunt, Woodburn, chairman of the Marion County Repub-Ican Central Committee, said Nixon is slated to arrive in Salem via train shortly after noon on the 20th. Plans are being made to transport the young aspirant through downtown streets in an

Nixon is then scheduled to talk from the Capitol setps at about 2 m.m. If it rains he will speak inside the building.

Hunt made this announcement at the close of a day-long "political school" for county GOP precinct committee personnel. Approximately 250 committee workers, mostly women, attend the sessions to receive instructions on committee work from local and

"The main tasks of precinct workers are to get people to regis-ter, distribute party literature and get out the vote," Mrs. C. A. Mockmore of Corvallis told the GOP leaders speaking during the day and night meeting included Jesse Gard and Mrs. Roy T. Marshall Cornett, Klamath Falls; Robert Elliott, Medford and Mrs. James Mott, George Jones, local Young Republican president, and George Haley, Oregon Republican Club secretary, all of Salem.

The meetings and school were ponsored by the Salem unit of the Oregon Federation of Repub-Mican Women and Marion County Central Committee.

Women Name Mansfield in Rape Charges

School Start Adds to Farm Labor Shortage

The opening of many Willam-ette Valley schools Monday intensified the existing shortage of farm harvest workers but Salem area farm labor experts were not sure how much.

"Rains Monday halted nearly all farm labors in this area," said Harold O. Roessler, manager of the Salem office of the State Employment Service. "We don't know how much the labor supply ha been decreased until better wea ther brings out the workers again.
