

Coal Walkout Menace Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis won sweeping concessions from northern soft coal operators Saturday in a new contract which staves off a strike due Monday.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, was expected to insist on — and probably get — the same terms from the rest of the industry.

His agreement with the northern operators calls for a boost of $1.90 in daily pay and a 10 cent a ton increase in the royalty mine owners pay into the miners welfare fund.

Present pay is $16.35 a day and the current royalty is 30 cents a ton.

The wage increase and other contract terms will be effective Oct. 1 and run until Oct. 1, 1953.

Lewis told reporters he had sent out telegrams ordering northern mine workers to remain at their jobs Monday. About 170,000 of them had been scheduled to walk out then.

Lewis called the agreement "a triumph for collective bargaining in the mining industry."

The pact was announced jointly by Lewis and Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Producers' Association. They said in a statement:

"We are gratified to be able to inform the American people they will have an uninterrupted supply of bituminous coal this fall and winter."

There was no lessening, either, in fire danger throughout the state. Most Western Oregon forests remained closed to logging and Saturday's record temperatures forced the closing of the rest of Southern Washington forests.

Brisk northeast winds fanned a number of brush fires in the Portland area. One, which covered 60 acres, burned a garage, damaged a home and threatened a school before being brought under control.

No brush fires or forest fires were reported in the Salem area.

Home again, on schedule, thanks to the transcontinental railroads. And into a cauldron of heat. For that matter the whole country has been experiencing weather unseasonably hot and dry.

First I want to express my personal appreciation for the messages which came to me on my return, offering congratulations for my appointment as alternate delegate to the U. S. delegation to the Seventh General Assembly of United Nations. The invitation came from Secretary Acheson just as I was leaving for the East, and was announced in my absence.

I realize my great deficiency for service in this capacity but felt I could represent the general public and particularly the Pacific Northwest which has supported very loyally the cause of United Nations. Believing firmly as I do that we must find a solution for our international disputes through the means of negotiations and diplomacy rather than by military might and that the United Nations offers one opportunity for hammering out agreements, I certainly will do my best to help our delegation make a definite contribution to the cause of world peace.

It may be of interest to know what the duties of an Alternate are. While in New York I called at the offices of the United States mission to UN. They are located at 2 Park Ave. I met Ambassador Warren Austin, the U. S. representative, and his deputy Edward Gross and others of the staff. They gave me a brief orientation.

The delegation, principals and alternates, and state department experts meet daily at 9 to go over the day's agenda. They leave in time to get to the sessions of the General Assembly.

Continued on Editorial Page 4)

Two escapees killed in battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of three long-sought federal prison escapees were killed and another captured early Sunday in a blazing gun battle in which two detectives were shot, police reported.

The three convicts who escaped from the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary Sept. 10 — and were linked to a Bronx bank robbery last Tuesday — were cornered by detectives in an upper westside Manhattan rooming house.

'Indian' Girl's Father Denies Barmaid Tale

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — With an Indian sign of greeting — an upraised arm — a girl who had claimed to be right off an Iriquois reservation greeted her parents Saturday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis won sweeping concessions from northern soft coal operators Saturday in a new contract which staves off a strike due Monday.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, was expected to insist on — and probably get — the same terms from the rest of the industry.

His agreement with the northern operators calls for a boost of $1.90 in daily pay and a 10 cent a ton increase in the royalty mine owners pay into the miners welfare fund.

Present pay is $16.35 a day and the current royalty is 30 cents a ton.

The wage increase and other contract terms will be effective Oct. 1 and run until Oct. 1, 1953.

Lewis told reporters he had sent out telegrams ordering northern mine workers to remain at their jobs Monday. About 170,000 of them had been scheduled to walk out then.

Lewis called the agreement "a triumph for collective bargaining in the mining industry."

The pact was announced jointly by Lewis and Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Producers' Association. They said in a statement:

"We are gratified to be able to inform the American people they will have an uninterrupted supply of bituminous coal this fall and winter."

There was no lessening, either, in fire danger throughout the state. Most Western Oregon forests remained closed to logging and Saturday's record temperatures forced the closing of the rest of Southern Washington forests.

Brisk northeast winds fanned a number of brush fires in the Portland area. One, which covered 60 acres, burned a garage, damaged a home and threatened a school before being brought under control.

No brush fires or forest fires were reported in the Salem area.

Home again, on schedule, thanks to the transcontinental railroads. And into a cauldron of heat. For that matter the whole country has been experiencing weather unseasonably hot and dry.

First I want to express my personal appreciation for the messages which came to me on my return, offering congratulations for my appointment as alternate delegate to the U. S. delegation to the Seventh General Assembly of United Nations. The invitation came from Secretary Acheson just as I was leaving for the East, and was announced in my absence.

I realize my great deficiency for service in this capacity but felt I could represent the general public and particularly the Pacific Northwest which has supported very loyally the cause of United Nations. Believing firmly as I do that we must find a solution for our international disputes through the means of negotiations and diplomacy rather than by military might and that the United Nations offers one opportunity for hammering out agreements, I certainly will do my best to help our delegation make a definite contribution to the cause of world peace.

It may be of interest to know what the duties of an Alternate are. While in New York I called at the offices of the United States mission to UN. They are located at 2 Park Ave. I met Ambassador Warren Austin, the U. S. representative, and his deputy Edward Gross and others of the staff. They gave me a brief orientation.

The delegation, principals and alternates, and state department experts meet daily at 9 to go over the day's agenda. They leave in time to get to the sessions of the General Assembly.

Continued on Editorial Page 4)

British Firm Plans to Export Valets to U.S.

LONDON (AP) — You can import a guaranteed bona fide English "gentlemen's gentlemen" — complete with accent — at bargain rates starting next week.

A new employment outfit in London says it'll export one just like in the movies with a certified "background of faithful service" for $30 fee.

The new man will agree to labor faithfully, respectfully and with diligence for a minimum of $100 a month plus board and lodgings.

The agency also offers a fine top-grade line of housemaids, lesser butlers and assorted minor minions at the same rates. If they are female, a British government law says you'll have to offer a character reference to confirm the moral nature of the employment.

The Oregon Statesman

FOUNDED 1851

102nd YEAR 2 SECTIONS—32 PAGES The Oregon Statesman, Salem, Oregon, Sunday, September 21, 1952 10 PAGES No. 179

Nixon Blasts Critics in Visit to Valley

Football Scores

UCLA	13
Oregon	6
Ore. State	14
Utah	7
Washington	39
Idaho	14
Calif.	34
COP	13
Stanford	28
Santa Clara	13
Kansas	13
Texas Christian	0

Additional scores on sports page.

'Near-Perfect' Video Arrives in Salem Area

The new era of television opened permanently Saturday with near-perfect reception in Salem of the initial program from station KPTV in Portland, Oregon's first TV station.

Alliance May Challenge Title Of Truck Bill

PORTLAND—Legal action may be taken by leaders of the Oregon Good Roads Alliance to challenge the ballot title on the so-called "Truckers Amendment" to the Oregon constitution and the Attorney General, George Neuner's ruling on the "Price Tag" procedure for the Voters' Pamphlet.

Two Escapees Killed in Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of three long-sought federal prison escapees were killed and another captured early Sunday in a blazing gun battle in which two detectives were shot, police reported.

'Indian' Girl's Father Denies Barmaid Tale

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — With an Indian sign of greeting — an upraised arm — a girl who had claimed to be right off an Iriquois reservation greeted her parents Saturday.

British Firm Plans to Export Valets to U.S.

LONDON (AP) — You can import a guaranteed bona fide English "gentlemen's gentlemen" — complete with accent — at bargain rates starting next week.

Keizer Postoffice Branch Authorized

New location of a branch postoffice for the Keizer area is at Libby's Dry Goods Store, 478 N. River Rd., Salem Postmaster Albert Gragg announced Saturday.

Play Safe; Know Rules

Editor's note: If anyone has any specific question about traffic problems, write it concisely to Safety Editor, care of The Oregon Statesman, 1000 Commercial St., Salem, Oregon. The State Traffic Safety Division, (by whom this series was prepared), either in The Statesman or by personal letter.

Shower of Bugs Falls in Georgia

MOULTREE, Ga. (AP) — Down-town shoppers were forced to run for shelter Saturday when a shower of bugs fell from the sky.

Scotts Mills Soldier Wounded in Korea

Pvt. Patrick H. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Jackson of Scotts Mills, was reported Friday by the Department of Defense as wounded while in action in Korea.

St. Paul High School Awarded Woodburn Fair Parade Prize

WOODBURN — St. Paul Union High School won the major prize in the North Marion County Fair's annual parade Saturday as comic strips came to life on Woodburn streets.

Baseball

Pacific Coast League
At Portland 10, San Francisco 4
At Seattle 4, Hollywood 2
At Los Angeles 5, San Diego 1
At Oakland 6, Sacramento 5

List of 76 Donors Revealed

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The names of 76 contributors to Senator Richard Nixon's controversial expense fund were made public Saturday, along with an itemization of how the $18,235 was spent.

Dana C. Smith, Pasadena attorney and tax expert who handled the money, said he made the announcement on orders from the Republican vice-presidential candidate, now on a whistle-stop campaign trip on the Pacific Coast.

The list includes the names of Herbert Hoover Jr., son of the former Republican president; Earl B. Gilmore, multi-millionaire Los Angeles oil man; John J. Garland, San Marino real estate man and U.S. Olympic Games official; and Charles S. Howard Jr., son of the late auto magnate and horse racing figure.

The other names read almost like a Blue Book of metropolitan Los Angeles business, professional and social leaders — prominent manufacturers, lawyers and oil men — but includes only a few who have been active in politics.

Foremost among the latter is Bernard C. Brennan, Glendale lawyer and Southern California GOP chief. Smith himself headed Nixon's campaign, when he defeated ex-Actress Helen Gahagan Douglas two years ago.

Existence of the fund, disclosed Thursday, has caused a political furor over the nation, and has led to Democratic demands that Nixon resign as his party's vice-presidential candidate. Nixon himself has called the attacks a smear because of his campaigns against crooks and Communists.

A reporter asked Smith specifically whether any of the money was used to fight Communism. The attorney, who signed all the checks for withdrawals from the fund, said he could recall one item of $190 for photostating certain documents.

After Election
All of the money went for expenses incurred between Nixon's election as a U.S. senator in 1950 and his nomination as vice president in July, Smith said.

His itemization listed $18,166.82 in expenditures. There is a bank balance of $68.13 he added, with $2.25 in "unaudited difference."

Here, he said, is what some of the contributions went for: Stationery, printing, mimeographing and supplies, $6,166.00.

Travel and hotel expenses for Nixon and his aides, $3,430.78.

Radio and TV expenses, $2,017.79.

Smith said the money covered "supplementary expenses" by the senator since his election two years ago.

Largest individual contributor was Keith Spalding, a retired Pasadena business man, listed at $1,900 in two $500 contributions.

Hoover, a Pasadena engineer, is down for $500 in two contributions of $250 each; Garland for $200, Gilmore $250, Howard $100, Brennan $250 and Smith $300.

J. B. Van Nuys, of the pioneer family which developed much of Southern California, gave $600, as did W. D. Coberly, Los Angeles cotton and oil magnate.

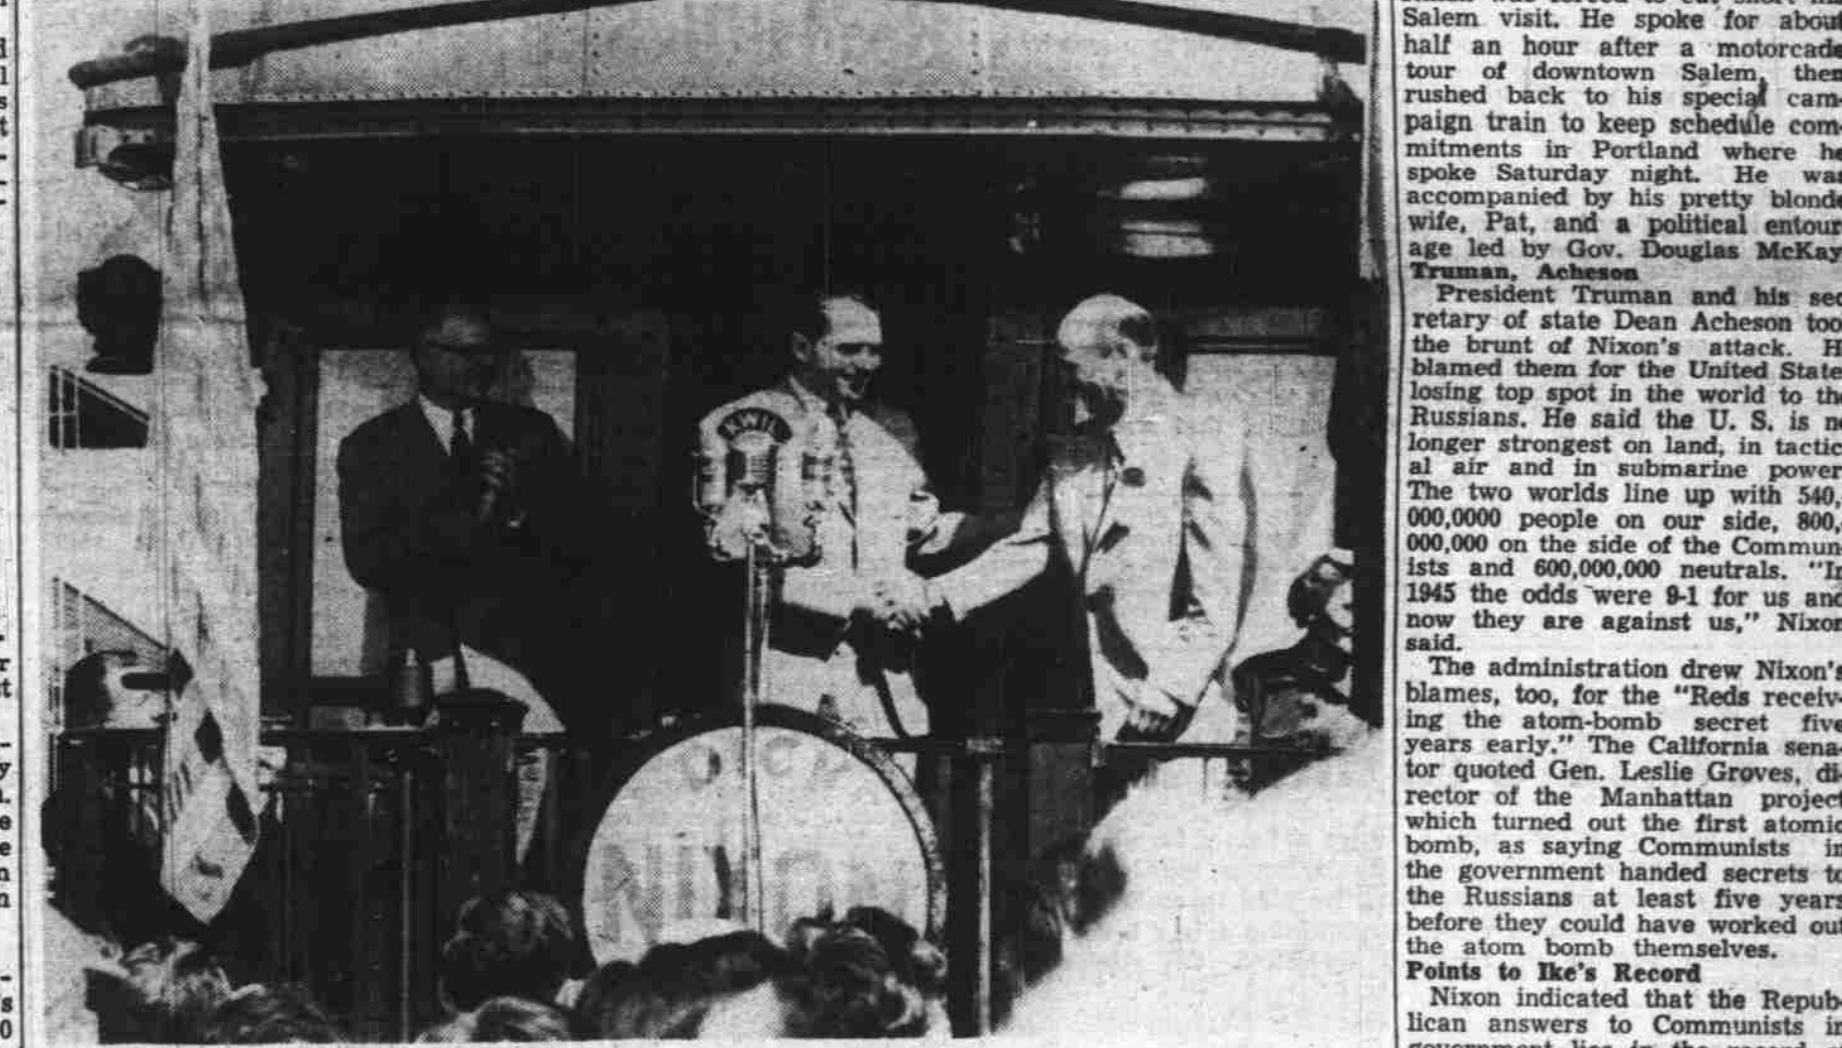

TRUMAN TO VISIT DAM
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman will give the signal at Hungry Horse Dam in Montana on Oct. 1 which will start hydroelectric power flowing from the $109,230,000 reclamation structure, Secretary of the Interior Chapman announced Saturday.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
At New York 2, Philadelphia 0
At Cleveland 11, Detroit 3
At Washington 6, Boston 6
At St. Louis 4, Chicago 6-4

NATIONAL LEAGUE
At Boston 6, Brooklyn 1 (10 inn.)
At Philadelphia 5, New York 2
At Chicago 4, St. Louis 1
Only games scheduled.

Nixons Get Smiling Welcome in Salem, Albany

Smiling campaigners Sen. and Mrs. Richard Nixon (top photo) are greeted by Winton Hunt of Salem (left) on the steps of the Oregon State Capitol before the vice presidential candidate's speech before a sympathetic crowd of 1,000 persons Saturday.

Smiling campaigners Sen. and Mrs. Richard Nixon (top photo) are greeted by Winton Hunt of Salem (left) on the steps of the Oregon State Capitol before the vice presidential candidate's speech before a sympathetic crowd of 1,000 persons Saturday. Hunt, Marion County Republican Central Committee chairman, was in charge of ceremonies preceding the speech. In background is Dr. Paul Poling, Presbyterian minister, who gave the invocation. In lower photo, Nixon (center) shakes hands with State Sen. Warren Gill of Linn County just before his Albany platform speech. At left is Congressman Harris Ellsworth of Roseburg, representative from Oregon's first congressional district which includes Linn County. (Statesman Photos). (Pictures also on page 12).

Persistence Keeps Landing Man in Prison

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sidney M. Ziebert is a persistent cuss. Ziebert went to prison for short terms for mail theft in Dallas in 1915, 1928, 1930, 1932 and 1934.

In 1937 they threw the book at him—17 years and 7 days—for the same offense.

Paroled 11 years later, he was caught at it again at Denver and sent back to serve the rest of his time.

Last Sunday, postal inspector George Gray investigated a post office burglary.

"Sidney's been here," he told his division chief.

A check with Leavenworth showed Ziebert had been paroled again on July 6.

Officers picked him up Thursday night. He was trying to open a mail box.

THE WEATHER

	Max.	Min.	Precip.
Salem	86	52	.00
Portland	86	54	.00
San Francisco	70	43	.00
Chicago	64	45	.00
New York	76	65	.00

Willamette River — 3.3 feet.

FORECAST (from U. S. Weather Bureau, McNary Field, Salem): Fair today and tonight. High today near 85, low tonight near 50. Salem temperature at 12:31 a.m. today was 50.

SALEM PRECIPITATION

Since Start of Weather Year	Sept. 1	This Year	Last Year	Normal
	20	34		51

WOODBURN — St. Paul Union High School won the major prize in the North Marion County Fair's annual parade Saturday as comic strips came to life on Woodburn streets.

With the funnies for a theme, youngsters came dressed like every comic character from Snuffy Smith to Minnie Mouse. In winning the parade trophy for the second straight year, St. Paul students portrayed a boxing match between Joe Palooka and Humphrey Pennyworth.

Thousands lined downtown streets to watch the parade. Edward C. Conson, Woodburn publisher, said it was probably the biggest one ever held at Woodburn.

Major prize winners in the float division were the Butteville Fire Insurance Co., Woodburn Merchants Association and Terminal

Ice and Cold Storage Co. The fair ended Saturday night with a free show at Settlemier Park at which attendance was estimated at 6,000.

Joyce Mount, Keizer girl who won numerous prizes in cooking and needlework Thursday, came back Saturday to win the junior swine showmanship championship, one of the major awards at the junior livestock show.

Art Beesley, Silverton, won in senior swine showmanship. Kenneth Kloppe, Woodburn, and Stewart Eye, Silverton, won senior and junior honors respectively, in dairy showmanship.

Merl McLaren, Aurora, won the beef showmanship contest; while sheep showmanship winners were Robert Banning, Brooks, in the senior division and Jerry Stafek, Salem, junior division.

Additional Results on Page 3)

Says Gift Used for Expenses

By THOMAS G. WRIGHT Jr. Staff Writer, The Statesman

Sen. Richard Nixon, badgered by a $18,000 "expense account," lashed back at his critics Saturday in a sweltering day of campaigning through the Willamette Valley.

The young Republican vice-presidential candidate repeatedly denied any wrongdoing concerning the fund in whistle-stop speeches at Roseburg, Eugene and Albany and at Salem where he spoke from the steps of the Capitol building. Nixon, active in campaigns against Communism, blamed his red-hunting efforts for what he called an attempt to smear him.

Over 1,000 persons waited an extra 45 minutes under a hot autumn sun to hear Gen. Eisenhower's running mate promise a cleanup of corruption in Washington, a new Achesonless foreign policy and a prosperity based on peace and not war economy.

A sympathetic crowd greeted with a chorus of "noes" Sen. Nixon's questions: Are You Satisfied with the present administration? Are you satisfied with the way your tax dollars are being spent? They applauded when Nixon said "Then vote for Gen. Eisenhower."

Hurried by a tightened schedule due to delays earlier in the day, Nixon was forced to cut short his Salem visit. He spoke for about half an hour after a motorcade tour of downtown Salem, then rushed back to his special campaign train to keep schedule commitments in Portland where he spoke Saturday night. He was accompanied by his pretty blonde wife, Pat, and a political entourage led by Gov. Douglas McKay.

Truman, Acheson

President Truman and his secretary of state Dean Acheson took the brunt of Nixon's attack. He blamed them for the United States losing top spot in the world to the Russians. He said the U. S. is no longer strongest on land, in tactical air and in submarine power.

The two world's line up with 540,000,000 people on our side, 800,000,000 on the side of the Communists and 600,000,000 neutrals. "In 1945 the odds were 9-1 for us and now they are against us," Nixon said.

The administration drew Nixon's blame, too, for the "Reds" receiving the atom bomb "secret" five years early. "The California senator quoted Gen. Leslie Groves, director of the Manhattan project which turned out the first atomic bomb, as saying Communists in the government handed secrets to the Russians at least five years before they could have worked out the atom bomb themselves.

Points to Ike's Record

Nixon indicated that the Republican answers to Communists in government lies in the record of Gen. Eisenhower. "There was not one instance of espionage in the Eisenhower command during or after World War II," Nixon said.

Turning the charges concerning the $18,000 expense account contributed by California supporters, Nixon stated "I have had made public the whole thing so all the American people could see. If my opponents think the charges will keep me from continuing my campaign against them, they have another think coming."

Nixon defended the expense account as a saving for the taxpayers. He said he did not feel that the taxpayers should be charged with his political expenses. "I didn't get one red cent of it," the senator asserted.

Proud of Pat

Nixon introduced his wife, with "I'm mighty proud of Pat Nixon." He said she has never been on the government payroll like the wife of Sen. Sparkman of Alabama, Democrat vice presidential candidate and "she never will be in the future."

"The biggest lie of the campaign," Nixon asserted, is that Ike is going to take away property." Instead, he indicated, the Republicans will work for a prosperity built on peace rather than property built on war.

Nixon spoke at Salem after an introduction by Gov. McKay. McKay was introduced by incumbent Ben Walker Norblad of the 1st Congressional district, after an invocation by Dr. Paul Poling, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Salem, and a pledge of allegiance to the flag led by Col. Leonard Hicks, Marine veteran of both World War II and the Korean conflict.

Winton Hunt, chairman of the Marion County Republican central committee, acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced leading city, county and state Republican dignitaries, many of whom joined Nixon on his train tour through the valley. Mrs. B. W. Stacey, county Republican vice chairman, presented Mrs. Nixon with a bouquet as she stepped from the train at the Salem station. (Stories on pages 2, 4, 16.)