

SPORTSLIGHTNER

by Al Lightner

Salem Senator stockholders have their work cut out for them come Tuesday, October 21, for no less than three new men must be voted to the board of directors. The death of Don Young took from the board its leader, and both Bob Elstrom and Russ Bonesteel, who have served for two years, are insistent upon stepping down. It will be up to the stockholders to select three capable replacements.

The popular Bruce Williams is practically a unanimous choice as one, and likely will wind up as president of the board. But it isn't a matter of appointment. At least 51 per cent of the voting stock must be represented at the October 21 meeting, which is to be held at the Labor Temple, or there can be no legal movements made. Thus if a stockholder cannot attend the important session, he should by all means see to it that his proxy is there so that his particular share or shares can be voted. Current Secretary Bonesteel mailed out proxy cards to all stockholders recently. They should be used if personal attendance at the meeting is impossible. A vote for every one of the 2,000 shares of stock in the corporation should be made by all means.

There have been a number of prominent names mentioned as possibilities for service on the board. Both Ben Pade and Tom Holman, who have served with Young, Elstrom and Bonesteel in the past two seasons, will gladly continue as directors if so voted. Williams, Fred Paulus, Harry Levy, Cliff Taylor, Bob Ashby, George Paulus and Errol Kay, among others, have been mentioned more than once as potential.

Whoever the five will eventually be will depend entirely upon the October 21 voting by those who we trust will use much thought and a caution before coming to their conclusions.

Owen Up to His Old Tricks: Da Preem Coming

Never one to deny his Salem audiences the very best in the wrestling game, Maestro Elton Owen now comes up with Primo Carnera as a Tuesday night attraction at the Armory. And rather than just show off the six-foot, eight-inch and 285-pound giant who carries his tooties in size 18 shoes, Owen has put him in one of the always-riparious battle royals where the guy will have to do considerably more than merely move his mountainous torso around the premises.

To the younger folk the name Primo Carnera perhaps means nothing more than that belonging to a gent who is now one of wrestling's supermost attractions. But to those who have kept up with the history of world's heavyweight boxing champions of years gone by, the name Carnera is well known.

Called "The Ambling Alp" at the time, for obvious reasons, the fisty Gargantua was brought out of Italy to take his shot at boxing's top perch. His rise and fall was as spectacular as it was brief.

On June 29, 1932, Carnera knocked out Jack Sharkey in six rounds to become the heavyweight champion. He defended his title twice, beating Pauline Uzcundin in 15-rounder at Miami, Fla. and Tommy Loughran over the same distance at Miami, Fla. Then in 1934, on June 14, came the end of El Primo as he was knocked out in 11 rounds by Max Baer. But the real finish was provided a year later, on June 25, 1935, when Carnera was flattened in six rounds by the then rapidly ascending Joe Louis.

They Left Him Beat, Broke and at the Bottom

The loss to Louis started Carnera into obscurity. He had been accused of being a big, dumb dodo, and didn't have sense enough to come in out of the rain. When it developed that some of his handlers, among others, had fleeced him of every cent he had earned in the ring, leaving him flat broke, his critics had even more ammunition.

But with the end of the war Carnera was again providing sports page stories—not as a boxer on the comeback trail, but as a wrestler. He had become a circus strong man and wrestler when he was switched into fistiana's blood stream in the beginning, and so it was easy to return to the mat game. His size, name and reputation, plus the fact that he's become one of the wrestling greats and has learned to avoid the pitfalls that cost him his fistie fortune, have done the rest. He's now again a headliner. This time in the mat game almost 20 years after the flurry he created as a boxer.

Bears Lick Game Ducks After Closely Contested First Half

Cal finished the following kickoff. At this point Hal Dunham was sent in for Shaw for the first time during the game, and when the pass-eling sophomore trotted to the bench he was given a tremendous ovation.

Dunham tried a fourth down pass that was intercepted in the Cal end zone, and that was to be all for the Webfoots. They never threatened again.

Their lineup manned by second and third stringers throughout the final period, the Bears went 80 yards in 17 plays for their fifth touchdown, Halfback Paul Larson scoring from six yards out on another of the smooth California T-formation plays. Moments later Quarterback Ray Willsey tossed a long pass to Halfback Bob Brooks for the Bears, and when Brooks was finished with his ensuing gallop he had the final TD of the game with only 50 seconds left to play. The pass and run went for 58 yards against the now badly tired Webfoots.

But the Webfoots were held for downs on the Cal 29, and six plays later the Bears went into the lead. They were 36 yards away from the UO goal line when Halfback Bill Powell, only one of many swiftness in the Golden Bear backfield department, rammed over his left tackle on a handoff from Mals, cut wide to his left, evaded Oregon defender Merritt Barber and scored unopposed. Keough made it 14-7.

Cal's smashing ground game amassed 452 yards during the fray, and lost 78. The Bears also gained 121 yards passing to wind up with a net total of 495 yards for the afternoon. Oregon gained 244 yards via passing and 30 on attempts to cross the stout Cal forwards on the ground.

The undefeated Bears lived up to their press notices after first half activities were over. But it's a 100-1 shot that Coach Pappy will see flying footballs in his sleep the next few nights, all thrown by a green-shirted kid sporting a big No. 14 on his chest and back. Shaw gave the Bears fits all afternoon. But that's all the Oregonians had, other than their great defensive first half.

Hole Closes on WU Speedster in Loop Opener With Coyotes

There was little yardage gained on this play as Chuck Lewis, fleet Williamette Bearcat halfback (1) tried to cut through the line in the first quarter of Saturday night's Northwest Conference opener with College of Idaho at McCulloch Stadium. Ready to nail the Bearcat back is Guard Jerry Hook and rushing up in background is Idaho End Jack Kennevick (27). At far right is Williamette Fullback Tex Kirkendall and No. 17 is Bearcat Center Ken Cooper. In far background is Coyote Tackle Don Ted (36). The Coyotes talked in the last 28 seconds to take Rich Ogden's Williamettes 7-6.

Crucial Frays In Pro League

In their first meeting this season Philadelphia won 21 to 25, in a thrilling packed game that was not decided until the closing minutes of the game. In its second game of the season the Steelers came within a point of tying Cleveland, the Conference champions.

The Chicago Bears, with one win and one defeat and in a triple tie for second place with Detroit and Green Bay, will entertain Dallas in the first game of a new series. The Texans, despite early season reverses by two of the strongest teams in the league, New York and San Francisco, have great possibilities.

Green Bay's surprising Packers, who last week won from Washington, will meet the Los Angeles Rams, anxious to rebound after two reverses, in the Milwaukee County Stadium. The defending World Champions lost their first two starts to Cleveland and Detroit, while the Packers lost their initial start to the Bears.

The series record follows: Washington won nine, lost three, tied none; Chicago Bears vs. Dallas, six of series; Los Angeles won nine, lost three, tied none; Cleveland won three, lost two, tied none; Philadelphia won 21, lost 13, tied one; San Francisco won four, lost one, tied none.

Wisconsin's Bowl Hopes Jolted Ohio State's Surprise Victory Alters Picture

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State's once-beaten Bucks hit the heights of gridiron greatness Saturday as they defeated top-ranked Wisconsin, 23-14, and trampled the Badgers' Rose Bowl hopes deep in the clear-torn sod of Ohio Stadium.

A stunned crowd of 80,345 watched the underdog Buckeyes outplay the Badgers in practically all departments, halting five Wisconsin drives inside the 20-yard line.

The Badgers entered the contest heavy favorites, bearing the banner of the nation's No. 1 team, but the unimpressed Ohioans took charge in the opening minutes. The Buckeyes left little doubt of their superiority. They marched 88 yards in 12 plays for a touchdown in the first period, 64 yards in six plays for a third-period touchdown, and 53 yards in 11 plays for a fourth-period score.

Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy was the big offensive star for the winners. He gained 113 yards rushing and grabbed a pair of passes, one for a touchdown. In the final analysis, though, it was State's rock-ribbed defensive platoon that put the crusher on the Badgers by stopping drive after drive when they were just gaining momentum.

Wisconsin also went long distances for its scores, moving 39 yards in seven plays in the second period and 70 yards in nine plays in the final quarter for touchdowns.

Feller-Follower Meets His Idol the Hard Way

CLEVELAND (AP)—Plumber George Reesler of Orrville, O., always wanted to meet Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians pitching veteran.

Saturday he did. His car and Feller's station wagon collided. Neither was hurt.

"I always wanted to meet you," Reesler told Feller. "But not this way."

No strongly radioactive matter has been found in meteorites.

Ski Groups' Finances Improve

SPOKANE (AP)—Voluntary nickel contributions by skiers using the Northwest's ski facilities have brightened the financial picture of ski-governing organizations, the Pacific Northwest Ski Association was told Saturday.

Robert E. Draper of Everett, the group's treasurer, said such collections last year totaled $12,542.12, or $2,000 more than during the previous season.

He explained that many skiers contributed an extra nickel for each day's skiing and each night's lodging. One third goes for the ski patrol, another third for financing the National Ski Association and the rest for the Northwest group. Draper added a recommendation will be made to the PNSA Sunday that the Ski Patrol's share be increased, possibly to 50 per cent. Delegates from 25 Washington,

Pros Trailing In Hudson Go

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP)—Pacific Northwest amateur golfers ended the first day of the Hudson Cup matches here Saturday with a 3-2 lead over the professionals.

The matches were two-ball foursomes. Amateur triumphs were scored by: Bruce Cudd and Dick Yost, both of Portland, who came from behind to defeat Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B. C., and Larry Lamberger of Portland, 1 up.

Bill McWhinney and Walter McElroy of Vancouver, B. C., who defeated Frank Newell of Tacoma and Em Zimmerman of Portland, 2 and 1.

Harry Givan and Erv Parent of Seattle, who edged Harold West of Pendleton and Eddie Hogan of Portland, 1 up.

The professional victories were scored by Chuck Congdon of Tacoma and Ray Honsberger of Clarkston, who stopped Al Mengert of Spokane and Eddie Draper of Seattle, 2 and 1, and John Rudy of Tacoma and Dave Killen of Olympia, who stopped Ray Weston of Spokane and George Beecher, Ontario, Ore., 7 and 6.

Carnera to Make Salem Appearance on Tuesday In Armory Mat 'Royal'

Primo Carnera, the six-foot, eight-inch 285-pound "Ambling Alp" of Italy who once held the world heavyweight boxing championship, makes his first Salem appearance Tuesday night as the principal figure in Matchmaker Elton Owen's 7-man wrestling battle royal at the Armory. Da Preem, who was a circus strong man and wrestler before he ever turned to boxing, has for the past dozen years returned to the muscle sport and is setting box office records wherever he appears.

Carnera's local showing won't amount to a breezy win over a single opponent. Not by any means. Owen had no one to throw against the giant singly, and figured it would be a much better treat for the customers if the guy were up against a group of light and junior heavies on an every-man-for-himself basis.

Consequently Carnera will have no easy time of it Tuesday. Owen has signed Tony Ross, Judo Jack Terry (the Hatchet Man), Jack (Tiger) Kiser, Cal Roberts and

Pitt Finally Defeats Irish

Notre Dame Suffers 1st 1952 Loss 22-19

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Pittsburgh's underdog Panthers stunned Notre Dame, a two-touchdown favorite, with a vicious first period clawing and then stayed off the furious Irish, 22-19, in a football thriller Saturday.

It was Pitt's first victory over Notre Dame since 1937 following eight straight Irish wins. Notre Dame was eighth ranked in the Associated Press poll.

Pa Panthers Score Early An Irish home opening crowd of 45,503 saw the Panthers strike for two touchdowns in about five minutes deep in the first quarter and then was on its feet through a second half in which the Irish nearly pulled the game out of the fire.

It was a contest of spectacular plays—a 78-yard touchdown run by Pitt's Billy Reynolds, a 63-yard scoring Panther pass play from Rudy Mattiola to Johnny Jacobs, and a 82-yard touchdown punt return by Notre Dame's Joe Heap.
