Madame Presidents . . . .

When the leaves turn and begin to fall and the mornings are crisp, club women turn their thoughts to activities of the coming year. All clubs in the city, large and small, are holding their first meetings of the season this month. Nearly all are engaged in some community or philanthropic project and the money raised by these groups during the winter is for most worthwhile causes. Several thousand women in Salem are busily engaged in club work and today we have pictured just a few of the leaders of these organizations.
