John Middlemiss Takes Post With Silverton Store

Statesman News Service
SILVERTON—John Middlemiss, who has been with the First Bank of Silverton (Coolidge & Co.) for five years, has resigned to take a position with the Legard & Adams clothing store effective Nov. 1. Middlemiss, a veteran of World War II, has lived here since 1936. He was with the J. C. Penney Co. for four years before going to the bank. Earl J. Adams, sole owner of the store since the death of Otto Legard, expressed pleasure Tuesday at being able to obtain Middlemiss to assist him. The store was started at Silverton before 1920 by the Bishop Clothing Store at Salem with Claude Slade, Walter Bowen, Ellis Cooley and Walter Zozel among the early managers. It has been locally owned for more than a quarter of a century.
