

Bulgarians Open Fire On Yugoslav Outpost

By ALEX SINGLETON

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Belgrade Radio reported these new Bulgarian violations of Yugoslavia's air space Sunday and said Bulgarian ground troops had opened fire across the border on a Yugoslav pillbox.

On the basis of meager reports, the frontier incidents—all of which occurred early Sunday—seemed the most serious of a series which have occurred in recent months along the border dividing Yugoslavia from its Russian-led Cominform neighbor.

As reported by Radio Belgrade, which quoted the foreign office, the first incident occurred at 8 a.m., when a single Bulgarian plane, apparently on an observation mission, flew about nine miles into Yugoslavia near the town of Dimitrovgrad.

Ninety minutes later, the account continued, Bulgarian troops opened fire on a Yugoslav pillbox south of that village, on the Nisava River in Serbia. Simultaneously, a half dozen Bulgarian planes flew into Yugoslavia near the border town of Pirot, 14 miles northwest of Dimitrovgrad.

A little while later a Bulgarian Mig-15 flew about 15 miles into Yugoslavia in the same area.

The broadcast said nothing about whether Yugoslav anti-aircraft batteries took retaliatory action or whether Yugoslav forces in the pillbox returned the ground fire.

The area in which the incidents occurred could be a major invasion route in the event of aggression against Premier Marshal Tito's land from the east.

The incidents occurred just a week in advance of a scheduled meeting of the Communist party congress of Yugoslavia. They may have been intended as part of Soviet psychological warfare against this country, which began in 1948 when the Cominform threw out the Tito government on the ground that it was "independently nationalistic."

Red Forces Shove South In Indochina

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The Vietminh shoved the bulk of their offensive forces further south Sunday toward the Black River in Northwestern Indochina. French union forces prepared to counter any big enemy attempt to cross the river.

Most units involved in the Communist-led Vietminh four-pronged drive southward appeared to be within 15 miles of the river. One thrust was aimed toward the French fortified post of Quinh Nhai 35 miles southeast of the Thai capital, Loi Chau. This position has already thrown back a series of strong enemy assaults.

Two other drives were aimed southwestward toward the Tetzber from the Nghia Lo sector, 100 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Vietminh forces which captured Van Yen on the Black River, 80 miles west of Hanoi, swept across the stream Saturday. Most French union forces withdrawn from the Nghia Lo sector are now concentrated south of the Black River.

French army and civilian planes kept up a steady stream of war equipment supplies for forces digging in south of the Black. Fighter bombers heavily hit enemy columns moving from the Nghia Lo sector toward the river.

Police Prevent Protestant Rites in Italy

ALESSANDRIA, Italy (AP)—Police prevented the American-led Church of Christ from holding services in this North Italian town again Sunday.

Uniformed policemen and plain clothesmen barred entrance to rooms where services were to have been held by Melvin J. Pownall of Coatesville, Pa. Pownall had come here from nearby Milan to conduct the services. Four members of the Milan Church accompanied him.

The police action was the first difficulty encountered by the Italian Church of Christ since Oct. 3, when the Italian government agreed to allow services in the 22 churches of the denomination pending consideration of an application for formal permission to function.

Activities of the church had been banned by the government on grounds it did not have official permission to operate here. A wave of protests in the U. S., especially in Texas and the Southwest, followed the police ban, and the government gave its permission to operate temporarily.
