Designing Woman

Restlessness and boredom come in the wintertime from staying indoors too much and too long. Make plans now to prevent cabin fever, with a special room that brings the brightness and ease of a sunny day outdoors indoors to stay. Try a new wall fashion with brick patterned wallpaper—the single change to the garden wall look transforms the room. Scout around the wallpaper sections and shops and you'll see many designs. Some trace brick pattern lightly in outline, some are heavy papers textured like brick, some are shaded and colored, a few add bright twining blooms to panels that match others which are plain. Use outdoor furniture in the room, or lacking this kind, settle the lightest, simplest furniture in the house within the brick walls. Don't spoil the room by overcrowding it—use little furniture and clear all the floor space you can. Simple fabrics such as denim and sailcloth, bright colored pillows, outdoor accessories, hemp squares and fibre rugs, perhaps a chair to be lazy on, all these and the room is a change of pace from the rest of the house that's vacation refreshing.

Church Women Sponsor World Community Day

"Packets for Peace," which are being prepared this week by church women throughout Salem, will be dedicated to the use of children in European countries at World Community Day services Nov. 7 in Knight Memorial Congregational Church.

This special day, which is observed by church women all over the world, is founded this year on the theme, "building lasting peace." This activity is sponsored in each community by the Council of Church Women.

The Salem group has planned a complete day of activities during which Edwin C. Berry, executive secretary of the Urban League in Portland, will speak. Mr. Berry formerly worked as school consultant, camp director and recreation director in Pittsburgh.

An election of officers at 10 p.m. will be followed by a roundtable discussion led by Mrs. Harold Rosenbraugh. Topic will be the Christian foundations for lasting peace. Following a luncheon at the church, Mr. Berry will speak, the "packets for peace" will be presented for consecration and new officers will be installed.
