

Jeff Ace Makes Sizeable Gain in Playoff Mix

Jeff's Title Hopes Die As Drain Gets 7-6 Win

SPORTSLIGHTNER

Sunday sorties: Phil Sarboe, the exiled Washington State grid coach had himself a sizeable season at Humboldt State this year. He capped the Far West Conference title and among other wins was a 41-7 conquest of Pepperdine of Los Angeles, which is classed as a strong independent outfit. . . . Rather imagine Idaho's Coach Babe Curfman isn't too popular around WSC these days. Although the Cougars handed the Vandals their worst football defeat of the season, 36-6, Curfman failed to name a single Washington State player to his all-opponent team. And since WSC is but seven short miles from the Vandal school, Curfman likely will hear about it often. . . . Latest coaching ranks rumor tells that Portland State is about to elevate Joe Holland to the athletic directorship and fill his current mentoring post with a new man. Which would probably be okeh by the former Willamette Little All-American, for his outfit failed to win a game this season. . . . First returns aren't in, but betcha the No. 1 greeter at Honolulu Airport when the Bearcats landed was Tony Fraiola, another of the former WU Little All-Americans who now lives and coaches in the Islands. Tony has been looking forward to the Willamette visit much the same as you might look for the mailman with that monthly retirement check. . . . Complete change of plans in the Bill Bevens family. Buffalo Bill a month ago clarified that he was through with professional baseball and was hanging 'em up. Now he says he'll gain join the SF Seals next Spring for another season. The whole family may move south come Spring, for Bill has sold his Keizer district home. . . . Also on the baseball side, Shortstop Gene Tansell of the Senators says he definitely is quitting despite the fact that he now works out regularly at Willamette University. It's a 2-1 bet he'll be back in Senatorial livies come April, however. . . .

BILL BEVENS More baseball for him

Words of Praise for Silverton Defense

Fine accolade paid the Silverton Silver Fox footballers by Mt. Angel Coach Gene Barrett the other day as Gene was talking about the playoffs in which his Preps were involved. "We may go on through to the finals, and we may not," opined Barrett. "But I don't think we'll run across any defense that was as tough as that Silverton had this season. Murl Anderson's kids gave us a time of it, and we were lucky to beat them."

Looking back, Mt. Angel made only a little more than 80 yards on the ground against Silverton, and was held to two first downs. Yet the Preps won 12-0. . . .

The three major items we can be looking for action on when the WU Leaguers convene for their meeting at Phoenix, Ariz., early next month are: (1) Is Eugene coming in, or is Tri-City to retain that franchise? (2) Will a new, full-time league president be named, or will Bob Abel be retained for another year on a part-time basis? (3) Will Hugh Luby's schedule, now completed and not at all bad, be adopted by the circuit?

Other items will no doubt be worked over during the forthcoming confab. But those three are by far the most important to folks around here.

Incidentally, the WLL meeting is to open December 3, and Senators Vice President Ben Pade may accompany Luby to it. Also, Luby definitely will make a play for Slugger Dick Greco at Phoenix. One of the first things he'll do is look up the Jacksonville, Fla., representative and ask, "How much?" Jacksonville new owner the big ex-Tacoma wallop who vows he's through playing in the Sally League and wants to move elsewhere. . . .

New Rule Changes Set in Basketball

Won't be long before the basketballers are going at it (Oregon and Oregon State get things started for these parts with their non-counter in Portland December 1), and cage followers will this season see a couple of new and important rule changes.

First, and perhaps most important, is the one which now forbids the waiving of free throws. Players must shoot 'em all now—they can't waive and take 'em out of bounds to retain possession.

Another is the "one-and-one" foul. All one-shot fouls, with a few scant exceptions, are to now be penalized this way: If player misses the first try he gets another. If he makes the first, or second, the ball continues in play.

Also, all fouls in the last three minutes of play are to be two-shoters regardless of nature. Rules-makers wanted to take the cheapness out of fouls and hope that these three changes will amount to the answer. They also feel that late-game stalling will be somewhat minimized, which would be a blessing for the spectators. . . .

Dusette, Mackay Clash For Mat Title Tuesday

After two previous licks at it on a non-title basis, George Dusette finally gets his big chance for Rogers Mackay's Coast Jr. heavy mat title belt at the Armory Tuesday night. The long-awaited brawl will cap Matchmaker Elton Owen's regular program which will get under way at 8:30 p.m.

In the first Dusette-Mackay mix George lost on what everyone figured was a "quick count." In the rematch Dusette won with his powerful full nelson hold, climaxing a rousing battle. Mackay demanded a fat guarantee to put the coveted belt against the veteran Dusette, but Owen figured that regardless of what it cost, the match was deserved by Salem wrestling followers.

While Dusette is a full nelson and headlock specialist, the younger Mackay uses speed, finesse and poise, and is an expert with many holds.

Ross Against Judo Man
Salem's Tony Ross, a real top-notch since his return to local action a few weeks ago, draws a tough assignment in the special event. He's up against Judo Jack Terry, exponent of the Judo chop and other mat nastiness. Terry is oft called "The Hatchet Man." In his last outing against a Judo specialist Ross Clobbered Mr. Sakata here. He intends doing a similar job on Terry.

The opening mix puts Sakata against a newcomer, one Antonio Ballergeon, 190-pound Quebec strong man. Ballergeon is but one of a number of brothers who are noted for their wrestling ability and feats of strength. His biggest brother, a 240-pounder, is second only to the great Heppburn in weight lifting and can press 340 pounds over his head. Sakata himself is a weight lifter of note, having performed on the 1948 United States Olympic Games team.

Linfield Plans Debate on De-Emphasis

McMINNVILLE (AP) - Linfield College students will debate in the coming weeks whether to de-emphasize football.

The student body in a nearly unanimous vote called Dr. Harry Dillin, Linfield president, said it was part of a "quiet revolution" sweeping colleges in this country toward greater de-emphasis of sports.

He added that the students would be furnished with all possible cost figures. The debate decision grew out of an earlier move to have the administration take over part of the athletic costs now borne by the students. Paul Little, student president, said 57 per cent of the student activities fee of $17 a semester went into the athletic fund, most of it for football.

He said two dollars, matched by administration money, goes toward paying the annual athletic deficit, blamed mostly on football. The deficit is estimated at about $2,000.

Wounded Veterans Get Special Bird Hunting

KLAMATH FALLS (AP)—A second day of pheasant and waterfowl hunting is on schedule Sunday for 23 wounded veterans who were brought here by plane from an Oakland, Calif., hospital.

The special hunt, sponsored by the Tullake, Calif., 20-30 Club, starts Saturday on privately owned lands in the Tullake area of Northern California.

The veterans, most of them amputees from the Oak Knoll Hospital, arrived here by plane Friday and were taken by car to the homes of veterans in the Tullake area. The hunt is similar to one sponsored last year by the club.

'Bird Oar Crew Defeats Beavers

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) - University of British Columbia oarsmen Saturday defeated Oregon State by six lengths over the 2,000-meter course to retain the "Little China Egg Cup."

UBC covered the distance in seven minutes, one second. The Egg Cup has been up for competition between senior eights from the two universities for four years. UBC has won every time.

Oregon State's junior crew defeated UBC juniors by a quarter-length over the same distance.

Bearcats Reach Island Capital

Ogdahls Make Ready For Hawaii U Clash

A Willamette University football party of some 40 persons took off from Portland Airport Saturday morning and was scheduled to arrive in Honolulu at 5:30 the same afternoon where headquarters will be set up for the contest next Friday night with University of Hawaii's Rainbows.

The travelling contingent included 27 Bearcat players, coaches Ted Ogdahl and Jerry Frei and approximately a dozen boosters. The Willamette group will quarter at the Hotel Edgewater Beach during their 12-day stay in the Islands.

The trip is the first to Hawaii for a Bearcat aggregation since the ill-fated journey of 1941. On that venture, the Willamettes, then mentored by Spec Keene, bowed to the Rainbows 20-6 on Dec. 6—the day before the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. But one man of the present party was present when that being Ogdahl. Ted in 1941 was a sparkling fullback for the Methodists.

Willamette, riding on a four-game victory skein, will be seeking its first win over a Rainbow grid team. The only other contest between the two schools saw the teams battle to a 21-21 tie at McCulloch Stadium in 1950.

Ogdahl and Frei have almost a week to settle their charges before next Friday eve's clash with Coach Hank Vasconcellos' crew. The Bearcats will have use of Hawaii University facilities for their drills.

The WU party is slated to return to Salem the morning of Dec. 4th.

2 Teams Tie, Big 10 Title

Neither school has gone to Pasadena in the series. Wisconsin has not even won or shared the Big Ten crown in 40 years until now while Purdue has figured in five championships in that span.

The deadlock occurred Saturday when Wisconsin and Minnesota tied 21-21. Purdue defeated Indiana 21-16 in the final minutes of the game, and Ohio State knocked Michigan out of the running, 27-7.

The combination of results left Wisconsin and Purdue each with four victories, one defeat and one tie for a .750 percentage. Ohio State, playing seven instead of six league games, wound up in third place with a 5-2-0 mark for .714.

Athletic directors do not necessarily have to choose between the co-champions. They could take Ohio State which defeated Wisconsin 23-14 but lost to Purdue 21-14 during the season. The Buckeyes' trouncing of Michigan, a team that trimmed Purdue 21-10 but did not play Wisconsin, leaves Ohio State a possibility.

Directors, however, usually lean toward the title-winners and are expected to do so more than ever this time since neither Purdue nor Wisconsin has been to the Rose Bowl while Ohio State went in 1950.

Coburg Retains Six-Man Crown

HOOD RIVER (AP)—Coburg successfully defended its state six-man football title Saturday by defeating Cascade Locks 36-14.

Bob Littlejohn paced the Coburg scoring attack with two touch-downs, one in the second quarter and another in the fourth. His brother, Frank, scored in the third quarter.

'Y' Quint Wins

The Salem YMCA basketball team chalked a 59-55 victory over the Kupp Ford quint of Portland Saturday night on the local floor in the initial 1952-53 hoop action in this area. Bates with 17 points and Boe with 16, paced the winners. The locals were ahead 35-27 at the half.

SOONERS DO IT AGAIN
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) - A mixture of superb passing and running under the generalship of quarterback Eddie Crowder gave Oklahoma a three-touchdown lead in the first quarter and the Sooners rolled on to blast Nebraska, 34-13, Saturday for their fifth straight Big Seven Conference football crown.

RODEO GROUP MEETS
RENO, Nev. (AP) - The International Rodeo Association Saturday wound up its annual two-day convention here with election of new officers. Ray Peterson, Reno, succeeds Harry Wall, Lewiston, Ida., as association president. E. N. Boylen, Pendleton, Ore., was re-elected commissioner-secretary.

Chemawa Cagers Tuning Up

CHEMAWA (Special) - The Chemawa Indian School basketball team, which is to play in the Marion County B League, is getting ready for the season. Coach Ed Bartlett has six lettermen on hand, but hardly any height is listed by the group. "Arrell Gallewean is tallest at an even six feet. Others are 5-11 Wally Yellowhair, 5-11 Jim Coburn, 5-4 Bob Patterson, 5-10 Pat Morin and 5-11 Jim Godows.

Two other top prospects are 5-11 Charles Teiler and 5-10 William Edmo. Reserve strength is lacking also, and Bartlett doesn't look forward to a successful campaign in the victory column.

Chemawa opens play in the league jamboree at Jefferson High December 6. A December 9 league opener is also booked at Jefferson, after which the Oregon School for the Deaf is to be played in Salem December 12. First home game is December 16 with Gervais.

Officials Set Monday Clinic

The Salem Officials Association, High School Activities Association Secretary Oden Hawes and the Willamette Bearcats basketball team will collaborate Monday on an examination, clinic and demonstration at Willamette University. Meeting time at the Willamette Gym will be 7:30 p.m.

Hawes will administer the OHSAA basketball officials' examination and will also show the moving picture which explains the new rules, interpretations, etc. Following the exam and picture the group will join with Coach John Lewis and his Bearcats for a floor clinic and demonstration. The meeting is open to all and is a "must" for officials. Numerous high school coaches and players in the area are expected to attend also.
