Movies were taken Sunday of Gov. Douglas McKay, his family and friends for screening in theaters and via television in connection with his recent appointment as U. S. secretary of the interior.

Cameras were in Salem Sunday to take the movies at several locations.

First pictures were taken in front of the First Presbyterian Church, following the christening of six-month-old Nancy Jane Hadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Hadley, and granddaughter of Gov. and Mrs. McKay. In this picture, leaving the church, were Governor and Mrs. McKay, and Mr. and Mrs. Hadley and their four children, including Allan, Eileen, Bruce and the baby. The father held the child during the christening ceremony with Dr. Paul Newton Polling, church pastor, officiating. No pictures were taken inside the church.

The scene then shifted to the McKay home. In front of the home was taken a group photograph of Gov. and Mrs. McKay, Mrs. Hadley and her children, and Mrs. Lester Green, holding her little son, Danny. Mrs. Green is a daughter of Governor and Mrs. McKay. Mrs. McKay was holding Nancy Jane.

Inside the McKay home a number of "shots" were taken of the Governor and Mrs. McKay. Later Governor McKay posed on the lawn near the east entrance of the Capitol. With the governor was Edwin H. Armstrong of his secretarial staff.

Other photographs, taken at the Salem Saddle Club of which Governor McKay is a member, featured the governor riding his favorite mount and other rural scenes. At the Salem Saddle Club the governor wore an outfit somewhat similar to that in which he appeared at the Pendleton Roundup and in this year's Rose Festival parade.

130 Air Fields In West Europe Aim at Russia

PARIS (AP)—The Atlantic Powers are building up a bulwark of 130 military air fields across Europe—all within striking distance of Russia, it was learned Sunday.

These air fields will be the West's first line of defense in the event of a Soviet attack on Western Europe.

The fields form a huge arc from the top of the European continent to the bottom. Many of them already have been built, an informed source said. The others are nearing completion.

This rampart of air bases starts in Norway and cuts a southward path through Denmark. The line thickens as it passes through Holland, bulges into France, West Germany and Luxembourg, then turns out again as it curves into Italy.

Norway and Denmark are reported to have seven fields apiece built or under construction. The Netherlands 13 and Belgium 14. France is known to have 41, West Germany 35, little Luxembourg 1, and Italy 12.

Demos Claim McCall Shows 'Partisanship'

PORTLAND (AP)—Democrats Sunday accused radio commentator T. Lawson McCall of being "unduly partisan" in behalf of Republicans in his daily news broadcast over KGW.

The executive committee of the state Democratic organization agreed to ask the management of KGW to discuss the matter. A formal complaint to the Federal Communications Commission also was authorized.

McCall, former assistant to Gov. Douglas McKay, said that "The apprehension this group feels, is, I am sure, not shared by most thinking Democrats of the state."

McCall said he believed Howard Morgan, state Democratic chairman, was attempting to "intimidate" him. He said the charge of partisanship was probably made because on a recent program he said Morgan remarks on the appointment of Gov. McKay as secretary of the interior were "stupid and vicious." Morgan was highly critical of the appointment.

McCall also said that Morgan earlier told him he was planning to take steps to have the FCC monitor his broadcast.

In other action Sunday the General Committee:

Voted to ask Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois to address the annual Jackson Jefferson Day dinner here next spring.

Asked the committee's executive board to investigate (1) the State Tax Commission and (2) the sale of merchandise to state institutions.

Voted to ask the Oregon Bar to investigate whether or not attorneys are soliciting business from convicts inside the walls of the state penitentiary.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Strong north winds buffeted the San Francisco Bay area early Sunday, uprooting trees, shattering windows, toppling billboards and power lines and setting fires.

Flames destroyed an East Oakland Hills home and burned over 100 acres. Fourteen San Francisco firemen were treated for minor injuries suffered fighting a stubborn rice hull dump fire.

The Weather Bureau said the winds, which reached gale force of 65 miles an hour in gusts around 5 a. m. at Oakland Airport, had swept down from the Canadian prairies.

They brought a biting chill. Frosty lawns and near-freezing temperatures were expected Monday morning.

Painter Salvador Dali Converts Surrealism to Atom Mysticism

PARIS (AP)—Spanish painter Salvador Dali solemnly announced Sunday, without a quiver of his waxed mustaches, that he has given up the world of surrealism for a new philosophy—nuclear mysticism.

It is, he said, gravely, atomic. And the fountain of his new philosophy, upon which he is to base his future works, is the United States.

Dali sails Tuesday on the SS America for New York after seven months of seclusion in a village on Spain's Costa Brava where he dreamed up the new mysticism.

"I listened to Bach, turned to aceticism, neither smoked nor drank during this period," he explained. A canvas depicting the assumption of the virgin emerged from this interval of contemplation.

Ascension of Mary The painting, which he says is "sensational, because it is the opposite of the atom bomb," represents the corporeal ascension of Mary, a Roman Catholic dogma which Pope Pius XII promulgated some time ago.

"The atom bomb represents the disintegration of matter. My painting represents the integration of the body of the virgin into heaven," he explained in an interview. Blue and gold

The predominant color in the work, which is three yards high and about a half a yard wide, is lapis lazuli blue, with splatterings of gold. The figure of the virgin is tremendously elongated, "much more so than El Greco made his," he said.

The face is recognizable, "but the body is atomic. Madame Dali sat for it," he continued, Angels are represented by atoms and unclear odds and ends.

The painting, which will be exhibited in New York around Christmas time, is in a Le Havre warehouse waiting to be shipped to America.

Dali, sitting in the study of his Paris host, Bolivian millionaire Arturo Lopez, thoughtfully contemplated his revolutionary decision to set aside surrealism for the new creed.

"The young Dali," he said, with a trace of weariness in his voice, "was close to Jerom Bosch (Hieronymus van Aachen). The older Dali is closer to Raphael."

He said he was greatly influenced by Bosch, the 15th Century Dutch painter who peoples his paintings with devils, fantastic animals and strange landscapes.

"Bosch was demonic," Dali said. "My first phase dealt with will. But my new one is more heavenly."

Dali said he has just finished a series of 102 water color illustrations for a monumental edition of Dante's divine comedy being published by the Italian government.

The paintings of the inferno in this book, he said, are surrealistic. The paintings of heaven are in his nuclear mystic style.

On his theories on nuclear mysticism, Dali observed: "A new kind of spirituality is being born in America. The big discovery of modern times is nuclear physics. The modern artist generally does not understand this."

"After the French Revolution, the world turned to material things and gave up faith. This is changed now. Everything is in a state of de-materialization. No one can any longer be certain of anything."

"Even great scientists are turning to metaphysics. Thus, a new mysticism is being born from the age of the atom."

Gen. Clark in Korea to Plan For Ike Visit

SEOUL (AP)—U. N. Commander Gen. Mark Clark arrived from Tokyo Monday and said he would discuss with U. S. Eighth Army commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet plans for President-elect Eisenhower's proposed visit to Korea.

Clark told newsmen he would be in Korea only "a couple of days" and that there was "nothing special" about his trip.

But he said, "naturally, I will discuss arrangements with Gen. Van Fleet for the president-elect's visit. We are looking forward to seeing him."

He told newsmen he had come to Seoul "to see my friend (Van Fleet) and to visit some of the units here."

War-wrecked Seoul blossomed Monday with U. S. and Republic of Korea flags.

Some 200 welcome signs began going up on the front of the shell-scarred capitol, on specially-built arches, on rickety streets and along the city's main thoroughfares.

A sign put up Sunday at the main capitol gate, which read, "Give the Communists hell, Ike," was taken down Monday and replaced by one reading: "Strength on ROK forces." ROK stands for the Republic of Korea.

India Revises Korea Truce Compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—India revised her compromise plan to speed up deadlocked negotiations for a Korean armistice—but failed Sunday night to heal the U. S.-British breach over the plan.

The Indian compromise was rushed into the UN Sunday afternoon in an attempt to close the rift. It got its first going-over in a one hour and 45 minute closed meeting Sunday night.

Top delegates from 21 nations were present at the New York headquarters of the U. S. mission. After it was over, Sir Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to Washington and chairman of the meeting, read a statement which asserted there had been "unanimous agreement on the basic problem"—meaning that all agreed there must be no forcible repatriation of war prisoners to Communist areas.

But his statement made it clear the revised Indian proposals on handling war prisoners in Korea who refused to return to their Communist homeland did not answer all the serious questions raised by the U. S.

Spender said that more "clarifications" of provisions in the Indian proposal were needed and that the group will meet again when more information is available.

American and British spokesmen, who have been engaging in sharp arguments over their respective views for the last 24 hours, refused to add anything to the Spender statement.

The delegates themselves were cordoned off from reporters by a large force of U. S. security agents as they emerged from the green-carpeted conference hall high up in the Park Avenue building that houses the United States delegation.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who had asked urgently for Sunday night's special meeting of the group, flew in from Canada and went into the session shortly after 6:30 p.m. EST to explain that the U. S. demands concrete terms on handling war prisoners.

It was this demand that caused the rift with the British Saturday, a break that was viewed with growing concern in diplomatic quarters here.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden stayed away from the meeting. He was represented by his minister of state, Selwyn Lloyd.

Lloyd left the meeting arm-in-arm with Ernest Gross, U. S. delegate who had taken Acheson's views opposing the Indian plan to Eden and Lloyd Saturday.

Goal of the drive in the three states is one million dollars.

Mercury Drops To 24 Degrees

Salem residents experienced a clear, cold Sunday with a high of 34 degrees reported by weathermen at Meloy Field. Today is scheduled to be nearly in the same with early morning fog.

A low temperature of 24 degrees was stated for today with a rise to a possible 48 degrees.

Fog throughout the Northwest skipped Salem for a time near midnight Sunday and guided at least one airline flight in an unscheduled stop. Officials at McNary tower reported a northbound Western Airlines "Convair," twin-engine passenger plane landed at the Salem field shortly past midnight. The plane was en route to either Portland or Seattle, both of which were fogged in. Salem was scheduled to follow suit with heavy fog starting at about 3 a. m. today.

Norse Festival Plan Discussed

Plans for the 1953 Norseman's Area Festival were talked over Sunday at a meeting of the representative meeting of the Sons of Norway Lodge in the YMCA Sunday afternoon.

The festival, scheduled to be held in Salem, was tentatively set for the first Saturday and Sunday in June, 1953. One of the prime features of the meeting Sunday was discussion of the most appropriate first prize in the Norse essay contest, a climax to the festival.

One possibility was an all-expense-paid two-weeks' trip for the winner to the University of Washington school of language to study Norwegian. No definite decision was made at this meeting.

Bevan Asks U.S. Recognize Red Conquest of China

LONDON (AP)—Aneurin Bevan, leader of the Labor Party's far left wing, declared Sunday the Korean War would end in a matter of weeks if America would "recognize the Chinese revolution as an accomplished fact."

Bevan said there is no use trying to get Red China to agree to a truce "if U.S. money and arms are pouring into Formosa to enable Chiang Kai-Shek to resume civil war."

He urged the nations of Europe to "exert a little more influence than they have in the last few years on the administration of the United States" and asserted:

"General Eisenhower should realize that Britain will not support any solution in Korea which involves an extension of the conflict against the Chinese."
