

Mrs. Zumwalt Wins Top Prize In 'Tag Santa'

Shoppers crowded downtown Salem streets Friday night in the first "Tag Santa" night, and Mrs. G. E. Zumwalt of 2145 Hazel Ave. hit the $100 jackpot.

She tagged Miss Joan Majek, 828 Kingwood Dr., who was the Santa of the evening with the $100 prize, and also with a blanket from one of the department stores.

Winners of $20 were Mrs. Louise Candel, 1765 N. 5th St.; Mrs. Alfred Propp, 410 N. 18th St.; and Carol Bennett, 12, of 1115 N. 13th St.

Other ten dollar prize winners were Mrs. Goldie Gunderson, 4324 Market St.; and Mrs. G. Fred Boyer, 738 S. 19th St.

Several stores sent out Santas of their own, with gift certificates for merchandise. All told some 30 Santas were on the streets.

Santas, besides Miss Majek, included G. Ira Moore, 760 N. Sumner St.; Mrs. Lawrence Simmons, 1812 Cross St.; Gordon Keith, 300 W. Superior St.; Mrs. Bruce Van Wyngarden, 1312 Jefferson St.; Miss Mary White, 1740 Ferry St.; and Emery Feller, 354 N. 23rd St.

Tag night will be again the next two Friday nights and Dec. 22 and 23.

Solons Welcome Ike Statement; Morse Scoffs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican forecasts of attempts to end the Korean war stalemated greeted the announcement Friday that President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower is returning from a dramatic three-day visit to the Korean battle zone.

Members of Congress were generally cordial in their reaction to Eisenhower's statement that without promising any panaceas, "much can be done... much will be done to improve our position" in Korea.

Several Democrats cautioned, however, that the road to peace may provide a long ordeal.

Sen. Morse of Oregon, who booted the Republican Party during the heat of the presidential election campaign, scoffed at Eisenhower's statements on his trip as "just warmed-over political potatoes."

"As a member of the Armed Services Committee," Morse said, "I know that Eisenhower had been thoroughly briefed on the Korean war and knew before he left the United States exactly what the situation was."

"He was simply carrying out a political promise of the campaign. But the final result will be exactly the same as it would have been if he had acted upon his briefing at the Pentagon."

Gath Turkeys Take Prizes

McMINNVILLE (AP)—The Lyons Triple B Turkey Ranch of Portland won the grand championship in the live bird division of the Pacific Coast Turkey Exhibit here Friday.

Gath Brothers of Turner, Ore., won the grand championship in the dressed bird division in Wednesday's judging.

Clifford Wrostad, Molalla, won all the ribbons in the Beltsville White exhibit.

Gath Brothers won four other dressed bird events and all the awards in the Empire White exhibits.

LINDEN HEADS CHAMBER

PORTLAND (AP)—The Portland Chamber of Commerce Friday elected Carvel Linden president to succeed Edgar W. Smith. Linden is vice president of loan administration in the U. S. National Bank.

COON SUCCESSOR DUE

BAKER (AP)—A successor to State Sen. Sam Coon will be named by the Baker County Court Saturday, County Judge Lloyd Rhea said Friday.

TURKEY PRIZES SCOOPED

ROSEBURG (AP)—Turkeys entered by Dave Cooper, Barkdale, took two-thirds of the possible $9 awards, including the grand championship, in the Northwest Turkey Show which ended here Friday.

Nature Needs Time to Renew Trees, Nut Growers Informed

Don't get excited and start cutting your trees after a freeze, just give Mother Nature a chance to work her recovery first, Henry Hartman, head of the horticultural department, Oregon State College, told the Nut Growers Society of Oregon and Washington in Salem, Friday.

The best way to prevent loss from winter injury is in selection of varieties that are resistant to cold, and then give them plenty of plant food and water, he added.

Clifford Skelton of Chilliwack, B.C., was named president, as the two-day meeting closed. Skelton, as vice president, had presided in the place of Fred Schram, Bow, Wash., who was not able to attend.

Other officers named were Phillip Blake, Salem, and John Hillis, of Woodland, Wash., vice presidents; and C. O. Rawlings, Corvallis, secretary-treasurer.

That water may cool the soil sufficiently to discourage hatching of filbert worm eggs, was a thought expressed by Robert Warren of Forest Grove, as he told the group he had no worms in his filbert orchards since he began to irrigate.

Formal discussions on new varieties of walnuts and on growers' experiences with Franquette walnuts on white rootstocks completed the program.

Roseburg Man Found Guilty of Slaying Wife

ROSEBURG (AP)—A Circuit Court jury Friday convicted Thomas S. Bouse, Roseburg, of first degree murder in the bathtub drowning Oct. 13 of his wife, Ethel, 40.

The jury made no recommendation for leniency which means Bouse will be sentenced to death in the state prison gas chamber. Sentence will be pronounced Monday.

Mrs. Truman's Mother Passes

By ROGER D. GREENE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. David Willcock Wallace, mother-in-law of President Truman, died at the White House Friday after an illness of several months. She was 90 years old.

Mrs. Truman was at the bedside when her mother died at 12:35 p. m., EST. An aide said the President got there "just at the end."

The White House said the President and Mrs. Truman will leave here by train at 6:30 p. m. Saturday en route to Independence, Mo., for the funeral.

The funeral is tentatively scheduled for Monday. It will be strictly private. A presidential aide said the Trumans requested that no flowers be sent.

All presidential engagements for the next several days were cancelled.

IOOF to Note Centennial Here Tonight

High officials of the International Order of Odd Fellows will be in Salem tonight for the public program in observance of the Salem lodge's 100th anniversary.

Main speaker will be Sovereign Grand Master P. V. Ibbotson of Ontario, Canada. Others on the program, to start at 8 o'clock at the lodge hall in the IOOF Building, include Oregon Grand Master Lynn Cram of The Dalles; Rebekah Assembly President Olive Ramsey of Hillsboro; and Past Idaho Grand Master George Sweigert.

The Rev. Lloyd Anderson will give the invocation. Salem Mayor Alfred W. Loucks will welcome the guests. Other numbers are to include music by a quartet from Eugene and from the Witsey music house here.

Prior to the public program a dinner, honoring visiting dignitaries, will be held at the Senator Hotel at 6:30 o'clock.

Speaker Flays Activities of Clairvoyants

Ghosts, goblins and spirits were rattled soundly Friday night by Jack Malon, guest speaker of the Salem Knife and Fork Club, who addressed over 300 members and guests at the Marion Hotel dinner meeting.

Malon flouted spiritual readings, mediums, and clairvoyant demonstrations as "complete hypocrisy."

"These people play on the imagination and desires of people to see what they want to see," Malon told his audience. He explained that in his years of studying the subject, he had seen innumerable homes ruined and families disrupted from the devotion and financial aid placed with clairvoyants. "I argue with no one," he said, "I merely review the facts."

At one point in his address, Malon was assisted in his demonstration by Mrs. Arthur Atherton, whom he chose at random from the audience. In the course of his demonstration, with the good-natured assistance of Mrs. Atherton, Malon pointed out several tricks used by mediums whom he had observed.

Shopping Area Adds Lighting By Generator

Over 2,000 lights blossomed out in the Capitol Shopping Center Friday night, lighting up the two-block area for the Christmas season.

According to James Mosolf, Sears-Roebuck manager, a ten-kilowatt generator that operates on gasoline has been rented from a Portland firm for the extra lighting, because of the current shortage in the Northwest power pool.

Several lights in the parking lots that take juice from the power center have been turned out, in the interests of conservation.

Besides the flickering lights which have already been strung across the parking lots, there are six Christmas trees, lashed high on poles which will glow with some 100 lights, each.

The Center had 1000 lights last year and, before the power shortage had purchased almost double the amount for showing this year.

"We were determined to have our lights and conserve on power," says Mosolf, "and that's just what the generator enables us to do."

Valley Farm Men to Meet With Benson

Several Willamette Valley agricultural and business leaders plan to meet today in Portland with Ezra Taft Benson of Utah, newly named secretary of agriculture in President-elect Eisenhower's cabinet.

Planning to attend the conference with Benson are O. E. Snider, general manager of Blue Lake Packers, Inc.; Richard Moeller of Cornelius, president of the Oregon State Farmers Union; Marshall Sweenigen, president of the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation, and E. L. Peterson, Oregon state director of agriculture.

Benson is now on the West Coast meeting with key farm officials. He told Associated Press Friday in San Francisco that he would hold an informal conference in Portland, "to talk things over" with Northwest farm leaders.

CATTLEMAN SELECTED

PRINEVILLE (AP)—V. S. Kirby of Dunsmuir, in Baker County, was awarded a trophy at a banquet here Friday night, honoring him as Oregon's Cattleman of the Year.

Kirby, 46, operates a 1,000-acre ranch with 250 head of beef breeding cows. He has for many years taken an active interest in 4-H club work.

Assessors Hit For Inequities

CORVALLIS (AP)—County tax assessors were criticized Friday by Carl Chambers, chairman of the State Tax Commission, for what he said were inequitable assessments.

Speaking at a tax conference sponsored by Oregon State College, Chambers said that the differing assessments was the "most glaring inequity of the Oregon tax system."
