

Location of McLoughlin, Lee Statues at Capitol Decided

Location for the statues of Dr. John McLoughlin and Jason Lee on the State Capitol grounds was decided by members of the State Capitol planning commission and State Statuary committee at a meeting in the Statehouse Thursday.

The statue of Dr. McLoughlin will be located approximately 45 feet south of the sidewalk extending from the east side of the Capitol building to the Supreme Court structure while the Jason Lee statue will be located about the same distance north of the sidewalk.

Members of the Planning Commission and Statuary Committee agreed the statues should be considerable distance away from the Circuit Rider stationed in the center of the sidewalk east of the Capitol. The Circuit Rider, now facing east, will be turned around.

The statue of Dr. McLoughlin will face north toward Oregon City and Vancouver, Wash., where he had his headquarters as factor for the Hudson Bay Company in the early days.

The Jason Lee statue will face south toward Willamette University which as a pioneer Methodist missionary he helped to found.

The commission voted to recommend to the State Board of Control the employment of Francis Keally, New York architect, to prepare a full-model of the Capitol Mall and also prepare preliminary plans for the new State Supreme Court building to be erected probably within the next few years.

Dedication of the statues probably will not be before next February or March. Contract for the bases has been awarded and this work is now in progress. Keally drafted the plans for the Capitol. Planning Commission members later will meet with the Salem Zoning Commission with relation

'Pa' Kennedy, Newsman, Dies

SEATTLE (AP) — Frederick W. Kennedy, widely known journalism professor and weekly newspaper association leader, died Thursday at age 77.

Known in northwest journalistic circles as "Pa" Kennedy, he held the title of professor emeritus of journalism since he retired in 1947 after 38 years teaching at the University of Washington.

Kennedy also was manager for

Unions Prepare Children's Yule Program

Doing Santa's work, these women are shown stuffing goodies into a few of the 1,000 stockings to be given out at an all-Salem children's Christmas party Saturday night at Salem High School. The women, wives of local union members, are (from left) Mrs. Bertha Ewing, 1245 Saginaw St.; Mrs. Paul Ferguson, Salem Route 4, Box 516; Mrs. A. F. Chivers, 430 Tryon Ave., and Mrs. Harold Chivers, 1599 State St. (Story on page 5).

38 years of the Washington Newspaper Publishers' Association. Last year he was given the National Editorial Association's president's award for outstanding service.

Kennedy, whose wife died last August, had been ill for several months.

The funeral will be Saturday at 3 p. m. at Forkner's in the university district.

LEMON FINDS DOUBLE EGG
MIDDLE LAKE, Canada (AP) — When Art Lemon opened a boiled egg at the breakfast table he found in addition to the usual yolk, another complete egg with a hard shell and a yolk of its own.

COURTROOM VIOLATION
ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — Judge William E. Wider discovered suddenly that one law had been defied in his Superior Court ever since the city hall was built 37 years ago.

A glazier had put in one section of a stained glass window upside down, so the sand in an hourglass was defying the law of gravity and running upward.

HUNTS BASEMENT GAME
NEW YORK (AP) — An archery enthusiast has found a new way to exterminate cockroaches. He shoots them. A strip of board backed with a bale of straw is set in a basement corner. The beaverboard is baited to attract the little visitors. When one comes for dinner, the archer in the opposite corner has a dandy moving target.

Bronze Age Relics Found

ROSSLARE HARBOR, Ireland (AP) — What may prove to be the largest concentration of late bronze age (500 B.C.) lake dwellings in Europe outside Switzerland has been uncovered at Lough Gara, County Roscommon, Ireland.

So far, 22 of these crannogs, or artificial islands where early men made their homes for safety, have been found. Also brought to light are bronze rings, tools and pots.

The first discovery was made last summer, when the Irish government scheme for draining Lough Gara had been under way for 10 months. A wooden dugout canoe was found in the River Boyle near the lake outlet. A perforated stone sinker for fishing was also found.

Experts say that pottery found at Lough Gara has definite connections in Scotland and in Yorkshire, England, and is believed to represent folk migration from the North European plains to the British Isles.

A high proportion of the total area of Scotland is still deer forest, says the National Geographic Society.
