X-Ray Movies Help Doctors Fight Diseases

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

ST. LOUIS — Aerial cameras are taking double-feature X-ray movies for better diagnosis of some brain, heart, and other troubles.

Two cameras are used, each taking two pictures a second. Each takes a different view—one from the side, one from the front—simultaneously.

The aerial cameras were adapted for the X-ray work at the Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology of Washington University Medical School.

In effect, they give a third-dimensional view of the workings of internal organs, said Dr. William Seaman, associate professor of radiology.

A whole series of pictures can be taken within a few seconds to trace a dye flowing through arteries of the brain, through chambers of the heart, or through organs.

The flow of the dye gives information about constrictions or other troubles of arteries or valves, including aneurysms or bulges in artery walls that may blow out like a weakened inner tube.

The double exposure X-rays also give a better view of the inner brain when air is pumped into the ventricles or cavities of the brain. This is a method used to diagnose brain tumors.

Viewed in sequence, the X-ray films give a veritable movie of what happens as air or dye is injected into the brain. It takes only a split second for injected dye to spread through the brain. The rapid-sequence pictures show what happened, and give two views.

The system is easier and safer on the patient also, Dr. Seaman said. The patient doesn't have to be moved to get side or straight view, or doesn't need a second injection or treatment to obtain the story.

10 Arrested in Plot Against Cuba Dictator

HAVANA, Cuba — The Cuban Navy said nine of its retired officials and one naval non-com were arrested Saturday for plotting armed rebellion against the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

The ten, including a former Navy chief and his two top aides, were jailed in the military prison in the Cuban fortress at the entry of Havana Harbor, the Navy announced Saturday.

The announcement followed the arrest of four men and seizure of arms at Mamaroneck, N. Y., in a reported plot to stage a "Christmas revolt" against the Cuban government.

The sheriff of Westchester County, New York, said one of the men arrested there, a munitions dealer, said the arms cache was being built up for Cuba's ex-President Carlos Prío Socarras.

Prío was ousted by Batista in a coup last March 10 and now lives in Miami, Fla.

Among the former Navy men arrested in Havana, the Navy said, were the former chief of the navy, the former second chief and the former third chief.

In Miami, Prío Socarras said he had no knowledge of any revolutionary plot against Batista and that he did not know the men arrested in Mamaroneck. The Westchester munitions dealer was identified as Alfred Mannheim, 29. Police are seeking a fifth man there.

The 'revolt' reportedly was timed for the Christmas holidays. It possibly was frustrated by police discovery of the arms Friday in an abandoned gasoline station.

Westchester County police discovered the cache in the boarded-up filling station after their attention was attracted by unusual activity around the supposedly deserted place.

The police said they found two truckloads of deadly weapons — napalm grenades, rifle grenades, bazooka shells, rifle clips, gun powder, and napalm powder, along with parachute flares — all of it apparently Arm surplus stock.

Mannheim claimed to possess federal, state and New York City licenses for storage, transportation and possession of arms and ammunition.

K-Falls Milk Rules Trouble

KLAMATH FALLS — Klamath Falls area milk distributors, which serve California and Oregon, have run into difficulties over regulations in the two states.

The distributors increased the butterfat content of milk to 4 per cent so they wouldn't have to reduce the 24-cent price under an Oregon order, calling for a reduction for 3.5 per cent milk.

But the California Bureau of Milk Control said the distributors would either have to raise the price or reduce the butterfat content of milk sold in the Tulelake and Dorris areas.

In the past, distributors said, they have been permitted to consider Tulelake and Dorris in the Oregon area in following state regulations.
