Leslie WSCS to Meet Wednesday

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Leslie Methodist Church will meet Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 31 at 1:30 p. m. in the church parlors. A talk on Deaconess work and a chalk talk will be given by Miss Clara Moore, formerly a deaconess worker in the Methodist Church.

The program "Modern Samaritans" will be presented by Mrs. Everett McRae. A dessert luncheon will be served by a hostess committee consisting of Mesdames J. S. Murray, Roy Hagedorn, W. E. Haggell, J. L. Heidler and George Henderson. Mrs. C. W. Stacey will conduct the business period.

All white flowers were used to decorate the church with white poinsettias on the side altars. At the chancel were baskets of white pom pom chrysanthemums, carnations and greenery. The alternate pews were marked with clusters of the chrysanthemums and white ribbon. Wayne Meussey played the wedding music.

Exquisite was the bridal gown of charitably lace and satin. The bodice and sleeves were of lace with a V neckline fashioned with an inset of pleated nylon tulle. The skirt was designed with a wide scalloped lace panel down the front with a narrower panel of the lace extending down the back into the court train. On either side of the skirt in front was a two tiered flounce of pleated nylon tulle. Her two tiered fingertip illusion veil cascaded from a Juliet cap of lace over satin embellished with seed pearls. She carried a loose cluster of white roses and bouvardia.

Five pretty attendants preceded the bride to the altar. Miss Marion Baum was her sister's honor maid and the Misses Rita Ragozzino, sister of the groom from San Mateo, Margery Woodworth, Eugene, Jean Burgess and Molly Muntzel, Portland, were bridesmaids.

The honor attendants wore a waltz length gown of azure blue satin and carried American Beauty roses. The bridesmaids' dresses were of rose wine satin and their bouquets were of pale pink roses tied with matching satin ribbon. The dresses were styled identical with full skirts and fitted bodices with vestes of pale pink pleated nylon tulle. They all wore mitts of the tulle tied with velvet ribbon and bandeaux of matching satin cording with a cluster of pale pink roses at one side. Their satin shoes matched their frocks.

Henry Stelling of San Mateo stood with Mr. Ragozzino as best man. Seating the guests were Ted Baum, brother of the bride, Robert Styles, Robert Carlson and Robert Hertz, all of San Mateo.

Mrs. Baum selected a handsome gown of Wedgewood blue faille with beaded lace yoke for her daughter's nuptials. She wore a matching lace stole and a corsage of shattered pink carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Ragozzino came north for their son's marriage and she wore a gown of aqua blue lace over tulle with cocoa brown accessories. Her flowers were shattered white carnations.

The newlyweds greeted their guests at a large reception at the Candalaria home of the bride's parents on Prospect Place, with the couple receiving before the picture windows in the living room. A large group of matrons and maids assisted at the bride's table and about the rooms.

The couple left for a Canadian honeymoon and for traveling the new Mrs. Ragozzino donned a black falls coat style dress and oxford grey coat with black velvet trim. Her hat and gloves were flame red. She pinned a corsage of shattered red carnations to her ensemble. The future home of the young couple is indefinite, pending future army orders, but plans are to reside in San Mateo.

Marijo Ogle, John Loftis Married

Exchanging their vows at a lovely holiday wedding on Saturday night at the First Congregational Church were Miss Marijo Ogle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ogle and John Howard Loftis, son of Mrs. Frank Domkowski. Dr. Seth R. Huntington officiated at the 8 o'clock nuptials.

Vern Esch was the soloist and Jean Hobson Rich the organist. The altar was banked with Christmas greens and bouquets of white pom pom chrysanthemums tied with white bows. The alternate pews were marked with candles and ribbons.

Of white slipper satin was the bridal gown fashioned with an embroidered marquisette yoke with a stand-up collar on the bodice. The full skirt, which terminated in a cathedral train, was enhanced with a cascade of embroidered marquisette down the front. Her lace and illusion veil was caught to a half crown edged with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a fuchsia throated white orchid.

Four attendants walked before the bride, all wearing aqua satin gowns with nylon net overskirts, satin jackets and headresses to match. They carried colonial nosegays of white snapdragons, heather and American Beauty roses. Miss Charlynn Ogle was her sister's honor maid and the bridesmaids were Miss Joan and Miss Suzanne Barnes and Mrs. William Loftis.

William Loftis stood with his brother as best man. Seating the guests were Rollin Cocking, Richard Strong and Thomas Scheidel.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ogle wore a cornflower blue crepe gown with winter rose accessories. Mrs. Domkowski attended her son's marriage in a dusty rose lace and crepe gown. Their corsages were cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held in the fireplace room after the nuptials. Mrs. Doris Frary and Mrs. Albert Book presided at the coffee urns and cutting the cake were Mrs. Chester Waite, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Carl Bjorquist. Assisting were Misses Shirlee Newbury, Juanita McCurdy, Evelyn Martin, Sue McElhinny, Lorraine Welling, Lois Archibald and Ann Klindworth.

When the newlyweds left on their wedding trip the bride changed to a winter rose knit suit with beige boucle coat and dark brown accessories. The couple will make their home in Eugene, where both are seniors at the University of Oregon.
