Dr. Ferguson Elected County Chest Leader

Dr. David J. Ferguson, Pratum, former U. S. Army chaplain and retired Presbyterian minister, has been re-elected president of the Marion County Community Chest. It was reported Friday.

A. A. Atherton was re-elected treasurer and C. A. Kells, re-elected secretary. Gene Teague was elected vice-president for the Stayton area and Evan Sutton for the Jefferson area.

Because only $14,402 of the proposed $28,728 goal was raised the chest-supported agencies in this area received only a part of the items they asked for, it was reported.

Distributed on a pro-rated share basis the $14,474 was given out; $2,970 to Boy Scouts; $1,724, Camp Fire Girls; $1,500, Girl Scouts; $6,472, Oregon Chest, and $1,806, administrative and campaign expenses.

Plans for a tour of interested citizens to Portland for March 3, land for March 3 were formed. The tour will be a visit through chest-supported agencies.

Plans also were discussed for the chest institute in Salem on April 15. C. C. Moore and Robert Rosekrans, both of Community Chest headquarters in New York, will be on hand to discuss campaign and financing and labor's participation.

Welfare Suit Proposed in Legislature

Old age pensioners' spokesman Rep. Joseph E. Harvey of Portland introduced a bill in the House Friday to permit the State Welfare Commission to require relatives to contribute to the support of the aged only after district attorneys file suit.

This in effect would transfer the matter from welfare commission to the courts. The Harvey bill also would repeal the scale of contributions expected from relatives under the present law.

This and other current legislative phases of the old age pension issue will be discussed at public hearing Thursday at 2:30 p.m. before a welfare subcommittee of the joint ways and means committee.

Meanwhile the subcommittee will confer Saturday with county courts from many sections of Oregon on budgets and other welfare items.

A major issue up for discussion will be whether the county courts as members of the County Welfare Commissions, favor making available for public inspection the public welfare rolls. Records dealing with dependent children would be exempt under the bill now before the legislature.

Another question is whether the county courts favor a bill making brothers and sisters liable to contribute to the support of relatives receiving public assistance. Only sons and daughters are liable to contribute under the current relative responsibility law.

The public welfare rolls could not be used for commercial or political purposes.

Convicts Give Blood for GI From Salem

Because a Salem infantryman was wounded in Korea, a special shipment of blood from Oregon convicts is going overseas to help meet military hospital needs.

The wounded man is Pvt. Kenneth Keppinger, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keppinger, Salem, Route 2, Box 248. He is hospitalized in Japan with seven wounds from shrapnel, suffered Dec. 13 in combat.

Interested among prisoners in his case came about this way: Pvt. Keppinger's dad is the Northwest District forester supervising a tree planting project near Forest Grove. There work on the project is being done by 60 State Prison trustees assigned to South Fork Prison camp.

When home on leave a few months ago young Keppinger went to the camp to visit his dad. Prisoners became acquainted and liked him. When they learned he'd been wounded the trustees made a special blood donation offer. Blood was given by 33 of them.

Keppinger's parents learned in a letter this week that their son is recuperating in the Army hospital in satisfactory matter. But his legs have not sufficiently mended to allow him to return to duty.

Keppinger is with the 179th Regiment of the 45th Infantry Division. He entered Army service a year ago this week. He was a 1951 Salem High School graduate.

Young Driver Scores Point In Hearings
Rep. Loren Stewart, member of the House Highways Committee, had little comment after he heard Wayne Carr, 17, Salem, speak in opposition to Stewart's bill providing that no licensed driver below 21 years of age could instruct a beginner who had a learners permit.

Carr told the committee that parents are busy and don't have time to instruct youngsters in driving. "If you pass this bill you will deprive a lot of teenagers of driver training," Carr said.

Carr asked why the legislature does not pass a law requiring driver training in all high schools. "I am sure such a bill would receive the support of virtually all teenagers," he said.

When Carr concluded his remarks, Rep. Edward Geary, chairman of the committee, asked Stewart if he had any comment.

"What can I say," Stewart averred.

The committee took the bill under advisement pending further discussion.

Fairgrounds Street Project Being Studied

Salem city officials are cooking up a plan to run a permanent city street right through the State Fairgrounds—from Silverton Road to Woodrow Street.

Plans are in the preliminary stage, it was reported Friday. State Fair officials must be consulted.

Actually the street would be a continuation of N. 18th St. which now ends at the fairground's south fence line. It would cut across the grounds and pass through the grove of oak trees known as the old camping ground—lying between the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks and the main west gate to the grounds proper.

The new 16th St. extension would be a regular, permanent city street. City Manager J. L. Franzen said there "has long been a need for such a street."

He said the proposed street would have three immediate benefits:

1. It would help alleviate traffic problems during fair week by adding another major traffic route to the grounds.

2. It would provide a much-needed traffic route from the Silverton Road area to the east Salem area and thus to the heart of the city. It would help serve several large industries in that area. Now most traffic coming in Silverton road passes through the congested Hollywood district.

3. It would also give Salem another public park area.

Parties involved in the land deal for the street would include the city, the State Fair Board, Willamette Cherry Growers Association, Keith Brown and Lawrence N. Brown. All except the city own land along the proposed route.

If approved the street would contact Silverton Road only a few feet north of the present railroad tracks. The fair bus terminal, now in the triangle near Portland Road, would be moved up to the new street.

YMCA Youths Attending Eugene Meet

Approximately 18 Salem YMCA youths will go to Eugene today to attend a Willamette Valley meeting of Hi-Y youths to lay plans for the annual Youth and Government program in April.

The youth government program operates as a mock legislature on April 24-25.

At the Eugene meeting a "governor" and "senate reading clerk" will be elected. Three reporters also will be appointed. These officers will function at the state-wide meeting in April. Other YMCA youths over the valley will attend the Eugene meeting.

Sen. Paul Geddes of Roseburg will speak on the legislator's job. Robert E. Collins of Salem, head of the Oregon Code revision committee, will explain how to draft a bill.

Adult district valley chairman is Freeman Holmer of Salem, professor of political science at Willamette University.

Washington's Birthday to Close Offices

Washington's Birthday, to be observed Monday, will rate one more public office closure in Salem than did Lincoln's Birthday. The addition is the Postoffice.

Most Salem city and Marion County offices, except emergency services, will close. No mail will be delivered, nor will postal windows be open. Other federal offices also will be closed.

Open for business as usual will be the schools, which will have special holiday programs, and the state offices, which will operate with skeleton staffs again.

Because of heavy holiday demand, Salem City Library will remain open Monday.

Parking meters will not operate here.

EYE FLUORIDATION
ASHLAND (AP)—The proposal to add fluoride to the drinking water is coming up in Ashland. Twenty five persons urged the City Council this week to take the step. City Attorney Harry Skerry said he believed a vote of the people would be necessary.

Damon was born Feb. 26, 1908, in Hedina County, O., and attended public schools in Chatham, O. He went from Ohio to Eddyville.
