Well Jelled

Good Old Gelatine Desserts Are Among Most Versatile of Foods

By MAXINE BUREN, Statesman Women's Editor

Gelatine is one of the very best manufactured foods to have on hand and study, for there are innumerable uses for it. We know them by the dozens, salads, puddings, cake toppings—all excellent to work on and devise new variations for.

Here are some suggestions picked up here and there for variations of the regular uses for the gelatine, either flavored or unflavored.

CHEESE GOES IN

Next time you make a cheese cake give it this beautiful topping with gelatine to lemon. Arrange well-drained canned peach slices over the entire top of the cake. Soften 1 teaspoon plain gelatine in 1/2 cup syrup from peaches and dissolve by setting over a pan of hot water. Chill until partially thickened. Spread over the peaches and chill until firm.

Salads that will be good for mid-day meals are in demand at this time of year. Here's one to add to the menu some day:

CREAMY CHEESE MOLD

1 package lemon gelatine 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 1 1/2 cups hot water 1/2 teaspoon minced onion
 1 1/2 teaspoons vinegar 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup cottage cheese or grated
 1/2 cup mayonnaise 1/2 cup American cheese
 3/4 tablespoons finely chopped 1/2 cup chopped celery
 green pepper

Dissolve gelatine in hot water. Add vinegar and salt. Add mayonnaise, paprika, onion and milk, and beat with rotary egg beater to blend. Chill until slightly thickened. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water. Whip with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens. Garnish with radish roses or slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BANANAS, with the aid of gelatine, make a chiffon pie:

BANANA CHIFFON PIE

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 unflavored gelatine 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
 1 cup cold water 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 1/4 cups mashed ripe bananas 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice 5 tablespoons sugar
 1 baked 9-inch pie shell 3 egg whites

Soften gelatine in cold water. Mix together in a saucepan, bananas, lemon juice, lemon and orange rinds, salt, egg yolks and 2 tablespoons of the sugar. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture is thickened. Remove from heat, add softened gelatine and stir until dissolved. Chill thoroughly. Beat egg whites until foamy, add remaining 3 tablespoons sugar and continue beating until stiff enough to form peaks. Fold in chilled banana mixture. Turn into pie shell, chill until firm. Makes 1 pie.

Take advantage of special buys on avocados which have become a little too soft for slicing. Mash the avocado and stir into a slightly thickened lemon gelatine base made with a package of lemon-flavored gelatine, 1 1/2 cups hot water and 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Stir in 3 sections grapefruit and 1/2 cup sliced celery. Chill in 8 individual molds.

Q. When a host asks you, "What will you have to drink?" is it correct to ask him, "What do you have?"

A. A good host will usually make suggestions, or will tell his guests what he has to offer. But if he doesn't, it certainly is not well-bred to ask him what he has. Don't hesitate to state your preference, and if he is not stocked to fill your order, you can start over from there.

Q. Is it proper for a woman to send flowers to a male acquaintance who is quite ill?

A. Yes, this is not only proper, but is a very thoughtful gesture on her part.
