

These Are Familiar Objects and Places—How Many Can You Identify?

What happened here? Well, the photographer was not having an out-of-focus day or anything like that, but he was busy photographing a series of familiar places and things from odd angles. Just trying to change the perspective enough to find out how quickly the Statesman reader can identify his subjects. Above are seven closeups or odd angles of things the reader is likely to see most any day, inside or out. Can you spot them? (Answers upside down at right.)

Attempt to Place Reds In Army, Navy Told at Anti-Subversives Trial

SEATTLE (AP) — Paul Crouch of Miami and Washington testified in Federal Court Wednesday he had once led a movement to infiltrate the U.S. Army and Navy with young Communists.

His appearance in the Pacific Northwest's first subversives trial brought an immediate outburst from the defense and a demand for dismissal of charges of conspiracy against seven defendants.

Judge William J. Lindbergh denied the motions but told the jury Crouch's testimony might be held non-admissible later.

Defense Atty. John Caughlan charged that Crouch is "an employee of the Justice Department, testifying all over the country." He objected that Crouch's testimony did not relate to any period in which the seven—some admitted Communists—are charged with conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government.

Crouch, who said he left the Communist Party in 1942, testified that he was head of its "national department for work in the armed forces." This department selected men to "enter the Army and Navy to engage in Communist activity," he said, adding:

"I had Communists slip into the Navy, and several on the U.S.S. Oklahoma were designated as a concentration point of the party, recruiting others."

The first government witness appeared after opening defense statements acknowledged present or past party membership by four of the defendants.

The first three professing Communist Party memberships were William Pennock, president of the Washington Pension Union; John Daschbach, chairman of the Washington State Civil Rights Congress; and Karly Larsen, CIO Woodworkers Union leader for many years.

Farm Prices Drop 2 Per Cent, Tally Of Month Discloses

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm product prices took a 2 per cent tumble between mid-March and mid-April for the biggest monthly downturn since the Eisenhower administration took over.

The Agriculture Department reported this Wednesday in a market survey which showed cattle prices continued a decline that has been sharp and the cause of much concern in government circles. It also has been the subject of much criticism in Congress.

The general level of farm prices in mid-April was about 3 per cent below that in effect when the present administration took office in January.

Last month these prices advanced 1-3 of one per cent to halt a long decline.

Previous Decline
During the last year of the Truman administration farm prices dropped 12 per cent.

In addition to cattle prices, other commodities which lost ground during the past month included: milk, butter-fat, some grains, potatoes and some vegetables.

Commodities which went up a little, but not enough to offset the effect of those which declined, included hogs, lambs, eggs, and rice.

Below Year Ago
The farm price level in mid-April was 10.5 per cent below that of a year ago and about 17 per cent below the record set in February, 1951.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in family living and in farm production also declined during the month which ended April 15, but only about 7-10ths of one per cent.

These prices were about 3.4 per cent below those of a year ago and about the same percentage below the record set in May, 1950.

The department said farm prices as a whole averaged 93 per cent of parity, the lowest since June, 1941. Last month they averaged 94 per cent of parity compared with 100 per cent a year ago and the record of 122 per cent set in October, 1948.

Parity is a price designed to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Only eight major commodities brought producers parity prices or higher in mid-April. They were rice, dry beans, soy beans, sweet potatoes, limes, apples, eggs and hogs.

Those bringing less than parity included all the grains, tobacco, potatoes, dairy products, wool, cotton, cotton-seed, beef cattle, sheep, poultry.
