

SPORTS LIGHTNER

This, that, etc.
Not only is former Viking Bill Johnson very much a part of the football plans at Oregon State for next fall, but Coach Kip Taylor and Assistant Len Younce feel that the fast and rugged 205-pounder will be one of if not their best linemen. Bill plays guard both on offense and defense. He played on the Rose Bowl team three years ago, then dropped out of school for a year. As a sophomore last season he won a letter. Says OSC athletic news director Johnny Eason of Bill: "He's a quiet kid, never sounding his own horn, but very popular with teammates and the coaching staff. I would guess that this will be the first time in many, many years that Oregon State football has had two first-string performers from Salem—Bill Johnson at right guard and Jim Rock at right half." Can't miss blame Trojan Coach Jess Hill for blowing a fuse over losing his 250-pound Tackle Charley Ane to the pros, when Ane had another year of collegiate eligibility left. The huge Hawaiian was to have played a big part in the USC grid plan for 1953. But then on the other hand, Ane can't be blamed either. Married and with a child, this is what the Detroit Lions dazed before Ane to get him signed: (1) Salary of $6,500 per season, (2) bonus of $400 for signing, (3) share of the receipts from next August's All-Star game, (4) tuition money to finish his schooling at Wayne University and (5) an off-season job with a brewery the Lions president owns. Fans may recall that Ane is the lad who was kicked out of the Rose Bowl game last Jan. 1 for using his elbows illegally. Tch, tch. Little League baseball for the nation's kids too young for Legion Junior ball and too old for the cradle is growing so rapidly that over 320,000 boys will be playing in 2,804 circuits this summer. Salem has no sanctioned "Little League" ball for the kids, but the Junior Baseball program we do have for boys between the ages of 12 and 16 need not take a back seat to many others. Around 300 youngsters get to play in the Salem Class B and C Leagues each semester.

TED JOHNSON
Adds to WU 'er' List.

Another Ex-WU'er in Area's Coaching Whirl
Ted Johnson's signing on as the new Jefferson High coach adds to the growing list of Willamette U grads who are now mentoring prep schools in this area. To name the majority of 'em: Harold Hauk at Salem, Milt Baum at Silverton, Ken Jacobsen and Gordy Kunke at Dallas, Hank Ercolini at Canby, Marshall Barbour at Woodburn, Bruce Barker at Sheridan, Bill Patterson at Gervais, Fred Graham at Jefferson now but shifting over to Stayton next term, and Bob White, now at Stayton.

The ex-Willametteers as prep coaches in this sector far outnumber grads from Oregon State, Oregon, Linfield and Pacific U, not to mention neighboring OCE at Monmouth.

Ottawa's International League club is counting heavily on Dick Greco's big bat as a measuring stick for their success this season. The slugger the town Senators have been trying to land for five years has in his seven seasons of organized baseball averaged 327 at bat, 28 home runs and 120 runs batted in per campaign. The Mickey Mantle of the minors owns all long-distance batting records for every park he's played in, including our 25th and Turner Road spread. We'd almost bet the wallop he smacked off Cal McIrvin here one night in 1948 is still going. Then there was the seven-inning portion of a Sunday doubleheader here when he biffed three homers, one over left field, another over center and the other over right.

That's the trouble with baseball—there just ain't enough Greco in it.

Gambold Accepts Pro Grid Job With Rams

Washington State's Bob Gambold has accepted terms with the Los Angeles Rams pro gridgers and will be helping quarterback the club next fall along with Norm Van Brocklin. His decision leaves the WSC freshman football coaching berth open, but he might be able to hang onto the frosh cage mentorship under Jack Friel.

Both the Tran Brothers are back in the WI League again, and together. Shortstop Ray was sold to Tri-City during the winter by Vancouver in the Caps' big rebuilding job. Second-sacker Ray was put up for sale, but there were no takers. The other day the Vancouver handed Len his outright release, and he immediately signed with Tri-City. The Trans established a league double play record in 1950 at Vancouver, executing 180 of the twin killings. It still stands as league high mark.

Kid named Dick Camilli is leading the California Intercollegiate Baseball League in batting, with a soaring .414 mark. His pop was a slugger of note himself, being the old first-sacker Dolph Camilli. But where dad played the initial bag, son Dick is an outfielder who takes his regular turn on the pitching mound. He's attending Santa Clara U and also plays basketball for Bob Feerick's Broncos.

Destruction Bee Added To Saturday Race Card

A six-car destruction derby, auto racing's mayhem at its best and always a popular item with the fans, has been added to Saturday night's opening speed show at Hollywood Bowl by Valley Sports Promoter Henry Ireland.

Stock cars are to race in the main portion of the card, which gets under way at 7:30 o'clock. The crash-bang bee—a deliberate attempt by the six pilots to wreck one another's mount—will follow the Class A finale by the stocks.

"We had a great card lined up last week when we got rained out with the hot rods," Ireland said Wednesday. "And in order to help make the rescheduled opener with the stock cars even more better for the fans, we've added the six-car destruction derby."

Around 20 stock cars, some of them new 1953 models, will be in the time of trials, trophy dash, head rumps and main events Saturday. They'll be the same group which opened the racing season at Portland not long ago on the Portland Speedway, and presented one of the wildest auto racing programs in that city's history. Driver Hank DuBoise was killed driving that meet in a spectacular crash.

Ireland will announce the complete list of cars and drivers Friday. The big north Salem bowl has been somewhat remodeled for the racing programs this season, much of the work having been done for the comfort and pleasure of the fans.

Maxim Gets Chance In Ogdén Encounter

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Challenger Joey Maxim will attempt in a fight here June 24 to regain from Champion Archie Moore the world light heavyweight title he lost to the colorful Negro boxer five months ago.

All Warden, one of the promoters, announced Wednesday that final arrangements have been made for the 15-round nationally televised title fight. Warden and Promoter Kenny Mayne, both of Ogdén, are joining with the International Boxing Club in promoting the event.

Warden said Moore and Maxim each are guaranteed $25,000, with an option of 30 per cent of the gate after deduction of state and federal taxes. In addition the television sponsor, Pabst Brewing Company, will pay $50,000 for TV rights with the fighters to split $30,000 of that sum.

Tickets will be scaled from $25 for the first four rows of ringside to $5.10 for bleacher seats. Moore, of San Diego, Calif., won the title last December, outpointing Maxim, of Cleveland, also in a nationally televised bout. Maxim won the crown Jan. 24, 1950, beating Freddie Mills of England.

Air Power to Suffer Most In Fund Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—American air power will bear the brunt of new defense department budget cuts, the Washington Post reported Wednesday, with heavy slashes in money for Air Force and Navy plane production next year.

The Post quoted "reliable sources" as saying the economy measure approved by Secretary of Defense Wilson would halt the planned 1 wing Air Force expansion at 120 wings or less. There are about 100 wings now in existence, so that they are not at full strength.

The new spending program, the Post said, will not permit attainment of the 143-wing force around mid-1955, which the Air Force was working toward under budgets of the past three years. The Post said, however, the Eisenhower administration was not expected to admit abandonment of the 143-wing goal.
