Measles Still Tops Diseases

Measles increased to 78 new cases in Marion County last week to keep atop the communicable disease list, the health department said Tuesday. Just one-half were inside Salem.

Other communicable diseases reported by physicians for the week included 28 of German measles, 9 of mumps, 6 chickenpox, 5 of tuberculosis (all in institutions), 3 each of lobar pneumonia and whooping cough, 2 of influenza, 1 each of impetigo, broncho pneumonia, virus pneumonia, poliomyelitis and Vincent's angina.

Construction Crews Resemble Aerialists

Sidewalk superintendents have been having a field day this week as iron workers perform circus-like feats of daring while erecting the steel skeleton to the new courthouse building. Shown above framed between three steel girders—one of which weighs nearly six tons—is Ted Mackmore, Portland iron worker. Mackmore is standing on a six inch steel brace and hanging on to the girder—100 feet above the ground—with his right hand. (Statesman photo.)

County Budget Group to Cut Fund Requests

Cutting of a good share of $159,218 from requests for funds will be the task of the Marion County budget committee, which will begin sessions next Monday morning.

Requests and revenues now in sight would make the budget levy exceed by that amount the 6 per cent limitation on increases. But the figures do not include some revenues which could not be estimated, but on which figures are expected by next week.

Total of budget requests now is $3,191,609, including $217,207 in estimated tax delinquency. Revenues would offset $927,281 of this, and expendable surplus another $816,250, of which $686,250 is for courthouse construction. The surplus figure is quite close to that of recent years.

This would make the levy $1,448,078. But County Judge Rex Hartley said the committee planned as usual to keep the levy to a 6 per cent increase over the present year's, which would make it $1,288,860. This year's budget total is $2,811,352.

Major increases sought by departments include $25,000 for welfare, a jailer and another relief officer as well as $2,300 more for radio equipment for the sheriff, $3,000 more for election boards.

Whether pay increases will be given was unknown, but for the first time the budget committee has the power also to set salaries of elected officials. Some department heads included raises in their askings.

The new County Planning and Zoning Commission is to request funds for its program, but the figure has not yet been named. Consideration also is expected for funds for a veterans' memorial at Aurora, requested in 1948 but passed over at that time.

The preliminary budget makes no mention of a purchasing agent, which the court once said it would consider this year. Judge Hartley said a study is being made as to the feasibility of such an employe.

ASSORTED
Here's a fruit cup that's pretty to look at: Try putting assorted fruits in a grapefruit shell. Pineapple tidbits, grapes, bananas and grapefruit sections are a good combination. Top with fresh lime slices.

Norfleet Quits Deputy's Job
Resignation of Everett Norfleet as a Marion County Sheriff's deputy to return to the Stayton police force as chief was announced Tuesday by Sheriff Denver Young.

Norfleet, who will replace Don Johnson on Saturday, has been a deputy for six months. Earlier he spent 18 months on the Stayton city police and several years as a State Penitentiary Guard. He said he was changing because of the county's pay scale.

Young also announced the recent addition as a deputy of Lewis Walker, 1782 S. 12th St. Recently discharged from the Army, Walker had considerable experience in military police and criminal investigation work in the service.

Committees To Plan U.N. Day Activity

Temporary chairmen for two phases of a program to spark interest here in United Nations were appointed Tuesday at a luncheon meeting called by Salem Council of Church Women.

Dr. Thomas Bennett, professor of philosophy at Willamette University, was named to head the committee to plan U.N. Day activities for Oct. 24. Mrs. Dennis Patch and William Entress will lead work for a continuing organization to emphasize U.N.

Some 40 persons from more than a score of civic, church and fraternal groups attended the meeting, at which Mrs. Harold Rosebraugh presided. It was called by the Church Women's Christian World relations department, of which Mrs. Patch is co-chairman with Mrs. Richard Sorick.

Miss Eloise Ebert, assistant state librarian and who served 4½ years with U.S. occupation forces in Europe, told the meeting "you never understand international problems until you live in a foreign land and see your country through the eyes of others." She said U.N. was leading the effort to overcome a world situation worsened at this time by world-wide foment for self-determination and by unprecedented movements of populations.

A report on the 1952 U.N. dinner and program presented by Willamette's UNESCO group and Salem Trades and Labor Council was made by Miss Augusta Krause, student from Portland. She also outlined the services which Willamette was prepared to provide for the new effort.

When the Russians took goats to Guadalupe Island in the middle of the 18th Century, the animals began to multiply and built up a herd so large it denuded the island of most vegetation.

Supervisors Hold Ladies Night
The Salem Industrial Supervisors and their wives—62 in all—took part in the annual Ladies Night dinner meeting Monday evening in the YMCA.
Lawrence Barnard was master of ceremonies with President Virgil Gearhart in charge. Musical entertainment was provided by Willamette University students Carl Blanes, Barbara Young and Jane Foshee.
Concluding the program were two color movies, one on "The Oregon Trail," a state highway presentation, and the other on "Grand Canyon."
