Continual changes in front line positions could prolong the war indefinitely.

General Stages Bloodless Coup In Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia UP - About to be fired, Colombia's Army chief Lt. Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla made himself president Saturday night in a lightning bloodless coup. He named a 13-man Cabinet to rule under military control until

"clean elections" can be held. The coup, in which not a shot was fired and which went off like lockwork, caused hardly a ripple in the usual weekend calm that prevails in this capital high in the Andes.

No extra troops or police were seen in the streets Sunday and at noon the radio was playing its usual Sabbath religious concert. Ousted President Laureano Gomez was placed under arrest in his home. Unofficial reports that could not immediately be confirmed said he may be given a passport to leave the country. Gomez, who gave up the presidency temporarily in 1951 because of ill health, returned unexpectedly to the presidential palace Saturday and asked acting President Roberto Urdaneta Arbelaez and War Minister Lucio Pabon Nunez to issue a decree ordering Rojas Pinilla to retire. Retakes Office

step, Gomez summarily announced he was taking back the presidency from Urdaneta. He promptly fired Pabon Nunez and put Jorge Leyva in his place. Gomez and Leyva then drafted a decree kicking Rojas Pinilla out and naming Lt. Gen. Regulo Gaitan to take over the armed forces.

But the top military men in Bogota remained loyal to Rojas Pinilla. They speedily sent a plane to pick up their general, who was
