Salem's Legion Team: It's a Fiery Gang Again This Season

Collins, Roenspie Hurl 14-4, 8-1 Wins as Locals Shorten Gap

BENGAL FIELD, Lewiston—(Special)—The Salem Senators Walloped league leading Lewiston twice Saturday night, 14-4 and 8-1, to cut the Broncs' lead to three games over the Senators in WI League play.

Lewiston officials turned out the park lights in the nightcap after Salem scored eight runs in the final inning, claiming it was beyond curfew time. But Umps Yuhase and Eiler wouldn't stand for it.

Salem tallied all eight runs to win the nightcap when Joe Clardy singled, Les Witherspoon walked, Bob Nelson singled, winning pitcher Gene Roenspie walked, Dick Sabatini bunted safely, Gene Tanselli singled, Connie Perez walked, Jim Deyo doubled and iWtherspoon singled.

In the first game Salem smashed out 19 hits off John Marshall, Bill Brenner and Rookie Arnie Arnzen. Joe Clardy doubled in three runs in the third after Deyo singled in one in the first. Deyo singled in two more tallies in the fourth and Les Witherspoon doubled in two more in the sixth. Connie Perez smashed a three-run homer in the seventh, his fourth of the season, and then Gene Tanselli tripled in the final two runs in the eighth.

Milt Smith with four hits, and Tanselli, Deyo and Witherspoon with three each led the barrage.

Lewiston got all four runs off Lefty Bob Collins in the seventh, two being unearned and the other two coming as a result of a home run by Ken Richardson.

It was Collins' seventh win of the season and he allowed nine hits, three by Richardson. The Salem infield helped out with three double plays.

WAR DECLARED

When Connie Perez was hit by a pitched ball last night at Lewiston, it marked the seventh time this season the Cuban was drilled by enemy flinging. One time he was beaned, at Calgary by Bill Bruce Williams, noting that both Perez and Milt Smith, both colored, have been repeatedly hit by pitches this season, has filed a protest with Bob Brown, president of the league.

"If that's the way they want to play it," Williams told heatedly last night, "this is warning to all—be loose when you come to Salem from now on, as that's the way we'll play it too."

1st Half Flag Clinch Target

The Capital Post No. 9 American Legion Junior baseball team, shooting for its second straight state and regional championships, can button up the first half of the District 2-A pennant race today with another victory.

Coach Vince Genna's unbeaten C-P's this afternoon go to Stayton to play the Legion nine of that city, one of the three district mixes on tap for the day. In the other two Woodburn is at Mill City and Oregon City at Aumsville, at 2 p. m.

Salem's strong squad has thus far notched wins over Woodburn, Oregon City, Mill City and Aumsville. Today's play finishes first half action.

Second half play opens next Wednesday. Winners of the two halves will meet in a playoff later for the district title.

Genna likely will send his young lefthanded pitching ace Jack Loy against the foe today. Loy turned in a fine relief performance against Mill City here Wednesday, taking over for Paul Beck and whiffing four of the five batters he faced.

Duck Freshman Earned 4 Letters During Year

EUGENE (AP) — Dick James of Grants Pass Saturday won baseball and track letters, becoming one of the few freshmen in University of Oregon history to win four letters in one year.

James, whose grades have been above average, was a football halfback, basketball guard, baseball infielder and a high jumper and javelin thrower in track.

Three others won three letters in freshman sports. They were Doyle Higdon, Cottage Grove, John Keller and Max Anderson, Portland.

Beavers Beat Oakland 10-4 for Series Lead

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Tall lefthander Royce Lint pitched and batted Portland to a 10-4 victory over Oakland Saturday. It gave Portland a 3-2 edge in their Pacific Coast League series.

The Beavers got 10 hits off four Oakland pitchers. They ran wild on the bases, stealing five in six attempts.

Starting Righthander Jim Atkins was driven from the mound in the fifth. Singles by Dino Restelli and Jimmy Gladd, a double by Lint, and three walks gave Portland five runs in the hectic inning.

Portland scored two runs in the first on Frank Austin's single, Fletcher Robbe's walk and a sharp single to left by Restelli.

Los Angeles' Bill Moisan shut out Seattle with three hits as the Angels racked a 13-0 win over the league leaders. Sacramento nosed Hollywood 6-5 in ten innings and San Diego topped San Francisco 4-2.

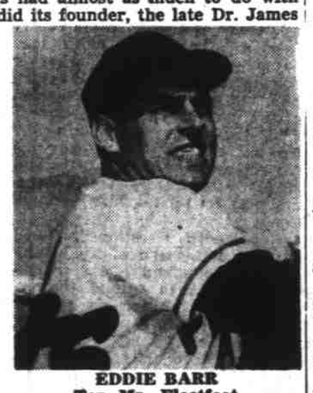
SPORTSLIGHTNER

by Al Lightner

When Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen makes his Salem Breakfast Club stag dinner appearance Monday eve at Bill Chadwick's farm, the nation's "Mr. Basketball" himself will be visiting the city. The vociferous and colorful doctor has had almost as much to do with the improvement of the game as did its founder, the late Dr. James Naismith.



EDDIE BARR
Top Mr. Fleetfoot

In his 43 years as head coach of the Kansas Jayhawkers, Allen's efforts have helped bring into existence such basketball items as the rotation of the center jump, fanshaped backboards, the 10-foot basket and the now out-moded two-minute rule. His 43 years at the same school more than speaks for itself, and his Kansas basketball teams are annually among the best in the nation's collegiate whirl.

In his long association with the popular wintertime sport, Allen has won more games and championships than any other living collegiate coach. He'll have some right interesting pictures to show Monday night, movies of just how one of those games was won. It was last March's Kansas-Washington clash in the NCAA finals at Kansas City, a mix in which the Huskies were favored, but in which they ran against the 67-year-old Allen's terrific pressing defense and were soundly thrashed by a 25-point margin . . .

To answer numerous queries, when Eddie Barr ran the bases against time during a match race at the ball park here a few seasons back, he did it in 13.9 seconds. No other ballplayer has ever topped that mark here. Yakima's Herm Lewis was clocked in 14.4 seconds last week, and Milt Smith did it in 14.6. Milt is faster than that, but he wasn't last week. The recognized "world record" for a ballplayer running the bases is 13.2 seconds, and a few have done it. One that we recall offhand was Stan Hack when he was with the Cubs. Stan is now manager of the Los Angeles Angels—that is, if he hasn't been elevated to the skippership of the Cubs within the last 24 hours . . .

Bevens' Curve Stopped a Yankee Streak

That spectacular Yankee win streak of 18 straight games, ended by the lowly St. Louis Browns, brought to mind another victory run made by the same New Yorkers back in 1946. The Bombers of that semester galloped up an awsome skein also, you may recall, and Bill Bevens was one of the Yankee flingers who helped to keep it going.

Smack in the midst of it three Yankee hurlers racked up consecutive shutouts. Another goose-egg job would mean a new record, and Joe McCarthy, then manager of the club wanted it made. Bevens was to pitch against the Boston Red Sox at Yankee Stadium that day, and he had 'em licked 10-0 going into the ninth inning.

Just as Bev was about to tangle with the Sox in the ninth, McCarthy fingered him to one side and instructed, "Now that Ted Williams is coming up this inning, I don't want you to throw him

Giants Topped By Milwaukee

Dodgers Tip Cubs; Nats Beat Indians

NEW YORK (AP) — Milwaukee protected its 2½ game National League lead and the New York Yankees continued to kick dust in the face of the rest of the American League Saturday as temperatures soared past the 90 mark in most big league ball parks.

Milwaukee staged a four-run uprising in the eighth to nip the New York Giants, 5-3, and second-place Brooklyn came from behind to down Chicago, 5-3.

Five unearned runs from sloppy Detroit fielding helped the Yanks to a 6-2 victory with Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds teaming up for a seven-hit job.

Don Liddle of Milwaukee held a 1-0 lead after seven innings but the Giants knocked him out with three in the eighth. Milwaukee came right back with four as they batted around in the eighth after Del Crandall led off with a homer.

Error Hurts Giants

Dave Koslo, who pitched to only two men after taking over for relief man Hoyt Wilhelm, was charged with the defeat. Al Dark's fumble of Sid Gordon's grounder with the bases full let in the tie-breaking run.

Jackie Robinson's pinch double touched off a two-run Dodger spurt in the seventh after Hank Sauer's ninth homer had given Chicago a 3-2 edge in the sixth of a game played in 100-plus heat. Brooklyn added another run in the seventh.

Philadelphia came up with three in the eighth to top Cincinnati, 3-1, when Joe Nuxhall weakened after pitching two-hit ball for the first seven innings. Roy McMillan's homer in the fifth was the only Cincy score.

Vic Raschi weakened in the Yankee Stadium heat where three costly Detroit errors practically handed the game to New York.

A wild throw by catcher John Bucha let in the first two runs and errors by Ray Boone and Walt Dropo set up a three-run sixth. Dropo's sixth homer with a man on accounted for the Detroit runs.

Zernial Hits 17th

Bob Elliott's two-run homer in the eighth enabled the Chicago White Sox to down Philadelphia, 6-4, capping a five-run spree off Charley Bishop and Morris Martin. Gus Zernial hit his 17th homer for the A's.

Mel Parnell helped himself to his ninth victory with a bases-loaded single that drove in two runs in the fourth inning of Boston's 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Washington Senators defeated Cleveland, 7-3, in a night game to drop the Indians 11 games behind the Yanks. Bob Porterfield went all the way for the winners, while Early Wynn and Dave Hoskins were the victims of 10 hits under the Washington lights.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez said he would protest the game, following an interference ruling against Bobby Avila in the first inning.

Phil Dickens, new football coach at Wyoming, played his college ball at Tennessee under coach Boy Neyland in 1934, '35 and '36.

Santee Runs 4:03.7 Mile . . .

Innes Smashes World Discus Mark in NCAA

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A discus throw that exceeded the world record, the second fastest mile ever run by an American and a new meet record for the shot kept a crowd of 15,000 well entertained here Saturday night as the 32nd annual National Collegiate Track and Field Meet ended.

Big Sim Iness of Southern California made the discus throw of 190 feet, ⅞ inches, four feet, 1 ⅞ inches better than the accepted world mark of 186 feet, 11 inches by Fortune Gordien, of Minnesota, made in a meet in Finland in 1949.

After he made the throw, and watched the measurement, Iness walked away, suddenly tossed a towel in the air and bent over, somewhat like a chap consoling himself rather than congratulating himself.

Friday Iness had thrown the discus 183 feet for a new NCAA record. A week ago in California he had been hit in the mouth by a stray discus.

2nd Fastest U.S. Mile

The second fastest mile by an American was hung up by the Kansas cowboy Wes Santee, who also is the fellow who ran the fastest American mile. His fastest time is 4:02.4 made not long ago in California and his time Saturday night was 4:03.7 in a race he won by 25 yards.

The Kansan took the lead early on the third lap after starting fourth from the outside in the second row. Once he moved in front it was but a question of time—not whether he would win.

But the race and a terrific effort in the 880 Friday when the heat was terrific and the wind strong, took a lot out of Santee and he scratched from the 880.
