

Don't Look Now...

but... Was Venus Victoreuse? Time will tell... Most studies point to the fact that children are not all ready for school at the same age. Dr. Frank Paul said, in a report to American Association of Advancement of Science in Education. He has found that little boys should be about six months older than little girls when they start school. This plan might not always be worked out, unless all the little boys be born in months say December, January and February and the little girls in June, July and August. This would make them all a nice age to start school in September. Another thing, our system would give relatives a respite in giving birthday presents during the other six months in the year.

In character... Wonder if a policeman, when going out socially and being introduced to strange ladies or gentlemen puts out his hand and says, "Lemme see yer Driverzlicense." This changing world... No longer is the traveling motorist lured into the best motels with the information that there's steam heat, good beds, electric stoves or nice quiet surroundings, now it's "Television in all cabins."

Washington Slept Here... The radio announcer with his usual admirable skill with words, informed his listeners this week that "President Eisenhower was given an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Dartmouth College, where he stayed overnight."

Well Done... Tuesday, that sunny day this summer, we saw a whole front yardful of teen agers lying around on the lawn with as little on as the law allows. We bet there were a lot of parboiled kids whimpering around on Wednesday, but they have to learn the hard way... Maxine Buren.

WEDDING ECHOES... St. Paul's Episcopal Church filled for the beautiful wedding ceremony on Friday night when Leslyn Burdette became James Rock's bride... Leslyn all smiles as she walked down the aisle to meet her bridegroom at the altar... The beautifully frocked bridesmaids in crisp, white organdy dresses with blue sashes and carrying adorable white horsehair braid baskets filled with blue delphinium and white daisies... the dresses all made by the bride's mother, Mrs. Leslie R. Burdette.

The blue and white... color scheme used throughout... even at the reception held at the Burdette home... The bride's table covered with an embossed blue and white organdy cloth... a pillared cake in the center... blue and white flowered nosegays on either side... The newlyweds receiving by the fireplace in the living room... Guests going out into the lovely creekside garden... Punch served down on the lower terrace by the creek... A crisp summer's night even though the moon and stars were out... the newlyweds donning a stole for occasion and one time when they were really used for warmth as well as for beauty... A lovely array of wedding gifts arranged in the upstairs sunroom, which also overlooks the garden.

a white linen accented with black and the senior Mrs. Needham in an aqua linen jacket dress... Outstanding... the gorgeous bouquets of garden flowers about the rooms... In the hallway on an antique table by the door a stunning arrangement of deep red roses and dark blue delphinium... Calls lilies on the piano... an old fashioned bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern on the coffee table... The buffet table covered with a white organdy cloth over pink... a handsome centerpiece of delphinium, snapdragon and roses in a crystal bowl on a silver-footed stand... a delicious collation... Presiding at the coffee urn... Mrs. E. J. Sellars, Mrs. W. Connelly Dyer and Mrs. James H. Nicholson... Taking turns at the door... Christy Cooley and Beth Needham... Among those assisting... daughters of the hostesses... Mrs. Urlin S. Page in a becoming yellow dress... Mrs. John Maulding's full skirted pink frock over a horsehair braid petticoat... Mrs. Richard L. Cooley chic in a violet polished cotton skirt... very full and worn over an American Beauty petticoat... the long, sleeved blouse of mauve pink with rhinestones tud... COFFEE TIME... on Thursday when Mrs. Floyd Bowers and Mrs. Gardner Knapp entertained at the former's home on North 15th Street for a large group of their friends... both morning and afternoon parties... Roses predominating in the decor... At one end of the dining room table a beautiful bouquet of roses, shading from the yellow to the Talsman shades and accented with a few red ones... and arranged in a handsome antique cutglass bowl... A sweet bouquet of moss roses by the window in the living room... all from the Knapp garden... A huge bouquet of pink and white peonies... and in the hallway shaded delphinium in a three branch crystal and brass container, most unusual and striking... Guests... admiring the newly decorated bedroom in the Bowers home... the antique furnishings all belonging to Mrs. Bower's mother, which she uses when she visits... Unusual the key chain collection of their son so artistically arranged in the den... A chatty party with much buzzing conversation... summer vacation plans much discussed as well as the weather...

A large contingent... of the young set noted amidst the guests... young marrieds... engaged duos, many to be wed later in the summer... and dozens of the newlyweds' college friends from Oregon State... From out-of-town... same Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schnell of Portland, just home from a cross-country trip and soon to leave again for San Francisco... The Schnells coming in with their son-in-law and daughter, the Robert Strebigs... Dr. and Mrs. James Sears over from Forest Grove, having enjoyed a grand winter in Florida... Don and Patricia Reeger down from Portland... The Reeger recently purchased a new home in Southwest Portland and during their vacation are busy planting their lawn and garden... The LeRoy Grotes and children over from Prineville... Carolyn pouring one hour and striking in a greige faille taffeta gown with portrait neckline... Mrs. Frank C. Rock Jr. of Hollywood coming in with her mother, Mrs. Paul Morse... as her husband was his brother's best man.
