If the $40,000 isn't subscribed during the current drive, baseball is doomed here whether the Senators win the pennant or not. Drive Boss Hunt Clark says the total is up to the $20,000 level at present. Consequently quite a push is needed. Let's push . . . As things now stand, the Salem-Portland Beavers baseball biggie, rained out of its June 29 date here, will be rescheduled for next month on a Monday night. If both the Senators and Beavers are still rolling in high gear at that time, look for a real wow of a night at the gate . . . Village Rassler Tony Ross has become a Salem Senators stockholder, and not unlike others who are interested in hatching ways and means of accelerating attendance, Anthony comes up with this idea: Nine rasslers, including himself, and all attired in their grappling gear, going against the local South Salem Merchants Girls' team in a threeinning softball game prior to a regular Senators mix. "Youve never seen nothin' till you see us guys play softball," says Tony . . . #### Calgary to Get Only $200 Guarantee

Calgary incentive for club boosters to turn out en masse for the State Employees Association "night" Tuesday-Calgary gets only the $200 guarantee for the Stampeders' part in the evening. Senator coffers absorb all the rest. How come? When the date was originated, Luby contacted Calgary officials and asked to swap a "guarantee game" with them. "You work up something big for yourselves one night when we play there, offered the bossman, "and we'll play for the guarantee of $200 that night. In return, we'll do the same here and you'll get only the guarantee."

Calgary Biz Boss Walt Brock okehed it, and State Employees' Night is the Senators' portion of the swap.

The Salem Senators vs. Tri-City Braves baseball warfare resumes tonight at Waters Field, the start of an 11-game home stand for Hugh Luby's first half WI League champions.

After playing the first three games of their week-long series at Kennewick, the two rival clubs have solos booked for tonight and Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock, and a closing doubleheader at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

After the three games at Tri-City with Edo Vanni's argumentive athletes, the series now stands at one win for Salem, two for Tri-City. Which is unusual to say the least, for the Senators prior to this week won 20 of 22 games. The season count to date between the clubs is 10 wins for Salem, 5 for Tri-City. with 11 left to play.

Nothing special in the way of an added attraction tonight-unless Senator followers feel the urge to give the provocative Vanni the razzberry, Brooklyn species, during the course of the evening.

But on Saturday night it's to be "Group Night", with a special cash award from Dana's Bootery going to the largest group pre-sent. The "group" can be fam-ily lodge company ate just so ily, lodge, company, etc., just so Monday will see the start of the

No Sense in Getting Irked at Padre Bosses

We suppose folks interested in the welfare of the Senators could get awfully mad at one Bill Starr, and another J. Francis (Lefty) O'Doul of the San Diego Padres for recalling Milt Smith. 'Specially so when it's realized that Starr promised Boss Luby that he wouldn't take Smith from us until the end of the WIL season, if at all possible.

But that's what must be feared at all times when a player is on 24-hour-recall option: He can be snatched away pronto. As far as the Senators are concerned, Smith simply hit just too dang much for 'em. couver That near-400 average of his, plus the fact that San Diego isn't doing well in PCL play, brought about the Starr-O'Doul decision to take him back.

No use getting mad about it. Won't help a bit. Let's just be thankful we had the Negro lad as long as we did, and for what he did while here. Besides, O'Doul and Starr might up and send someone else along who will help plenty as a replacement.
