STAYTON — Winners in the five children's divisions of the Bean Festival's Pet Parade Thursday (from Stayton unless otherwise specified) were as follows:

Pet Division
Gail Anderson, first, portraying the old man of the mountain with dog and raccoon, Tommy Novack, second, a Shetland pony; and John, Karen and Karen Vandriche, third, with their cage of 11 day-old puppies.

Novelty Division
Sandra Angel, first, a colored mamie; Tony and Timmy Christensen, second, south-sea islanders; and Janet Phillips and Sharon Angel, third, the rabbit and the tortoise.

Wheeled Division
Michael Hughes and Richard Hoffman, first, imitating a horse pulling a buggy; six children of the Etzel brothers of Independence, second, in their float entitled "A Barrel of Fun," and Roseanne Henrikson, third, a tricycle and trailer.

Handmaking Division
Gary Hann and other playmates from Aumsville on a "playmate float," first; Allen Jacoby, second with twin kittens in a cage entitled, "Which Twin Has the Toby?"; and Dennis Teeters and Bonnie Christianson, both of Mehanza, third, pulling a baby in a pumpkin.

Children's Float Division
Richard Clarkson, Ronnie Clarkson and Sherrie Christmas, first, in a buggy top; Jimmy Lindsey and Kathy McGill, second, portraying Little Black Sambo replete with pancakes and syrup; and Douglas Edwards and Bill Hicks, third, with their decorated wagon.

Judges for the parade were representatives of the Silverton Lions Club.

Gen. Hershey Will Visit in Salem Today

MaJ. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, will arrive here about 10 a.m. today. He and his wife are driving from San Francisco. General Hershey will visit Col. Elmer Wooten, director of selective service here during the war, and at 12:30 he and Mrs. Hershey will be luncheon guests of the Salem selective service unit at the Marion Hotel. Gov. and Mrs. Paul Patterson, with MaJ. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, also will be guests.

Following the luncheon, the Hersheys will motor to Portland.

EUB Gives $40,000 for Mission Units

PORTLAND — The Oregon Washington conference of the Evangelical United Brethren was told here Thursday that its churches gave more than $40,000 to missions the past year.

The Rev. Floyd F. Sartwell, conference director of missions, said at the annual meeting the total exceeded the goal set. He said new Oregon missions have been launched at Jennings Lodge and Crawfordsville.

The meeting will continue Friday.

Newberg Woman Injured in Mishap On St. Paul Road

NEWBERG — Mrs. Ida F. Williams, 33, of Newberg Route 1, suffered a possible fractured left wrist and a shoulder injury when her car plunged into a ditch on the Salem-St. Paul Highway near Eldridge School Thursday.

Her two young sons were unhurt.

Mrs. Williams was taken to Willamette Hospital, Newberg, by Willamette Ambulance Service. She told ambulance attendants that she was passing a truck when the accident occurred.

Woodworkers Ask for Union Of CIO, AFL

SEATTLE — Officers of the International Woodworkers' Washington - Oregon Plywood District called for labor unity to meet perplexing problems as the 8th annual convention opened Thursday.

"CIO - AFL unity is essential, even though there are many obstacles to overcome," the officers' report of President Burk Christie, Vice President R. N. Kepner and Gordon Johnson, secretary - treasurer, said.

Only by uniting, the report declared, can labor meet growing problems raised by the national administration and industrial "pressure" groups.

The officers also expressed dissatisfaction with bargaining results this year for the 7,000 CIO-plywood, box shock and door workers they represent in the two states and advised stronger regional bargaining measures. Negotiations this year brought no wage raises, although the wage clause in the contract is still open.

Mayor Allan Pomeroy welcomed the 50 delegates. IWA International President A. F. Hartung is among the listed speakers during the three-day sessions.

He Will Be Well Housebroke Right From the Start

DETROIT — Douglas Donald Moore, 20, wore a 15-pound ball chained to his right ankle when he got his marriage license Thursday.

Moore, an apprentice sheet metal worker at the Cadillac Division of General Motors, had this explanation: "It's traditional among my friends. I can't take it off until the wedding."

He will be wed Saturday to Barbara Elizabeth Martin, 18, his high school sweetheart.

Jet Bursts Into Fire After Belly Stop at Portland

PORTLAND — An F-94 jet fighter-interceptor plane burst into flame at the airport here Thursday after an emergency landing.

Lt. Robert E. Kline, the pilot, and Lt. Donald J. Trzysala, radar operator, ran to safety before the fire started in the engine section at the tail.

Their plane and three other F-94s returning from a routine training flight were coming in for landings when Kline noticed an engine was dead. He decided to land with gear up to avoid throwing sparks which might cause fire.

$2,000 in Goods Stolen From Home

PORTLAND — Furs, silverware and jewelry valued at more than $2,000 were taken by burglars who broke into the home of Barney Kaye here early Thursday.

Police said the burglars broke a lock on an armor-plated door guarding a $7,500 liquor collection, but that the liquor was not touched.

Accountants Slate Portland Meeting

PORTLAND — The National Society of Public Accountants will open its five-day annual convention here next Monday.

L. M. Taylor, Portland, national treasurer, is convention committee chairman. He is assisted by James E. Keys, Salem, immediate past national president.

Mt. Etna Belches Lava, Hot Ashes

CATANIA, Sicily — Lava rose today in the volcanic throat of Mt. Etna and hot ashes drifted over nearby villages.

The volcano last erupted in December, 1951.

DRUNK DRIVING CHARGED

A Turner man, William A. Rankin, was arrested by city police Thursday night on a charge of driving while intoxicated and was being held in lieu of $250 bail.

Police said Rankin's car was involved in a minor accident prior to his arrest.

CHILD FOUND SAFE

CLARKSTON, Wash. (AP) — Five-year-old Gary Gropp, who was the object of a city-wide search, was found late Thursday night locked in a cool box a block from his home. He had been a prisoner for more than 12 hours.

Alcoholic Hurt In Leap From Clinic Window

A 51-year-old Lebanon man was seriously injured early Thursday morning when he jumped from a second-story window of a Salem hospital.

Police said he was an alcoholic and he was committed to Oregon State Hospital.

When police arrived at the hospital shortly after 1 a.m., three nurses were scuffling with the man, who was unclothed, on the sidewalk. He was subdued and returned to the hospital.

He suffered a broken right collar bone, fractured ribs and several cuts of the body in the leap, police said.

Hospital attendants said the man was admitted about 9 p.m. Wednesday with a severe cut on his hand. At that time it was not known he was an alcoholic.

About 1:10 a.m. he jumped out of bed and through the window when he thought nurses were going to take his watch, said police.

McKay Buys Lot for Sale Of Used Cars

Used car operations for the Douglas McKay Chevrolet Company will soon be situated at the southeast corner of Union and North Commercial Streets as a result of a $39,000 property sale filed Wednesday with the Marion County recorder's office.

Sale involves purchase by the company of property now housing Lemmon's Market, owned by Oral M. Lemmon. The purchase completes the McKay holdings along the entire block between Union and Marion Streets fronting on North Commercial Street.

The grocery store is to be vacated by Saturday, according to Lemmon.

Logging Firm Contests Road Tax on Trailer

The question whether a logging trailer, as such, should be considered a vehicle, as outlined in the state motor transportation code, is being aired in a suit filed Thursday with the Marion County Circuit Court.

The suit was lodged by the Roseburg Lumber Company against Charles H. Heltzel as public utilities commissioner.

A complaint by the logging firm alleging they have paid a highway use tax in 1952 for transport of their logging trailers along public roads is involved in the suit. The trailers, as defined by the company, are towed by tractors or power units and the plaintiff contends that the trailers, by themselves, cannot use the highways and therefore should not be classified as "motor vehicles." The plaintiff seeks reimbursement for tax paid on them through 1952.

Police Recover Missing Guns

Two guns and 12 by 10-foot tarpaulin stolen from a barn at the rear of 2105 N. Front St. Thursday afternoon were recovered by city police a short while later along the river bank.

Police said several transients were seen in the area about the time of the theft. The guns were a .38 rifle and a .410 shotgun.

Peck Avenue Paving Strip Breaking Up

Pavement in the 2700 block of Peck Avenue is cracking in several places, according to a complaint registered Thursday with the Marion County Court.

"This deterioration is a direct result of putting sub grading and laying a mat on it without letting the sub-grade settle properly," said County Commissioner Ed Rogers. The matter was referred to the county engineer for inspection.

In another complaint before the court Thursday, Max Alford said that a county grader had pushed rock laid in front of his home south of Salem further down the road and consequently clogged a culvert leading to his property. This matter also was referred to the engineer.

In 1921 all but 364 of America's 65,000 locomotives were steam powered.

'Bootlegging' Cabbies Nailed In Portland

PORTLAND — Police here began a crackdown Thursday on what they said was bootlegging by taxicab drivers.

The vice squad swore out warrants against 17 drivers on evidence it said was obtained in liquor purchases made since June 24. The drivers were charged with illegal sale of liquor.

Nine of them surrendered on advice of their taxicab companies. Each was released under $1,000 bail. The others were expected to be arrested later.

Roseburg Gets Medford TV

WASHINGTON — The Communications Commission Thursday took television channel 4 from Medford, Ore., and gave it to Roseburg, Ore. Medford still has channel 5 assigned to it. Roseburg al-

Two Escapees Still at Large

Escapees from two state institutions—a trusty from Oregon State Penitentiary and a 16-year-old inmate of MacLaren School for Boys — were still at large Thursday, state police reported. Both made their getaway Wednesday.

Convict Charles McCabe, 26, walked away from his job at the guard's tailor shop outside the prison walls. He was doing a three-year term for burglary.

from Multnomah County. State police said he has relatives in New York state, and may be headed East.

Missing from MacLaren School is Fred Raymond Green of Portland, serving time from Clackamas County for burglary.

Delake Court Justice Named

TAFT, Ore. — The appointment of James E. Hammack, Taft, as justice of the peace for the Delake justice court was announced here Thursday.

Hammack, appointed by Gov. Paul Patterson, succeeds A. E. McIntire, who resigned July 15 because of ill health. Hammack is city recorder here.

so retains channel 28, previously assigned.
