Banks Authorized To Make Loans On Forest Tracts

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower signed legislation Saturday amending the Federal Reserve Act to authorize national banks to make loans on forest tracts.

The loans would be secured by first liens upon forest tracts which have been properly managed. They would not exceed 40 per cent of the value of the marketable timber offered as security.

The legislation was sponsored by Sen. Gordon (R-Ore) and Rep. Ellsworth (R-Ore).

Former Salem Resident Dies At Marysville

Mrs. Taylor lived in Salem for many years, but had spent part of the past several years in California. She was the widow of the late John S. Taylor, who died here several years ago. Mrs. Taylor was employed at one time at Miller's Store in Salem.

At the time of her death she still retained the family residence at 525 N. 19th St. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Salem. Funeral services took place Friday in Marysville and interment followed at a cemetery near Gridley, Calif., where Mrs. Taylor had lived as a girl.

Surviving are daughters, Mrs. C. A. Lewis, Salem, and Mrs. John Harriger, Marysville; a son, John C. Taylor, Portland, and several grand, great and great-grandchildren.

Chemeketans Scale Heights Of Yosemite

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK —Each day has offered new adventures to Salem's Chemeketans who are in their second week of camping at Tuolumne Meadows here. The outing club will return to Salem Sunday.

Even a wild bear has contributed to the excitement of the 23rd annual outing. Early one morning Bill Langston, camp handyman and fisherman, found a large bruin taking his dinner from the camp's garbage can.

Hikes to Cathedral Pass and down Yosemite Creek to the Yosemite Valley were followed by a trip to Glen Aulin Falls and to Vogelsang High Sierra Camp.

Those making the trip to Vogelsang which is one of the five High Sierra Camps were Eloise Ebert, Echo Yeater, Irene Hollenbeck, Frank Post, Margaret Peper, Bernice Lehrman, George and Edith LaBorde. Vogelsang Peak, 11,511 feet, was climbed by the latter four. Eight members of the Salem group also visited Elizabeth Lake where they found a clear view of Unicorn Peak.

The Chemeketans' artist Carol Sherman, Gertrude Cheney and Adolph Greenbaum have found the Park a paradise for sketching material.

Other trips have been made to Devils Post Pile and Agnew Meadows. Future trips, before the group returns to Salem, will include Mono Pass trail to Saddlebag Lakes.

Camp will break up Saturday and the group will return to Salem Sunday.

Sale of Entire Holstein Herd Due Monday

By LILLIE L. MADSEN
Farm Editor, The Statesman

MT. ANGEL—Because he has been called into the service, Bernard Vandecovering of Mt. Angel is going to sell his entire herd of Holsteins at his farm 2½ miles southeast of here, Monday, Aug. 17. The sale will start at 11 a.m. and lunch is being served on the grounds.

Included in the sale are 30 milking cows and 20 heifers, all sired by or bred to Nugget Dandy Korndyke, son of the world record cow, Nugget Walker Korndyke.

Besides cattle will go the farm machinery, as says Bernard, "this will be old and rusty if left around the farm until I get back."

J. W. Adams, secretary-treasurer of the Oregon State Holstein Association, who was here to look over the herd and help make arrangements for the sale, also briefly discussed plans for the Holstein breed at the state fair. Entries close Aug. 21.

The directors of the state association have voted, he reported, to pay the same premiums as voted for county herds by the state fair. That is the club will meet the state's money if two or more herds are shown. Entries close Aug. 21. Bill, as Adams is known in the dairy world, says, he urged all Holstein growers to back up the county herd proposition.

It's understood, he added, that the Jerseymen are staging a big comeback at this year's fair, and the Holstein folk don't want to lose out "on the gain they've made."

Another feature of the Holsteins at the state fair is the calf selection event which will be repeated this year, Bill says. This event has in recent years been popular with the youngsters at the fair—besides spreading considerable Holstein gospel, Bill added, as he urged breeders to get their calves ready.

Test Set for Vote Machines

A special demonstration of the Automatic Voting Machine will be given in room 354 of the Senator hotel Aug. 19, from 9 to 5, it was announced Saturday.

Demonstrator will be Hess Viney, from Seattle, chief custodian of approximately 1,500 voting machines.

The state legislature this year agreed to allow counties to purchase voting machines so long as the machines were mechanically workable. Gov. Paul Patterson said Tuesday that the Board of Control would not recommend any machines to the counties, but only inspect them as required by the law to see if they are workable.

Y Girls Hike 2½ Miles to Creek Falls

Girls attending their annual Y camp at Silver Creek highlighted mid-week activities with a 2½ mile hike from South to North Silver Creek Falls.

Robin May and Madelyn Morse, both of Salem, proved the ablest hikers, counselors said, while Helen Faulkner was voted the most resourceful. Helen, from Chemawa, suffered from blisters, so she removed her shoes and continued barefooted.

A Weiner and marshmallow roast climaxed the day.

Thursday was another busy day. Each unit rode to the South Falls on the big "Y" truck and took the 2½ mile hike under the South and Lower South Falls. Unit Leaders Dorothy Hansen and Jean Lidbeck hiked twice as far with their group because they chose the wrong trail coming back.

Friday a large group hiked up to Kruggs Cabin while others rode horseback, stayed at camp swimming or worked on handicraft and camp craft projects.

That night the girls had a "dress up" contest, vying for prizes for the "cleverest hat," "prettiest costume" and "most original costume." Patsy Stevenson and Sandy Cords won honors.

Judged outstanding swimmer last week was a Salem girl, Barbara Brooks. Girls enjoying the daily bridge trails are Carolyn Speerstra and Mary Kay Davis, both of Salem. Many others have also found horseback riding a popular sport.

Handiwork rivals the many daily activities as the most popular in camp. The craft shop is always crowded with girls busy weaving "gimp."
