series. The win was one long in arriving for the Braves, as they of Pacific City, are the only ones of their kind on the Northwest had dropped their previous 11 coast. Haystack rock is in the background only three-eighths of straight outings. a mile off shore.

The series windup tonight will Our trip last Thursday out through the surf to Haystack Rock was interesting if not fruitful. We arrived at Ralph Adams place in Pacific City at 6:00 a.m. and found the coast fog bound. We sat around until about nine o'clock for the fog to lift enough to there will be no admission see the rock. It finally lifted and the dory was launched through charged. Park gates will open at the surf . . . It was far easier than we had imagined. Not much seven o'clock and fans will be more difficult than shoving off from the beach on East lake. We seated on a first-come-firstrounded the rock and our good friend Emory Lebold managed served basis anywhere but in the to tag a sea bass. He came up a few minutes later with another box pews. Barrels will be placed convenibass and then a couple of flounders.

Unfortunately, after a half hour of fishing a sudden sou'wester built up and it was time to hit for the beach. We came in under skilled hands much like a surf board. It was fun and different from any of the other boating we have done. We were disappointed of course, that we could not stay out and fish, but we'd much rather come in and stay alive to fish another day . . .

The recent announcement of the 1953 waterfowl regulations has spread many a grin across the faces of the scatter gunners. The new shooting hours which take us up to sundown instead of the one hour before rule that has been in force for so long, will re-instate that long shelved thrill of the evening flight.

One of the biggest thrills that we ever had from waterfowl shooting was that last half-hour before sunset when the birds are beginning to move in large numbers and preparing to settle for the night. We only hope that the duck population is strong enough to warrant the extra evening shooting hour.

We get a longer season by five days. We get three more ducks in our bag allowance and one more honker. All in all it would appear that the waterfowler has plenty to grin over. And-one of the biggest grins rests on the face of your writer. It was caused by the one little sentence, "An experimental season will be allowed on Wilson or jack-snipe.'

It'll Be Fun to Again Shoot 'Jacks'

Oh brother! It has been so long since we pulled the string on a jack-snipe that we doubt very much if our aim will be any better than it was years ago. The little long-billed flying corkscrew will cause many a hunter to wonder if his gun barrel is in the eighth inning amounted to the crooked or if some jokester emptied the shot from his shells. the tally the T-City troupe got in out 14 blows in whipping Berg's, of They're a fine eating little bird and we know of no flying shore that frame. PORTLAND (Special) - The most colorful pageantry in the six-year history of the game will be in evidence Saturday prior to the 6th Annual Shrine Football Game for the benefit of the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children.

More marching and musical units than ever before will take part in the huge panoramic spectacle on the field before game time, and will start their portion of the program at approximately 7:30 p.m. Kickoff for the game will take place at eight o'clock, and will send the Oregon All-Stars against the Portland All-Stars, both squads made up of the state's outstanding senior prep football players of last season.

Both squads are in the midst of their second week of twicea-day drills here and will begin tapering off practice sessions Thursday. The Upstate squad is under the guidance of Pete Susick, head coach at Marshfield High. The Portland team is mentored by Harry Scharf, coach of the Central Catholic Rams of Portland.

Plenty of wide-open football is expected during the game, as both teams have excellent open field running threats, and fine passers. This week's workouts have indicated that both sides will toss plenty of passes in the clash.

The little jack always afforded relaxation during the midday hours when the duck flight was stilled. It was pleasant to get out into the marsh for a leg stretch and a shot at a gyrating snipe.

We've heard old time gunners, claim that snipe were not so hard to hit after one got the hang of it. Trouble is when it came to actual shooting we never saw one that had lived long enough to get the hang of it.
