Final Step in Sewer Project Due This Fall

The last step in diverting Sa-lem's sewage from the Willamette River to the city's new sewage disposal plant will be taken this fall, City Manager J. L. Fran-Preliminary work has already begun on a site at South Church Street near the Mill Stream where the city will build a lift station to carry a small amount Fresh killed young turkeys. To of sewage to the plant via the This area, said Franzen, is serviced by old sewage pipes and is the only area which still sends its sewage to the Willamette. When completed a few sewage pipes will be reconverted and a small lift and pump station will be built, similar, but much smaller, Franzen said, to the West Salem station which sends its sewage to the Salem disposal

Thus far, only scrubbage has been cleared away, and a few pipes repaired.

Franzen said several other similar lift stations might be built in the city later on.
