

Miss Nancy Ann Miller Married To Paul Hawkins at Church Rites

(Picture on Page 1)

In one of the most impressive wedding ceremonies of the summer season Miss Nancy Ann Miller, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Burr Miller, exchanged her wedding vows with Paul S. Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Hawkins of Astoria, in the beautiful sanctuary of St. Joseph's Catholic Church on Saturday morning.

It was at 11 o'clock that the Rev. Joseph Vanderbeck officiated at the nuptial mass before a large gathering of friends and relatives of the couple, many coming from out-of-town. Wayne Meusey and Corrin Alexander were the soloists with Mr. Meusey playing the organ accompaniment.

Jon Michael Miller, the bride's brother and Donald Wichman were the altar boys. Bouquets of white gladioluses and larkspur banked the altar and clusters of the flowers marked the alternate pews.

The pretty, brunette bride was a picture in her exquisite gown of white nylon tulle and Chantilly lace as she walked down the center aisle on the arm of her father to meet her bridegroom, who was waiting at the chancel rail with his best man, William Kirby. The gown was designed with a molded bodice of lace with long sleeves and a shallow V-neckline edged in white nylon tulle. From the wide pleated waist band extended a lace paneled tier over a sweeping tulle skirt and cotillion train. Her two-tiered illusion veil cascaded from a coronet of rhinestones and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and bouvardia.

Attendants Wear White
Preceding the bride to the altar were five pretty attendants all wearing identical frocks of white nylon tulle over taffeta with lace bodice fashioned with tiny cap sleeves, boat shaped necklines and pleated waist bands. The very full two tiered tulle skirt length skirts were worn over organdy petticoats. They wore matching lace mitts and small, scalloped lace tiaras. For color accent the girls wore pink shantung shoes and carried French nosegays of pink demure roses and pink bouvardia.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Lawrence of Pendleton was the honor maid and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Vance McKenney of Astoria, sister of the groom, Mrs. James B. Miller, the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. James A. Rock of Corvallis and Miss Nancy Collins of Portland.

Seating the guests were James B. Miller, John P. Maloney and Donald Vance McKenney, the groom's brothers-in-law from Astoria, Robert Altman and Kenneth Wagner of Portland and Richard K. Morse of Eugene.

For her daughter's nuptials Mrs. Miller selected a waltz length gown of amber brown Chantilly lace over taffeta with moss green shoes and satin ribbon headdress. She pinned a green orchid to her gown. Mrs. Hawkins chose an antique grey lace gown for her son's marriage with matching satin pill box hat and shoes. Her corsage was a pink orchid.

Reception In The Garden
The newlyweds greeted their guests at a large reception in the garden of the bride's parents home on North 19th Street. Presiding at the urns were Mesdames George Foster, Emma Boyce and Lillian Holmes of Portland, aunts of the bride, Douglas Jeero of Portland, the groom's aunt, Herbert J. Darby of Portland, George S. Hoffman and John Caughell. Cutting the cake were Mesdames John P. Maloney, Astoria, James Anderson and Palmer Macdonald of Portland and John Carson.

Assisting about the garden and serving were Mesdames David Crockett and James Harding, Portland, Robert Jones, Corvallis, Richard Lee, William F. Johnson, Jay McMurrin, Misses Ann Gerlinger, Dallas, Ashlie Dixon and Patricia Howard, Portland, Jane Slocum and Mary Waddell, Lebanon, Barbara Keelan, San Francisco, Beverly Moor, Eugene, Elaine Stanley, Norman Camfield and Bernice Imlah.

The couple will spend their honeymoon at Carmel, Calif. and for traveling the new Mrs. Hawkins donned a beige suit and hat and with bronze shoes and corsage of bronze cymbidium orchids. After September 15 Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins will be at home at 719 East 17th Street, Eugene, where the groom will continue his studies at the University of Oregon.

Visitors in the capital the past few weeks have been Mrs. Murray Cameron and daughters, Sharon and Donna, of Sacramento, Calif., who have been guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Eason. Major Cameron, accompanied his family to Oregon. (Kennell-Ellis Studio).
