Dental School Ruled Distinct From U. of O.

Marion County Circuit Judge Rex Kimmell ruled Thursday that the dental school of the University of Oregon shall be a distinct and separate department of the state system of higher education. Judge Kimmell's opinion came in the form of a declaratory decree in a test suit involving the state and the state system.

Members of the state emergency board sought court action to determine if funds derived from the sale of the dental school property should revert to the state's general fund or be added to funds allocated for a new dental school building in the medical center in Portland.

Under Judge Kimmell's decision all funds of the dental school are controlled solely by the Board of Higher Education, which will operate the dental school.

Chief Justice Takes Jonell Hill As Administrative Assistant

Jonel C. Hill, for two years chief indexer for the code revision council, Thursday was sworn in by Chief Justice Earl C. Latourette of the State Supreme Court as administrative assistant to the chief justice.

The new position was created by the 1953 Legislature in a law designed to reduce congestion in circuit courts of the state.

The law is patterned after the New Jersey statute which has reduced the time of disposing of ordinary lawsuits from approximately a year to five months.

Grants Power
The law grants power to the chief justice to limit the length of time a matter before a circuit judge may be held under advisement.

It also makes it the duty of the chief justice to collect, compile and publicize statistics dealing with business of the circuit courts from time to time as well as prepare a report for the legislature every two years.

Hill will visit all circuit courts in the state and ascertain the length of time cases have been under advisement.

Must Make Reports
Circuit court judges and clerks, under the law, are required to make reports to the chief justice. Latourette said at a meeting of the Oregon Bar Association, the date for which has not been determined, circuit judges will be given an opportunity to meet the new administrator. Justice Latourette will outline details of the new program.

The law also strengthens authority of the chief justice to assign circuit judges to outside districts where the work of the court is behind schedule.

Relieve Congestion
"I feel certain that congestion in many circuit courts will be relieved when the program is in operation," Justice Latourette said.

Hill graduated from the St. Paul College of Law and was admitted to the Minnesota state bar in 1951. He came to Oregon the next year and was admitted to the bar here in an attorneys' examination.

Following graduation Hill was on the editorial staff of the West Publishing Company of St. Paul, publisher of law books. He is married and has three children and resides in Salem.

Rearguments In Abortion Case Heard

Rearguments of attorneys in the case of Dr. George H. Buck, Portland, under five years penitentiary sentence for manslaughter-by-abortion, were heard by all seven members of the State Supreme Court Thursday.

At the time of the original arguments two members of the Supreme Court were absent.

Buck was convicted in the Multnomah County Circuit Court and later appealed to the Supreme Court.

Court members would not indicate when an opinion in the case would be handed down. Buck is at liberty on bail pending final decision of the Supreme Court.
