By DON HARGER

Jan Janicek, Salem sportsman proudly displays a 16-pound Kamloops Rainbow taken on a recent trip into the Quesnel Lake area of Canada's British Columbia. Quesnel Lake is becoming a popular fishing spot for many Salem anglers. Little wonder.

The 20th century "Robin Hood" will go afield early Saturday morning, as the archery deer season opens on September 12 in Oregon. From the Tillamook area to Hart Mt. in southeastern Oregon, the bow in arrow boys and girls will be slinking through the cover in search of blacktail or mule deer. Probably the largest number of archers yet to take the field after deer will venture forth this year, as it seems obvious that archery is becoming more popular with each season. Numerous back yards and around Salem boost by sales supporting targets and rubber balloons and arrows. The twanging of bow strings is getting to be almost as common as the dry-firing of rifles. . . . The "Goin' After 'em" hat is doffed to the archers who, although they may be stepping back a few hundred years in the matter of weapons, are nonetheless a bit in advance when it comes to hunting for the sheer sport of the hunt. No 300 to 500 yard "miracle" shots in this league. You stalk your deer for a close in shot or you just don't shoot.

The approaching deer season also calls to mind that perhaps in the rifle league there will be a few more casualties on the score sheet when the shooting is over. We certainly would like to see a different slant, too, this year on accidents which are headlined "Hunting Accidents" but which are distantly related to the actual hunting.

Hunting Getting Undeserved Black Eye

Take for example a man on his way to a football game. He is unfortunate enough to be killed in an automobile accident. You never see "SEASON'S FIRST FOOTBALL FATALITY" stretched across the front page of your local newspaper. But put that same gentleman in an automobile, put a red hat on him and place a gun in the car. The death immediately becomes, "ONE DEAD IN HUNTING ACCIDENT."

An ardent hunter may succumb to a heart attack while climbing a mountain side to reach a deer stand. That death, too, is attributed to hunting. If the same person were to have the heart attack while pushing a golf cart up a short hill it certainly would not be chalked up as a golfing death.

The overall picture of these accidental deaths attributed to hunting aids in giving hunting a black eye. It gives certain groups and individuals a wedge with which they constantly attempt legislation making it mandatory to have all firearms registered, or other similar gun laws which have nothing at all to do with hunting.

There are, unfortunately, too many accidents that can be attributed to hunting. Too many hunters are killed or injured each year by trigger happy individuals who either shoot without looking or shoot first and then go for a look at what they shot. Who knows — it may have had horns. It is bad enough without having to add accidents which would probably have taken place whether or not hunting season was at hand . . .

Few Geese Spotted in Willamette Valley

Whether or not it is an indication of one thing or another we can't say, but a few geese have been observed in the Willamette Valley at this early date. Not too many, mind you, but enough to start the waterfowl corpusesle jumping around a bit.

Salmon are beginning to enter the bays now on their pre-spawning runs. They'll begin to jam up before too long in the salt awaiting the first heavy rains to raise the stream levels so they may travel on up into the fresh water spawning beds.

It is the season for the shore fisherman and the "bay troller" to get in their ticks on the silvers and chinooks. Jack salmon too, are running in many of the coastal streams although October will see the heaviest runs of the precocious youngsters. You can sharpen your hooks now and hit for the coast. The salmon will be there waiting for you. All you have to do is catch 'em.

OSC Tackle Hurt

CORVALLIS — Jim Luster, 220-pound tackle, missed the Oregon State football practice session Thursday because of a leg injury. Coach Kip Taylor said he expected Luster back next week. Afternoon and evening drills were held with passing featured in both sessions.

COUGARS WORK

PULLMAN — Lots of drills but only light contact work made up the schedule for the Washington State football Cougars for the second day in a row Thursday.

Senators Dropped in Playoff Opener

Vikings, Cards Slated for Opening Football Clashes

Spokane Registers 4-2 Win; Roenspie to Pitch Tonight

FERRIS FIELD, Spokane — (Special) — The Spokane Indians grabbed the first game of the Western International League championship playoff series with the Salem Senators here Thursday night, beating the Solons' 23-game winning mound ace Joe Nicholas, 4 to 2. A crowd of 2,161 watched the clash.

Manager Don Osborn of the second-half pennant winning Tribe pulled a surprise when he started Virgil Giavannoni, a hard-throwing righthander. But it turned out to be a wise move, as Giavannoni held the Solons to six hits and no earned runs. He walked but one—that on purpose—and fanned seven. The hurler joined the Spokane club late in the regular season and compiled a 2-2 record.

Nicholas yielded but six hits also, but one was a fourth inning home run by Jim Command over the 375-foot right-center fence which put Spokane ahead 1-0. Two Runs in Sixth.

The Senators finally got to Giavannoni in the sixth, scoring two runs. With one out Gene Tanselli singled to center. Manager Hugh Luby then flied out. Jimmy Deyo grounded to Command at third, and he threw badly to first. As First-sacker Carl Bush continued to fumble the ball, after chasing it down, Tanselli scored and Deyo went to second. Jerry Ballard then singled in Deyo with a drive down the left field line.

This was all the scoring the Solons were to do. Both Nicholas and Tanselli singled in the seventh, but Luby flied out to end this threat.

Salem actually gave the game away in the Spokane sixth with a walk and two errors. With one out Nicholas walked Giavannoni, after which Eddie Murphy grounded to third and Connie Perez booted the ball.

Off-Field Triple

Then Wilbur Johnson sliced a drive to his off-field, the ball bounding down the right field foul line for a triple and scoring two runs. Johnson broke for home on the relay, and scored easily when Luby threw badly to the plate for another error.

Tanselli with two hits led the Solons at bat. Deyo with a double and Uerez, Ballard and Nicholas with singles were the only others to get bingles off Giavannoni.

Pitchers for the second game of the series here Friday night will be Gene Roenspie for the Senators and Lefty Art Worth for the Indians. Following Saturday night's third game here the teams switch to Salem for the final games of the 4-of-7 series, with the first at Salem starting Sunday at 2:30 o'clock.

Sullins Tops Thursday Fair Rodeo Action

Sherman Sullins of San Diego, Calif., notched a pair of firsts to lead the pack in action at the State Fair Rodeo Thursday night. Sullins won both the calf roping and bulldogging go-arounds.

Two Salem men placed in the Thursday action, Mack MacPherson, taking second in bulldogging with a time of 14.7 and Lawrence DeWitt taking third in calf roping with a 15.7 time.

Jack Spurling of Portland won the bulldogging competition and second was Dave Mason of Los Gatos, Calif. Walt Sullins of San Diego and Jack Middleton, Redding, Calif., shared honors in the bareback riding and Billy Wickland of Halfway, Ore., was first in saddle bronc action. Ellie Lewis, Alberta, Canada, was runner-up in saddle bronc riding.

Rudie Dusset, Phoenix, Ariz., was second in calf roping with a 15.3 time. Frank Findley, Nampa, Ida., was third man in bulldogging with an 18:00 time.

The rodeo resumes with another performance tonight, starting at 8 o'clock.

Senators Business Manager Deke Walker announced Thursday that general admission tickets, at regular season prices, are now on sale for Sunday's game at Wickland's Sporting Goods Store, 372 State Street.

SEATTLE SIGNS AIDE

SEATTLE — Bob Hedequist, basketball star at Seattle University three years ago, will return to the school this fall as assistant to Head Basketball Coach Al Brightman.

Sal Maglie of the Giants is the only National League pitcher to hold an edge over every rival NL team in lifetime records.

Terrible Ted Belts Two More . . .

Amazing 1,000 Slugging Average for Williams

BOSTON — Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox ran his slugging average over 1,000 Thursday with two home runs against the Cleveland Indians.

Slugging averages are figured by dividing the number of times at bat for a player into the number of total bases he has gotten on all hits. A perfect score—a home run every time at bat—would be 4.000.

Since returning from the marines Williams has been at bat 60 times and has collected 26 hits good for 61 total bases. His slugging average is 1.017. His batting average is .443. His 26 hits include 11 home runs, two doubles and 13 singles.

The two homers Thursday raised Williams' lifetime major league total to 334. Ted currently ranks seventh among all-time home batters.

MacPhail Files Against Track

BALTIMORE — Larry MacPhail Thursday filed two suits against the operators of Bowie Race Track asking a total of $257,148.43.

The former head of the southern Maryland track asked $200,000 based on an agreement he alleged existed between himself and the track management calling for payment to him of 5 per cent of the difference in gross income at the track between a period when he was not in charge and the period during which he operated Bowie.

All Smiles as 1953 Season Gets Started

The Salem High Viking coaching staff of (l-r) Hank Juran, Lee Gustafson, Ken Brophy, Don DuBois and Al Gray appear to have no worries as the '53 campaign poised for a start. The Vikings tonight unveil at Portland against Cleveland High in the Lincoln Bowl adjacent to Multnomah Stadium. Viking followers feel the Salems will have one of their strongest teams in years this season.

Bums Lose, Yanks Win; Another Bet Record Set

Cincy Delays Brook Clinch

NEW YORK — The Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday muffed their first chance to clinch at least a tie for the 1953 National League pennant.

Needing only a single victory to guarantee them a share of the flag, the Dodgers bowed to the sixth place Cincinnati Redlegs 6-5 in 11 innings.

The Reds pounded Brooklyn pitching for 18 hits and should have won in nine or at the most 10 innings. But the winning run finally came in the 11th as Clem Labine forced it home with a walk when the bases were loaded.

The Reds also loaded the bases in the ninth with none out, but didn't score, and wasted a golden opportunity by poor base running in the 10th.

Wayne Belardi, part-time first baseman for the Dodgers, hit the home run in the eighth inning that broke the league's previous all-time high for a season of 1.100 by all clubs. The season has 17 days yet to run.

The New York Yankees moved a full length closer to the American League pennant with a sparkling 10-0 verdict over the Chicago White Sox as Cleveland fell before Boston 14-4.

Webfoots Lock Gates for Drill

EUGENE — Oregon's defensive plans for its opening football game against Nebraska, Sept. 19, are a hush-hush secret.

For the second successive day the gates to the field were locked, as the team worked on its defense Thursday afternoon. The morning practice session was open to all with the team drilling on passes.

Spill Marks Fair Racing

By JERRY STONE

Statesman Sports Writer

A nasty spill and another betting record marked the fifth day of the State Fair's racing meet Thursday at Lone Oak track. The second best quinella payoff of the week also was a high point of the day.

The mishap occurred in the fifth event, the Oregon State Fair Primer, the feature race of the afternoon for a purse of $600. Jockey Harry McGahan had booted Country King, a top favorite, into a sizeable advantage on the last turn of the five-furlong affair when the horse slipped and sheared through the railing. McGahan was catapulted from his mount, struck the railing and hit the ground unconscious.

At first it was feared McGahan was seriously hurt but a check disclosed only a bad shaking up and the plucky little jockey came back to ride Gay Roost to a second place finish in the eighth race.

Country King, a highly promising two-year-old, sustained a deep cut on his left shoulder in slicing through a section of the railing and Owner A. L. Powrie said it was doubtful if the horse races anymore. Country King was in front by a couple of lengths at the time of the incident.

Wee Check, the shortest-odd entry, came on to win the feature and Christie L. was third. Jack Pollard was aboard Wee Check.

Beavers Split With Padres

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Portland and San Diego split a Pacific Coast League doubleheader here Thursday night. The Padres took the seven-inning opener, 3-2, but the Beavers came back in the second contest to win, 5-3, in 11 innings.

Frank Austin walked to lead off Portland's winning two-run rally in the 11th and advanced to second on a sacrifice. Pinch-hitter Bob Marquis drew a walk.

Al Benton replaced Padre starter Lloyd Dieckey and gave up a single to pinchhitter Fletcher Robbe, loading the bases. Hank Art came up and hit a two-run single to drive in the winning tally.

Cliff Fannin struck out six in the opener in winning his 14th victory of the year. He scattered five hits and did not issue a walk.

Aaron Robinson homered for Portland in the seventh to account for the Beaver's second score.

Al Gettel of Oakland posted his 24th hill win with a 7-4 decision at the expense of the champion Hollywoods. Seattle downed Sacramento 12-1 and San Francisco dropped Los Angeles 5-4.
