ARRIVING . . . in Salem this week for a visit will be Lt. Col. and Mrs. Howard Adams of Washington, D. C., who will be guests at the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hylen H. Corey and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Adams . . . Mrs. Adams flew to the west coast this past week and is visiting in San Carlos, Calif., with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Metz . . . Colonel Adams, who has been in Texas the past week on a special assignment, will join his wife in California this weekend . . . they are expected to arrive in Salem by mid-week . . . Kate and Howard, who formerly lived here, have a host of friends in the capital and a number of informal gatherings are being planned to welcome the couple . . .

TEA TIME . . . on Wednesday when the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church entertained with a beautifully arranged tea at the Elmer O. Berg home on North Summer Street . . . Another lovely early autumn day with guests strolling about the Berg garden, which overlooks the creek . . . the garden colorful with attractive furniture and dozens of begonias in bloom . . . Many taking their tea cups out on the upper terrace to enjoy the view . . . here Mrs. A. F. Marcus and Mrs. Jessie Singleton sitting at a table with the guest book for callers to sign . . . the bouquet of lavender flowers on the table just matching Mrs. Singleton's afternoon gown . . .

Exquisite bouquets . . . in the living and dining rooms and all arranged by Mrs. Russel E. Pratt . . . featuring the pink and burgundy tones to carry out the decor in the rooms . . . On the piano a striking bouquet of pink roses and gladioluses . . . our favorite of pink and maroon dahlias and another of large pink dahlias . . . The tea table centered with an arrangement of yellow and pink dahlias and Irish bell, repeating the colors in the attractive wallpaper . . .

A large group . . . of church women and friends calling during the afternoon . . . the tea given annually to launch the year's activities for the women's groups in the church . . . Mrs. Leon Barrick most enthused about her European trip and telling friends a few interesting tidbits . . . Viewing the gardens . . . Miss Dorothy Pearce and Mrs. Margaret Rosecrans . . . Pouring one hour . . . Mrs. Charles A. Sprague, who wore a becoming brown feather trimmed hat with her pean brown silk print . . . and Mrs. James T. Brand accenting her dark outfit with a royal blue chapeau . . . Mrs. Otto J. Wilson and Mrs. Glenn Fravel a duo . . . Mrs. L. V. Benson, among those assisting, and wearing a most becoming tea gown of changeable Venetian red taffeta with wide navy blue velvet belt . . . Mrs. Edward Majek in a blue gown . . . Dr. Paul N. Poling calling during the latter part of the tea and greeting the guests . . . his wife in the receiving line during the tea hours . . .

BEAUTIFUL . . . floral arrangements noted at the 40th wedding reception for which Dr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Utter were hosts a week ago today at their Oak Street residence . . . Many of the bouquets were gifts of friends and featured the red tones to carry out the ruby anniversary . . . The Utters had tried to keep the occasion a secret but a number of their close friends knew their wedding date . . . Guests . . . wishing Dr. and Mrs. Utter many more years of wedlock and a happy anniversary as they greeted them by the fireplace . . . On the mantel a stunning bouquet of red gladioluses sent by the Raphaterians, a club to which Mrs. Utter has belonged for many years . . . Dozens of red roses arranged in bouquets and nosegays about the rooms . . . On a table in the living room pictures of the couple forty years ago placed by a lovely bouquet of red roses with a love bird tucked in the center . . . Punch . . . served in the den and guests going into the dining room for wedding cake . . . napkins with the names of the couple and the years, 1913-1953, to reveal the anniversary news . . . Outstanding . . . the bouquet of burnt orange anthurium sent by Ann Munson, formerly of Salem, who now resides in Hawaii . . . and the pink gladioluses in the entrance hall, a gift from Mrs. George Will . . . The dining room table covered in ruby red satin with white roses and rubrum lilies for the centerpiece . . . The tiered cake served from the buffet . . .

The party . . . outside as well as inside . . . with a steady stream of guests calling all afternoon and during the early evening . . . Many stopping to chat on leaving and arriving . . . a beautiful, warm day with summer clothes predominating . . . and towards evening guests donning stoles with their outfits . . .

From out-of-town . . . came the Utters' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Utter and their children of Portland . . . their other three children too far away to be here for the occasion . . . Mrs. George Forge of Seattle, formerly of Salem and a longtime friend of the Utters, was down for the party . . . she remained for the week and returning with her to Seattle this weekend for a short visit were Mrs. Utter and Mrs. Marie Ling . . . From Portland came Mr. and Mrs. Merton DeLong, Mrs. Charles B. Martin, Mrs. Luella Fruit, Mrs. Helen Hamilton . . . and from Eugene, Mrs. David Graham, another former Salem resident . . .

Among the guests . . . Attorney General and Mrs. Robert Y. Thornton . . . Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Anderson . . . Justice and Mrs. James T. Brand, the Robert Baldocks, the Frank Burlinghams . . . Dr. John Griffith coming in with Dr. and Mrs. Gerald S. Backstrand as Mrs. Griffith was among those assisting . . .
