

Six-Dimensional Theory of Atom Advanced by Dutch-U.S. Physicist

By JOHN RANDOLPH
KYOTO, Japan (AP) — A theory envisioning as many as six dimensions in an atom to unravel the secret of the atom was the chief topic of discussion Monday among the world's top physicists in session here.

The theory by a brilliant young Dutch-American, Prof. Abraham Pais, goes beyond the four dimensions used by his friend and colleague, Dr. Albert Einstein, at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J.

Other scientists here cautiously praised the theory after first hearing it explained Saturday.

Reds Bring Propaganda Printing Machines Into U.S., Investigators Say

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators charged Sunday that Communist conspirators are flooding this country with propaganda and have hidden printing equipment to carry on their activities in case of war.

derground printing facilities and illegal propaganda, the Senate internal security subcommittee recommended:

"Many thousands of dollars must have been spent on equipment for the secret Communist printing plants," said Sen. Welker (R-Ia), who directed the probe.

1. That Communist and Communist-front organizations required by the Internal Security Act to register with the attorney general be required also to list all their printing equipment.

"There is strong evidence that the financing was supplied, almost wholly, from Moscow and through the diplomatic agencies of the Soviet satellites," Welker added.

2. That all diplomatic and consular officers in this country who prepare or disseminate political propaganda be required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

In a report on 336 pages of secret testimony on Communist underground printing facilities and illegal propaganda, the Senate internal security subcommittee recommended:

3. That all diplomatic and consular officers in this country who prepare or disseminate political propaganda be required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

The main speakers on this topic were Albert Ullman, Baker, Ore., president of the Idaho-Oregon-Canyon Association, Elmer McClure, Portland, state grange master, and Richard Mueller, president of the Oregon Farmers' Union.

4. That all diplomatic and consular officers in this country who prepare or disseminate political propaganda be required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

Delegates adopted a resolution calling for development of the region through low cost hydro-electric power.

5. That all diplomatic and consular officers in this country who prepare or disseminate political propaganda be required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

The convention unanimously approved a resolution opposing the appointment of State Sen. Warren Gill of Lebanon as U. S. Attorney.

7. That all diplomatic and consular officers in this country who prepare or disseminate political propaganda be required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

The CIO accused Gill of being opposed to equal civil rights to minority groups.

Paper Reports Beria's Plan For Freedom

(Story also on page one.)
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The San Diego Union said Sunday it has received a detailed plan under which a man representing himself as Lavrenty P. Beria is willing to place himself in the hands of the United States government.

9. That all diplomatic and consular officers in this country who prepare or disseminate political propaganda be required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

In a copyrighted article, the paper said the plan was forwarded to it by an intermediary in personal contact with the supposed Beria and three other former top Communist fugitives from Russia.

10. That all diplomatic and consular officers in this country who prepare or disseminate political propaganda be required to register under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

The man representing himself as Beria was described as ready to exchange information about the inner workings of the Soviet government for asylum for himself and three companions in the United States.

Prof. Pais, tracing the recent history of nuclear physics down to his theory, said that as late as World War II...

"This seems to me the most striking development in the conference so far," he said.

"But in 1947 there came a radical change. A great number of new particles began to be discovered. This continued until they now amount to a couple of dozens — and we suspect there may be even more than we have found."

"One of the greatest problems in physics, perhaps the greatest, is to understand this great variety and to find some regularities in a sort of 'periodic system.'"

"Without some such system, we are almost as helpless in explaining the nuclear reactions as chemists were helpless in their own field before the chemical periodic table was found."

"The work we are doing is to attempt the beginning of understanding for the existence of a great variety of these particles and to reduce them to a more fundamental object or system, that can make them appear as many different forms of a similar thing."

"In an abstract sense, I would suppose that certain groups of particles can actually be considered as different states of a more fundamental thing."

"That, he said, calls for 'a higher dimensional frame of description.'"

"Despite the interest in his theory, Prof. Pais said he did not regard it yet as 'in the best possible form' but only as 'the first modest step toward something promising.'"

He said one of the main reasons for revealing it now was to throw it into the main stream of scientific thought to see what other physicists may do to extend or develop it.

U. S. Jersey Raisers Convene Prior to Cattle Sale Today

By LILLIE L. MADSEN
Farm Editor, The Statesman
Jersey cattle folk from throughout the United States gathered Sunday night at the Marion Hotel for their annual Your Opportunity Sale get-together.

The sale itself will be held at the State Fairgrounds today, starting at 12:30 noon. This is the fifth of these sales held in Oregon, the four previous ones all held at the State Fairgrounds.

Ross Wurm, editor of the Western Dairy Journal, Los Angeles, was in charge of the Sunday night party and is managing the Monday sale. Most of the visitors had viewed the cattle, stationed at the fairgrounds Sunday afternoon. Some of the cattle had been brought in Thursday and a constant string of visitors had been viewing them.

Coming the greatest distance to attend the affair was Curtis Hobson of Mariu Farms near New York City. Col. Tom McCord of Montgomery, Ala., widely known tobacco auctioneer, who will cry the Monday event, was present Sunday night and entertained with some of his southern stories.

R. Knode Brown, publisher of the Jersey Bulletin, Indianapolis, Ind., who came out to attend the Monday sale, also attended the Sunday night party. Other noted among the guests were A. Lewis Oswald of Hutchinson, Kansas; Howard and Ruby Lamb of Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Simonson of Corvallis, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sawyer of Galt, Calif., Merritt Nash, Seattle, secretary of the Independent Milk Producers of Washington, and also a Jersey breeder, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gross and Ernest McIlvanna of Vancouver, Wash.; Chester Elliff, owner of Victory Jersey Farm, Tulsa, Texas; Ronnie Carr of Tulare, Calif.; Neal Miller, Woodburn, president of the Oregon Jersey Cattle Club, and Mrs. Miller.

Soviet Silent Recently on Beria Trial

(Story also on page one.)
WASHINGTON (AP) — A high Senate source is reported, and another unnamed government official cast doubt on the supposed escape of Lavrenty Beria from Russia.

The Senate source predicted the State Department would issue a statement on the matter "in the very near future." A State Department spokesman said he did not know anything about the Beria case.

There has been no announcement of Beria's trial or execution, and in recent weeks his name has not been mentioned by the Soviet press or radio. This has led to a belief in some quarters here that he may already have been executed.

The Senate source said a trusted agent of the investigations subcommittee is headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), has flown to a "neutral, non-Communist country" in Europe, talked with the fugitive and reported that he is convinced the man is Beria.

McCarthy said
"I would be the most surprised man in the world if it is true," commented the other high source. McCarthy refused to be quoted on the matter at all.

Unfolding the fantastic tale, the Senate source said McCarthy's agents have been in contact with the fugitive for about a month. He also provided these details, which have not been confirmed, either officially or unofficially, in any other branch of the government:

The man representing himself as Beria escaped with three aides in an airplane.
Lots of Protection
The man has "plenty of protection so far" in his hideaway.

If he is given refuge in the United States he will talk only with McCarthy or Vice President Nixon. He has not broken with Communism, but is willing to talk to revenge himself against his political enemies in Russia.

It is reported that Communist agents in Mexico City, still loyal to Beria, have been helpful in promoting the idea of an American asylum for him.

Aim at South America
If the man can't get into the United States he will try to reach some South American country.

The Senate source said it is also reported that McCarthy, through an intermediary, has had not less than four exchanges of messages on the matter with Earl Browder, former leader of the American Communist Party.

In New York, however, Browder told a reporter he didn't know anything about the case.

If McCarthy's agents have actually found Beria, it will be the start of a story as strange as the wartime flight of Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the German Nazi Party, to Scotland in 1941.
