

Council Votes Modified One-Way Traffic Grid

By ROBERT E. GANGWARE City Editor, The Statesman A downtown one-way street plan was adopted Monday night by Salem City Council after the aldermen hacked off several blocks of the recently published grid plan.

By Charles A. Sprague

Ex-Presidents have referred to the "lonely" life they led in the White House. They are of course as being in the public eye is concerned. A President can hardly step out-of-doors but what a cameraman will snap him or a reporter interrogate him, or a lobbyist or aspirant for office waylay him. His loneliness is an inner feeling, a sense of his "alone-ness" in making the final decisions, the vast importance of which weighs on him constantly.

These one-way sections were eliminated from the plan recommended to the Council by city and state engineers. Liberty Street north of Division to Broadway; High Street north of Union; North Capitol between Court and Center Streets; Chemeketa Street east of Capitol; State and Ferry Streets east of Cottage; Winter Street south of State.

Also eliminated were proposed new traffic lights at Liberty and Broadway and at Court and East Summer Streets. Areas Excluded The changes leaves the grid area extending from the present one-way Commercial Street east to the Capitol Mall, except in blocks south of Court Street where the grid stops at Cottage. The grid also extends from one-way Marion Street south to (and including) Ferry Street.

The Council vote on the grid was unanimous although Alderman David O'Hara expressed doubts over the use of residential Cottage and Winter Streets in the one-way plan. Alderman Robert F. White said the only reason for including these streets is the advice of engineers that traffic dangers result if one or two-way streets are left between areas of one-way streets.

(Additional Council News on page 2.) India Demands Big Powers Settle Issues UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—India's V. K. Krishna Menon Monday called on the U. N. Assembly to request formally a personal meeting of the chiefs of state of the big powers in an attempt to solve the world's troubles.

KOIN-TV Test Pattern Ready

PORTLAND (AP)—Portland's second television station, KOIN-TV, will broadcast its first test patterns Tuesday afternoon at 3 p.m. The Channel 6 station, telecasting on a very high frequency, will begin a regular program schedule Oct. 15. The station, to be affiliated with the Columbia Broadcasting System, is the city's first VHF outlet.

Jet Fighters Turn Target Practice Into Buffalo Hunt

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The keen-eyed boys of the wild blue etc., came up with a slight case of astigmatism around these parts recently. As a result the Air Force Monday ordered all jet fighter practice bombing runs halted in the Big Delta area.

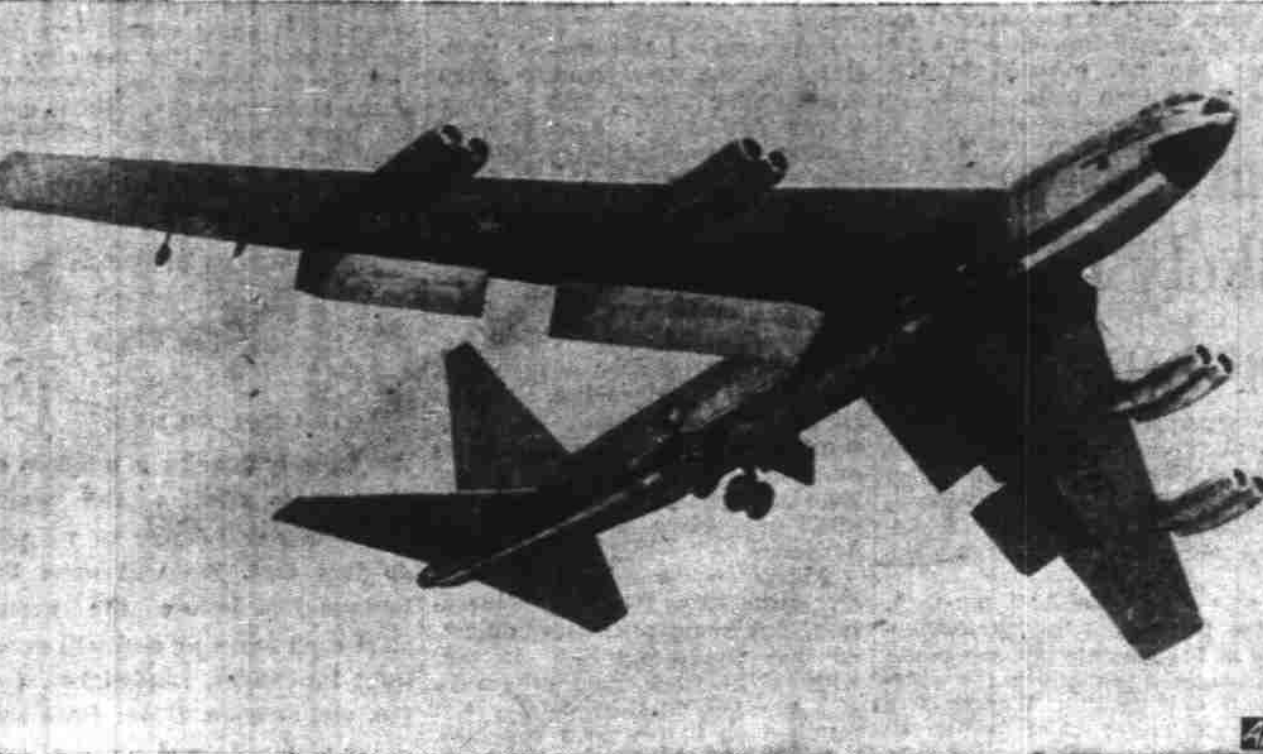

Planes of the 416th Jet Fighter Squadron based at nearby Elision Air Force Base took off Friday for practice ground support bombing attacks. Barrels had been set up in the Big Delta region to serve as targets.

B-52 Gets Top Priority in Air Force Plans

WASHINGTON—United States' intention of relying on the Boeing B52 jet bomber for future patrol of global skies was evidenced Monday with the Air Force announcement of the expansion of production of the new plane. (AP Wirephoto to The Statesman.)

U.S. to Expand 22 Die as Planeload Of Soldiers Crashes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—At least 22 men lost their lives Monday when a plane carrying soldier trainees from Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, crashed and burned at Standiford Field, Louisville. All the 20 others aboard the twin-engine plane were injured. The plane, operated by Resort Airlines, Inc., carrying a crew of three and 39 trainees, had taken off from Philadelphia. Most of the trainees were of Puerto Rican ancestry and were being taken to Fort Knox, Ky.

U.S. Planes 'Attack' British Battleship

ABOARD HMS VANGUARD (AP)—American naval planes "attacked" the British battleship Vanguard Monday in the first big blunder of NATO's North Atlantic maneuvers off Iceland. The planes, from U. S. carriers, and the Vanguard were all seeking the same "enemy"—the British cruiser Swiftsure in "Exercise Mariner."

Governor of Florida Dies

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Florida's Gov. Dan McCarty died in a hospital Monday night after serving less than nine months of his four-year term. The 41-year-old governor, weakened by a coronary thrombosis that struck him down six weeks after he was inaugurated in January, was unable to fight off a case of pneumonia.

Navy Jet Short Of Record by Technicality

THERMAL, Calif. (AP)—A Navy combat veteran flashed the battling Douglas F4D Skyray 742.7 miles an hour over a measured course Monday, faster than any previous run, but through a quirk in international rules failed to set a record. The Federation Aeronautique Internationale requires that to set a new record the old record must be eclipsed by 1 per cent or more.

Color Change Seen for Stop Signs in City

With Oregon's State Highway Commission planning to change stop signs to red and white color, on state highways, the city of Salem probably will follow suit. No immediate change is expected, but the state's action would set the pattern for cities to follow, city officials said Monday in discussing the state action at last week's highway commission meeting.

Disagreement Over Facilities Delays Processing of PWs

By ROBERT E. TUCKMAN PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Korean Repatriation Commission told the United Nations Command and the Communists Tuesday the processing of reluctant war prisoners "may be delayed further if both sides insist on improvements in facilities." The spokesman said both sides had rejected the location and design of compounds already built for use by "explanation" teams who will seek to persuade prisoners to return home. The spokesman said the Reds object to the present site because Communist representatives "have to go through all the POW camps in order to reach it."

Egypt Claims British Troops To Quit Suez

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egyptian officials said Sunday Britain has agreed to withdraw her big garrison from the vital Suez Canal area in 18 months, but the British envoy here said final settlement of the old and often bloody feud is still a long way off. Even though there may be agreement on the withdrawal of troops, Britain has indicated she is willing to do this provided some arrangement is made for defense of the strategic waterway in case of an attack by an official Egyptian source made it clear that the negotiations still could break down on some other issue.

Major questions still outstanding, the informant said in a report, were how long British civilian experts would remain behind to see that the great shipping canal runs smoothly and whether they should be permitted to wear identifying uniforms. Britain wants them uniformed and wants them to stay on for seven years. Egypt is against the uniform and threatens to break off negotiations even on this point. She also demands that they leave after six years, turning the whole works over to the Egyptian technicians they are to train.

Ex-Reds Label Army Report 'Pro-Commie'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A pair of fugitive Russians and a former top American Red told Senate investigators Monday an Army report used to train intelligence officers is loaded with Communist propaganda. The Army contends the document called "Psychological and Cultural traits in Soviet Siberia" isn't Red propaganda at all and was intended merely to give intelligence officers a picture of the Russian people for use in event of war.

But Louis Buchs, a high level Communist party official in this country for 10 years, told a Senate investigations committee, headed by Sen. McCarty (R-Wis.), "In my opinion, this document is the work of a concealed Communist."

Ignor Bogolepov, who said he is a former Soviet diplomat and army officer now under a Kremlin death sentence, described the report as "extremely damaging." "I find there is a lot of deliberate misinformation that serves the Communist cause," he testified.

Slender man of 37, with a stiff pompadour haircut, Petrov said the author of the document "twists and distorts" and tries to prove that Communists are loved by the Russian people. He said it was only wishful thinking by the author to say that the Communist in Russia is "more priest than ruler."

Storm Brings Downpour

A half inch of rain fell in Salem Monday—most of it in the early morning hours and predicted by U.S. weathermen for today and tonight is for more clouds and more rain. Temperature range for Monday was a high of 66 degrees and a low of 48 and weathermen expected continued cool weather today with the highest near 65 and the lowest near 48 degrees.

Employment Shrinks to Two Men at Alumina Plant, But Negotiations Reported Progressing

Employment at the $5,000,000 alumina-from-clay plant shrank to two men this week but from unofficial sources came indications that negotiations were nearing completion to permit its full resumption of work. The negotiations are between the General Services Administration, representing the federal government, and the Harvey Alumina Company. A tentative final contract reportedly is under study at Torrance, Calif., headquarters of the aluminum company's parent firm, the Harvey Machine Company. The Harvey Alumina Company's bid of $325,000 for the Salem alumina-from-clay plant was accepted by the GSA some months ago. Considerable delay resulted because the contract as then drawn would require the purchaser to continue alumina from-clay experiments for five years. The Harvey firm asked that the restriction be changed to two years.

Morse to Vote for Demos if Senate Balanced in 1954

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon said Monday night that if the Senate remains evenly divided after the 1954 congressional election he will switch his vote on procedural matters from the Republicans to the Democrats. Morse made the statement to a reporter before a dinner at which the Four Freedoms Foundation was to make its 1953 award to former president Harry S. Truman.

Morse was to be a speaker at the dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Although Morse has resigned from the Republican Party, he voted with the Republicans after the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) in order to keep committee chairmanships in Republican hands.

He said that if the two parties find themselves in the same close balance after the next election that they are presently he will then switch his vote and give committee chairmanships to the Democrats.

Pen Trusty Escapes With New Truck

Raymond H. Smith, 44, Oregon State Penitentiary trusty, was the object of a search Monday after he was missed at the 5 p.m. count. The inmate, an outside trusty and truck driver for the past two years, apparently escaped in one of the prison's newest 1953 green International flatbed trucks.

Warden Clarence T. Gladden expressed great surprise that Smith would have escaped. "We couldn't believe he had run off; he's been a trusted prisoner for some time," the warden explained. Smith, serving time for forgery, was returned to the penitentiary Aug. 19, 1948, from Multnomah County after his parole was revoked. He was slated to be released in March, 1950.

He is described as 5 feet 10, 154 lbs., brown hair and blue eyes. State police were still pressing search for the man at midnight. No sign or report of the truck was established Monday.

Poland Strips Cardinal of Church Power

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Poland's Communist government has decided to divest Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Poland, from his churchly offices, the Polish radio announced Monday night. The broadcast charged the cardinal had been guilty of "constantly breaking" provisions of the 1950 agreement between state and church.

(The broadcast, as reported from Vienna, said he also was accused of anti-state activities and misusing his authority.) Allan Ladd Breaks Foot Playing With Children OTTAWA (AP)—Hollywood actor Allan Ladd went to the hospital Monday with a fractured bone in his foot. He received the injury while playing with his youngsters. Ladd had just finished recording dialogue for a recent picture filmed in western Canada.

Boy, 6, Taken From Private Church School

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The 6-year-old son of a 71-year-old millionaire Kansas City automobile dealer was kidnaped from an exclusive private school Monday by a quiet young woman who prayed in the school chapel while the boy was being called from his classroom. Police Chief Bernard C. Brannon waited three hours after being notified of the abduction before announcing it to the press and radio, explaining authorities feared earlier disclosure might result in the child's death or injury.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, which at first said it was taking no hands in the case but was keeping in liaison with police, later Monday night replied "No comment" when asked if it had since started an investigation. The mysterious woman posed as the boy's aunt in gaining admission to the school and told a nun that Mrs. Greenlease had suffered a heart attack while shopping and that she had come to take the boy to his mother at a hospital.

Confined to Bed Greenlease said he knew of no reason why anyone would kidnap his child. He said he had received no word from the abductor, Mrs. Greenlease was confined to her bed by shock. The woman took young Greenlease away from the school, Notre Dame de Sion, in a taxicab. They left the cab at a parking lot and were seen by the driver to get into a late model blue sedan.

The school, located in a quiet residential section of the city, is operated by a French order of the Catholic Church. Among its pupils are two daughters of Princess Ileana of Romania. Cadillac Distributor Greenlease is the distributor here for the Cadillac Motor Co. He and Mrs. Greenlease also have a daughter, Virginia Sue, 11.

The nun said she suggested to the young woman that she step into the school chapel and pray for Mrs. Greenlease while waiting for Bobby to be called from his classroom. She said the woman, whom she described as having dark hair and wearing a white blouse and dark brown skirt, entered the chapel and knelt. "Did Me Good" "I'm not a Catholic," the young woman remarked to the nun on leaving, "but it did me good to pray."

It was after the pair had left that the nun phoned the Greenlease home in a fashionable suburb in neighboring Kansas. The nun said Mrs. Greenlease answered the phone, said she was not ill, and suggested that there must have been some mistake. "I don't know why anybody would do anything like this," Greenlease said. "There are so many reasons why anybody would be foolish to take such a risk. It just doesn't make sense."

Mrs. Greenlease, who married the auto dealer in 1939, collapsed from strain early Monday afternoon and was confined to bed at her home under sedatives, the family reported. Relatives in Ashland ASHLAND, Ore.—Robert C. Greenlease, the six-year-old boy reported kidnaped at Kansas City Monday, is the nephew of an Ashland resident. She is Mrs. Sam McNair, 355 Phoenix Drive. Mrs. McNair is the former Louise Greenlease, sister of the missing child's father.

Mrs. McNair said the Greenlease family, including the youngster, has recently returned from a three-month tour of Europe. Fourth Major Blaze Flares At Moses Lake MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP)—The fourth major fire in the past 48 hours leveled a barn and a small packing shed on the outskirts of this Central Washington city of 9,500 Monday night. City officials declared a state of civil emergency extended and volunteer police and Air Police from nearby Larson Air Force Base stood guard at all commercial and public buildings.

The fires, all believed started by an arsonist, caused damages estimated at more than $300,000. The fire Monday night struck the A. A. Abbas ranch just west of the city limits. Abbas' son, Dale, said he saw a man throw a piece of burning material into a haystack before the fire broke out. Bloodmobile in Salem Thursday The Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Salem Armory Thursday from 1 to 5 p.m. for the regular blood drawing program. Del Downey, chairman of the Blood Bank recruiting committee, announced Monday. Prospective blood donors may sign up tonight at three Salem theaters. Members of the Alpha Epsilon chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi, a Salem women's group, will be in the theater lobbies to take the names of those willing to donate, Downey said.
